CHARTFILE

BY ALAN JONES

Elton John's AIDS-aid single 'Sacrifice' Healing Hands' continues at the top of the chart, but Luciano Pavarotti's 'Nessum Dorma' moves up to number two. With other challengers thin on the ground, and two more weeks of heavy exposure for 'Nessum Dorma' as the BBC's World Cup coverage reaches its climax, it would be a brave man who would bet against the corpulent Italian overtaking our Elt.

'Sacrifice' is but one of three charity singles in the chart. Big Fun and Sonia's 'You've Got A Friend' at number 14 (in aid of Esther Rantzen's Childline) and the Traveling wilbarys' 'Nobody's Child' (in support of the Jumanian Angel Appeal, which will primarily benefit children suffering from AIDS) entering the chart at number 44, are the others.

As previously reported. Elton's next single will be the Drifters-influenced 'Club At The End Of The Street', but he has contributed a new track entitled 'Medicine Man' to the forthcoming Angel Appeal album. Those in the know reckon this could also be a single.

● For the second week in a row, the chart's highest new entry is a Stock Aitken Waterman composition and production. 'Another Night' is Jason Donovan's seventh solo hit — and it's interesting and, maybe, significant to note that all but the first of his previous singles debuted higher. In fact, the debut positions of Jason's singles show a rapid take-off and a slow but unchecked decline. In order, they are: 'Nothing Can Divide Us' (de___:d at number 37), 'Too Many Broken Hearts' (number nine), 'Sealed With A Kiss' (Number One), 'Every Day (I Love You More)' (number three), 'When You Come Back To Me' (number seven) and 'Hang On To Your Love' (number nine).

Despite its charity connection, the Big Fun and Sonia single 'You've Got A Friend' is also doing less well than might have been expected, while the current releases by Yell and Romi & Jazz appear to have peaked short of the Top 75. All are SAW creations. Whether or not this is just a blip or the beginning of a period of lesser success for SAW remains to be

• For the third time in less than 12 years, the haunting melody of 'Love Don't Live Here Anymore' is a hit. Originally a number two success for Rose Royce in 1978, it was revived by actor Jimmy Nail, for whom it was a number three hit in 1985. The current hit version is by Double Trouble.

'Love Don't Live Here Anymore' is the second song to become a Top 40 hit in the Seventies, Eighties and Nineties, following hot on the heels of 'Venus'.

● MC Hammer's 'U Can't Touch This' accelerates from 25 to number 13 This week.

In America, 'U Can't Touch This' caused a sensation when it debuted at number 27 though it subsequently fizzled out at number eight, Hammer's follow-up 'Have You Seen Her' makes a surprisingly subdued debut there this week at number 63.

Also new to the charts Stateside is 'Release Me' by Wilson Phillips — most definitely not to be confused with 'Release Me' by Esther Phillips, a 1962 Top 10 hit that subsequently saw chart service here in 1967 as a Number One hit for Engelbert Humperdink.

• WILSON PHILLIPS: " 'Ere, I can see right up her nose'

● Last Sunday was Glenn Medeiros' 20th birthday, a fact which he celebrated by returning to the chart. Glenn had a Number One hit with 'Nothing's Gonna Change My Love For You', but his current single 'She Ain't Worth It' is his first hit since 1988. Its success might just be helped by the fact that it also features 21-year-old hearthrob Bobby Brown.

● Spotlight Publications — publishers of Music Week and Record Mirror — have formed a new company, CIN, to commission the chart directly from Gallup.

The move follows the BPI's decision to terminate its contract with the BBC, Music Week and Gallup as from next Saturday (30th June).

Spotlight's bold initiative in directly contracting Gallup to produce the chart ensures that Record Mirror and Music Week can continue to publish the UK's most accurate and up-to-date chart, as used by Radio I and 'Top Of The Pops'.

Without Spotlight's intervention, the would probably have been sold by 1 to the highest bidder.

CIN's agreement with Gallup has welcomed by all of the country's mamusic retailers and by Radio 1, but, words of chairman Terry Ellis, B members are "distressed" by the development.

Ellis says that the BPI, which was believed to be looking for assistance paying the annual £600,000 running of the chart, may launch a rival char move most would consider counter productive. For better or worse, th Gallup chart is the one which will higreatest visibility.

Gallup's computer currently draw comprehensive sales information ev week from nearly 1,000 shops and company has over seven years exp in the area of chart compilation. It is be difficult and very expensive to cowith anything better.
