BOY GEORGE

Best male singer, best single, best newcomer, sex symbol, best dressed person, worst dressed person

MINISTER OF CULTURE SPEAKS

WITH THE RM poll the off the press who's a better way to spend a wet Tuesday afternoon than chatting to Boy George. The talkative Boy has been voted number one singer, sex symbol, best and worst dressed person.

One of this his group have been voted best newcomers and also bagged the coveted best single award with 'Do You Really Want To Hurt Me'.

So how does cuddly George feel about being our readers' number one male singer?

"Well, I never expect to win anything. I went to my school like every other kid."

What about your old teacher?

"We're doing a lot of international stuff at the moment. Being voted best band is really pleasing 'cos there's such great personal rivalries in the business."

George's very own 'Do You Really Want To Hurt Me' has been voted number one single. Just what is the band's personal stance on the song?

"I've always loved the song. I was 'Killing To Be Clever' our number three LP. I wonder how George judges the importance of albums with one single."

"LPs and singles are both important. do you know what I mean? We don't want to make the album, we record songs according to how we feel. We particularly record a new track for the current single. We're working on the new LP."

All you know is that you were voted sex symbol. Is that what you want?

"I haven't thought about it. Every day someone's really mad, 'I love you' and then off in the last few moments of the show."

Culture Club with that sex group?

"I've never had any of those problems. I've never had any of those problems. I've never had any of those problems."

George may wear your clothes. Is that your only fancy? I don't think I should do it. I don't just wear anything of mine. I don't like typical...

I like fat women. I like '80s' style. In the 30s of the 20s women were dressed?
