THIS WEEK'S CHARTS

ANALYSED BY ALAN JONES

● Three weeks ago, Kylie Minogue's 'Hand On Your Heart' entered the singles chart at number two; a fortnight ago Queen's 'I Want It All' debuted at number three, and last week 'Ferry 'Cross The Mersey' by Paul McCartney, Holly Johnson, Gerry Marsden and the Christians (hereafter referred to collectively as Scouse Aid for brevity) debuted at number one. Never before in chart history has there been a new entry in the top three three weeks in a row.

This week's highest debut, at the more modest position of 19, is 'I Don't Wanna Get Hurt', the second Donna Summer single written and produced by Mike Stock, Matt Aitken and Pete Waterman. It confirms the revitalising effect Donna's hook-up with SAW has had on her career. The first SAW/Summer single, 'This Time I Know It's For Real', reached number two, whilst 'I Don't Wanna Get Hurt' is the highest debuting single of Donna's entire career of more than 30 hits spanning over 13 years, with the solitary exception of her 1977 chart topper 'I Feel Love', which debuted at number 15.

The SAW produced 'Ferry 'Cross The Mersey', meanwhile, remains at number one for Scouse Aid, having sold around 200,000 copies in a fortnight. That's an exceptional figure by normal standards, but pales into insignificance compared to Band Aid's first week sale of nearly 800,000, and augers well for Jason Donovan, who will be making his bid to debut at number one with 'Sealed With A K

'Ferry 'Cross The Mersey' is the first record featuring the Christians to reach number one, but their fellow Merseysiders are all old hands at topping the chart: Holly Johnson has seen life at the top with

Frankie Goes To Hollywood, Gerry Marsden with Gerry And The Pacemakers and the the Crowd, and Paul McCartney has topped as part of four different groups — the Beatles, Wings, Ferry Aid and Scouse Aid — if we can apply the description 'group' to such loose and temporary alliances as are formed for charity discs.

● London Boys' 'Requiem' moves up another notch to number four this week, a 55 place improvement on the peak it scaled when it first charted last December. As their name implies, the London Boys are from our own capital city, and not, as some deejays insist, Germany — though 'Requiem' was recorded in their adopted hometown Hamburg.

But there are four genuine continental acts in the top 12, these being

● Italian group Capella, at number 12 with 'Helyom Halib'.

● Wacky Austrians Edelweiss, whose 'Bring Me Edelweiss' is now at number five, making it the second highest charting record from Austria in chart history, being topped only by Falco's 1986 number one smash 'Rock Me Amadeus'.

● At number eight, Swedish-born Neneh Cherry with her second top 10 hit 'Manchild'. Neneh's introductory smash, 'Buffalo Stance', is a fast rising US hit, and charted all over Europe, selling over a million copies.

● Roxette, whose former US number one 'The Look' advances to number seven.

The simultaneous success of Roxette and Neneh mark the first time in chart history that there has been two Swedish acts in the top 10 simultaneously. Roxette's hit was written by the bloke in the duo, Per Gessle, Neneh co-wrote her hit and 'Bring Me Edelweiss' was, of course, based on Abba's old chestnut 'S.O.S.', penned by Benny Andersson and Bjorn Ulvaeus, so three of the current top 10 are at least partly written by Swedes.

● DONNA SUMMER gets the wind up

● 'Love Attack' by Shakin' Stevens dips a place to number 29 this week. It now seems certain to be Shaky's fifth consecutive single to peak short of the top 20 — that's quite a contrast to his run of success between 1980 and 1987, when he managed to make the top 20 with 21 singles in a row.

● OK — one last attempt to set the Eurovision scorecard straight. Luxembourg have had FIVE wins outright, and not four as stated last week. By the same token, Greece, whom I credited with one win, have still to achieve this momentous feat.

The confusion arose because the winner, 'Apres Toi' was sung by t Greek-born songthrush Vicky Leandros — for Luxembourg.

Luxembourg is a tiny country v population about the same as Co and finding Luxembourgers of suf high calibre to represent the prin international competitions has alw a problem, so they invariably bor from other nations. In fact, none singers who have won Eurovision Luxembourg was born in the cou Apart from Ms. Leandros, they've French. For the record, they are: Corinne Hermes (who won Anne-Marie David (1973), I Gall (1965) and Jean-Claude Pascal, a Paris-born actor/singer was the competition's oldest ever entr when he again represented Luxen in 1981, when 53.
