CHART F

Geographically isolated it may be, but differ little from those of Britain and America popular records of 1980 contained the usual superstars with only a handful of local acts the indigenous acts Air Supply, for all the show at all and local HM heroes AC/DC, one record, 'You Shook Me All Night Long' what comes of having a pom as lead-voc. One notable development was the belated Jackson, both solo and with his kin. Three Aussies remained unmoved by the Jacks — indeed as far as disco/soul is concerned little reluctant to commit itself wholeheartedly to production genius of Quincy Jones: work Jackson, 'Don't Stop 'Til You Get Enough' both selling well enough to feature in the sparking an interest in back catalogue by Jacksons which culminated in a major hit 'Blame It On The Boogie', the 24th most year.

Several readers have written to correct the chart for 1980 printed in Chartfile did not broadcast on Radio One by Paul Gambaccini reproduced in Chartfile was the official compiled by the magazine's own team. Gambaccini's countdown was worked out Top 30 only. It should also be noted I covered the chart for the period November version was based, sensibly, on the explanation of the poor showing of Queen's 'Dust' in the Billboard listing.

St Winifred's School Choir's great 'Grandma' single is poised to pass it. Meanwhile recent gold discs (500,000) '(Just Like) Starting Over' by John Lennon & Yoko Ono; Blondie's 'The Tide Is High'; Jona Lewis' 'Silver Discs' (250,000) in Dave's 'Blondie's 'Rapture' after less than a year; 'Flash' and Quo's 'Lies'. Finally, 'In The Air Tonight' are the best-selling records of 1980. ALAN JONES
