Annie Lennox grabs album crown

SALES

Two solo albums, two number ones – that's the impressive record of Annie Lennox, whose Medusa debuts at the top of the chart this week after selling more than 120,000 copies in a week.

Annie's Diva – which returns to the chart this week at number 32 as a result of heavy discounting, even though it is officially still full-price – also debuted at number one in 1992. She also had three number one albums as half of Eurythmics, and her overall tally of five number one albums is exceeded among women only by Agnetha and Frida of Abba, who topped the chart nine times as members of the group. Lennox's latest success provides a stark contrast to the disastrous performance of former Eurythmics colleague Dave Stewart's latest album, Greetings From The Gutter, which was released last autumn, and has yet to breach the Top 75.

A tough four-way tussle for singles chart supremacy was resolved in favour of the incumbent Think Twice by Celine Dion. Number one now for seven weeks – and, at 22 weeks into its chart career, number one at a later stage of its chart cycle than any single in history – Think Twice is still selling more than 50,000 copies a week, but may have to yield to Freakpower's fast-breaking Turn On, Tune In, Cop Out or Cher, Chrissie Hynde and Neneh Cherry's Love Can Build A Bridge next week. The latest hit to be boosted by its use in a Levi 501 commercial, the Freakpower single initially peaked at number 29 in October 1993.

Janet Jackson's Janet album surrenders its seventh hit this week as the double A-side Whoops Now/What'll I Do debuts at number 10. Of the previous singles, That's The Way Love Goes peaked at number two, If at 14, Again at six, Because Of Love at 19, Any Time, Any Place at 13 and You Want This at 14. Janet's last two albums, Control and Rhythm Nation 1814, also yielded seven hits apiece.

When they first started out, Liam Howlett's The Prodigy relied mainly on club support. That has long ceased to be the case, but they're astonishingly consistent, and this week they register their ninth consecutive top 15 hit in less than four years as Poison debuts at 15.

Finally, commiserations to Ce Ce Rogers, who had two singles released last week. Neither quite makes the published chart, however, with his solo effort Come Together debuting at number 77, while Can We Live, the Jestofunk single he fronts, struggles to number 102.

AIRPLAY

The top five records on the airwaves are all titles which have passed their sales peak. Annie Lennox's No More I Love Yous is still by far the strongest, and is number one for the fifth week in a row. Its audience is bigger than ever, as is its lead over the number two title, now up to 42%.

Take That's Back For Good continues to strengthen its pre-release play, and slides effortlessly into sixth place, although it's a little surprising at this stage of the game to find it still has fewer plays than some 14 other discs. Cautious programmers no doubt need to get some sort of retail confirmation that Take That have broad appeal (the last sentence to be snarled in sarcastic fashion). Take That's main teen rivals East 17, whom they are likely to keep off the top of the sales chart, are among the biggest airplay gainers of the week, debuting at number 37 with their upcoming hit Let It Rain, on a combination of early pop radio play and specialist dance play generated by the mailing of no fewer than three different 12-inch singles of mixes.

Radio's lukewarm support of some substantial hits is baffling. The Clock's reworking of Axel F is not the most innovative or attractive disc around, but it is a proven hit with three weeks in the Top 20 and a current number seven placing to substantiate this fact. Even so, it is loitering in 60th place on the airplay chart. Also down among the dead men is The Prodigy's Poison. As their previous eight singles have gone top 15 at retail, we can assume they are fairly popular – but not at radio, where Poison got a mere 17 plays last week.

On the other hand, Elton John is an artist whose airplay chart positions invariably eclipse his sales chart placings. That's the case for the fifth single in a row, as Believe vaults to number five on airplay while drifting from its disappointing sales peak of 15 to 24.

Scarlet's Independent Love Song is a rock solid airplay hit, with six weeks in the Top 10, during which time it has clocked up more than 4,000 plays. It climbed as high as number four and stayed there for three weeks. This week it drops to number seven, though with a marginal decline in plays, down from 807 to 785.

Last but not least, while Janet Jackson's new single is officially a double A-side, radio is treating it somewhat differently. The Motownesque Whoops Now picks up 589 plays and is ranked tenth most listened to record, while its partner What'll I Do is nowhere with just 13 plays.
