THIS WEEK'S CHARTS

ANALYSED BY ALAN JONES

New Order's sixth album 'Technique' enters the chart at number one this week, to become the Mancunian group's first chart-topper. Their 1981 debut 'Movement' reached number 30; 1983's 'Power, Corruption And Lies' got to number four; 1985's 'Low Life' peaked at number seven; 1986's 'Brotherhood' reached number nine and 1987's 'Substance', a hits package, climbed as high as number three.

Only three other acts from Manchester have had number one albums this decade — Rick Astley reached the summit in 1987 with 'Whenever You Need Somebody', the Smiths topped in 1985 with 'Meat Is Murder' and their former lead guitarist Morrissey reached number one last year with his debut solo album 'Viva Hate'. Coincidentally, Morrissey and Astley are the highest debutants on this week's singles chart, Astley entering at number 26 with 'Hold Me In Your Arms' and Morrissey at number six with 'The Last Of The Famous International Playboys'. The latter-named title is Morrissey's third solo hit. 'Suedehead' also debuted at number six, whilst 'Everyday Is Like Sunday' entered at number 12. 'Playboys' debuts at number one on the 12-inch, cassette and compact disc singles charts, becoming the first record ever to score this particular treble.

● The late Roy Orbison's three week run at the top of the album chart was brought to an end this week by New Order's 'Technique' (see above), but whilst the erstwhile chart-topping 'The Legendary Roy Orbison' dips to number three, Roy's last album, 'Mystery Girl', completed just before his recent death, debuts at number two.

Roy thus becomes the first act to have two albums in the top 10 simultaneously since March 1987, when Simply Red — another of Manchester's chart invaders — were charting both 'Picture Book' and 'Men And Women'.

● 18-year old Debbie Gibson's second album 'Electric Youth' debuts at number eight this week, even though its introductory single 'Lost In Your Eyes' is struggling, moving up only two notches to number 36.

By contrast, Debbie's previous album, 'Out Of The Blue', which spawned five hits, four of them top 20, peaked at a lowly number 26. Despite this, it was and still is a steady seller, with nearly 200,000 copies sold so far.

● Roachford's self-titled debut album re-enters the chart this week at number 18. It originally peaked at number 69 last July.

The single which fuelled its limited success then is the same one as is responsible for its resurgence now: 'Cuddly Toy'. The single reached number 61 last year, and number four last week.

● Marc Almond and Gene Pitney's duet 'Something's Gotten Hold Of My Heart' remains at number one for a third week, comfortably ahead of all other singles, but seems likely to get its come-uppance next week from Simple Minds' stunning new single.

It's notable that the only female singer in the top 10 this week is Kym Mazelle from the windy city of Chicago. Kym shares vocals with Robert Howard on the number seven hit 'Wait'.

● Bobby Brown's recent American chart-topper 'My Prerogative' climbs to number nine here this week, becoming the 19-year-old's first top 10 hit since 1983 when, as lead singer of New

● NEW ORDER's Barney keeps an eye out for adoring fans

Edition, he scored a number one hit with 'Candy Girl'.

● After debuting last week at number 55, Nik Kershaw's 'One Step Ahead' unexpectedly dips to number 78.

His first single since 'Radio Musicola' over two years ago, it brings to a close his run of 10 consecutive top 50 hits, dating back to 'Wouldn't It Be Good' exactly five years ago.

Meanwhile, Nik's new label-mate Sheena Easton, who recently singed to the MCA label after eight years with EMI, climbs to number 15 with 'The Lover In Me'. It's her biggest hit since 'For Your Eyes Only' reached number eight in 1981.

CHARTFILE USA EXTRA

The highest-debuting single in America this week, at number 50, is 'The Look' by Roxette.

Number 50 is a very respectable placing for a new entry even by an established artist in America, and is remarkable unknown one.

The story behind the record is that Roxette are a male/female duo from Sweden, massively popular at home, previously, unable to establish themselves overseas. An international exchange student from Minneapolis took a shir 'The Look' and, after returning to the recently, persuaded his local radio station to give it a spin. Reaction was very favourable, and other radio stations tracked it down and started playing it hadn't planned to release it, but with than 100 stations already playlisting it rushed it out last week. Now Roxette look set to follow fellow-Swedes Blondie, Swede and Abba all the way to the top of the Hot 100.

Meanwhile, Roxette's latest album sold 365,000 copies in Sweden in just three months. A comparable figure for the UK would be around 2½ million.
