THIS WEEK'S CHARTS

ANALYSED BY ALAN JONES

● The Bangles 'Eternal Flame' stays at number one followed for the third straight week by Simply Red's 'If You Don't Know Me By Now'. The latter record is, however, still losing ground, and has no chance of reaching number one.

Simply Red have therefore failed in their bid to take a Kenny Gamble/Leon Huff song first recorded by Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes to number one, where the Communards succeeded with 'Don't Leave Me This Way'.

They can, however, take some comfort from the fact that their album 'A New Flame' returns to the top of the LP listings.

● Few would have wagered that the first artist to land two top five singles in 1989 would be Holly Johnson, but that's just what the erstwhile Frankie Goes To Hollywood vocalist has done.

Holly's latest, 'Americanos', holds at number four this week — the very same position at which his debut solo single, 'Love Train', peaked just 11 weeks ago.

Frankie Goes To Hollywood were frequently dismissed as talentless puppets of producer Trevor Horn, so Holly's success — with self-penned songs — is something of an eye-opener.

Look for a high new entry on next week's chart for Holly's first solo album 'Blasphemous', which features both hits and an impressive collection of other songs — all written by Holly alone, with the exception of 'Atomic City', which he wrote with Jan 'Instant Replay' Hartman.

Sadly, Holly's former FGTH partner Paul Weller has been less successful with his first two solo efforts: his first single, 'Get Real', peaked at number 7, and his remake of Chic's 'I Want Your Love' reached only number 84.

● Morrissey's fourth solo single, 'Interesting Drug', is the highest debuting single this week, entering the chart at number nine.

Of his previous solo singles, 'The Last Of The Internationally Famous Playboys' and 'Suedehead' both debuted at number six, and 'Everyday Is Like Sunday' entered at number 12. It subsequently climbed to number nine — which means that all four of Mozza's solo singles to date have been bigger hits than any of the 16 chart entries he had as a member of the Smiths. Their highest chart position was number 10 — shared by 1984's 'Heaven Knows I'm Miserable Now' and 1987's 'Sheila Take A Bow'.

● 'Lullaby' moves up seven notches to number five to become the biggest success of the Cure's nine year career as hitmakers, topping the number seven peak of 1983's 'The Love Cats'.

● MRIB point out that 'The Book Of Rock Stars', written by its directors Dafydd Rees, Barry Lazell and Luke Crampton, uses the Gallup chart instead of the ILR Network Chart, which they compile so as to maintain uniformity within the Guinness range of books, which also, of course, includes the best-selling Hit Singles and Hit Albums books. Their decision in no way indicates a lack of confidence in MRIB's own listings. We never thought it did.

● Inner City — the duo comprising Kevin Saunderson and Paris Grey — land their third consecutive top 10 hit this week, as 'Ain't Nobody Better' halves its position from number 20 to number 10.

Their previous two singles, 'Big Fun' and 'Good Life', peaked at eight and four

● Duranduran: "ere Si and John, there's a geezer up there wiv no strides on" respectively.

This all augers well for their forthcoming debut album on 10 Records. After all, label-mates Soul II Soul's first album, 'Club Classics Volume 1', debuted at number five last week, even though the three singles lifted from it were far less successful than Inner City's opening trilogy.

True 'Keep On Movin'' was a biggie, reaching number five, but 'Fairplay' peaked at number 63 and 'Feel Free' at number 64.

● Duranduran returned to the top 10 for the first time since 1986 with their last single 'All She Wants Is ...' and must have had high hopes of making it two in a row when 'Do You Believe In Shame?' debuted at number 30 last week. Alas, it dips a notch to number 31 this week, and is unlikely to recover — a shame as it is a superior song to 'All She Wants Is ...'

even though it bears a great similarity to the 1957 track 'Suzie Q' by Dale Hawkins and Stan Lewis.

A US million seller when recorded by Hawkins, 'Suzie Q' never made the grade here, but its melody closely resembles 'Do You Believe In Shame?'. Duranduran obviously don't, as they have cheekily credited it as by being written by Taylor, Rhodes and LeBon. It will be interesting to see what happens if Hawkins and Lewis or their publishers Jewel Music get to hear the Duranduran song.

● Despite topping the US chart, 'Lost In Your Eyes', the lead-off single from Debbie Gibson's album 'Electric Youth' peaked at number 34 here a couple of months ago. The title track is off to a better start this week, debuting at number 33.
