BY ALAN JONES

● The awful Bombalurina continue at Number One, but relief is imminent — though not in the shape of George Michael as most had predicted. Instead, the challenge to 'Itsy Bitsy Teeny Weeny Yellow Polka Dot Bikini' comes from Scotland's Deacon Blue and their EP 'Four Bacharach & David Songs', which, as its name implies, is a quartet of Sixties tunes penned by Burt Bacharach (music) and Hal David (lyrics).

The Deacon Blue disc surges from number 11 to number two. It includes their remakes of 'I'll Never Fall In Love Again' (a Number One hit for Bobble Gentry in 1969, first recorded a year earlier by Dionne Warwick), 'Message To Michael' (a number 12 hit for Adam Faith as 'Message To Martha' in 1964, first recorded earlier the same year by Lou Johnson), 'The Look Of Love' (a number 21 hit for Gladys Knight and the Pips in 1973, first recorded by Dionne Warwick in 1966) and 'Are You There (With Another Girl)', never a hit, but first recorded — as were so many Bacharach and David songs — by Dionne Warwick in 1965.

● With Jason Donovan's 'Rhythm Of The Rain' debuting at number 23 and Sonia's 'End Of The World' climbing to number 24, Stock, Aitken And Waterman appear to be back on the right track.

Last week, Lonnie Gordon's latest single slipped off the chart, but Sonia's newbie made its debut, thus preserving SAW's proud record of having produced at least one single on the chart every week since 15 March 1986, but, after a succession of underachieving hits, SAW were absent from the chart as writers on 4 August for the first time since 28 February 1987.

In both production and songwriting capacities SAW are as busy as ever, their problems being due to several of their recent creations failing to ignite. Songs they wrote for Kakko and Romi & Jazz failed to reach the Top 75, for instance, while Lonnie Gordon's 'Beyond Your Wildest Dreams' dipped out of the charts after two weeks (peak position: 48) and Big Fun's remake of 'Hey There Lonely Girl' made a single appearance at number 62 before disappearing. Before the current Jason and Sonia singles, only two of the last 11 SAW singles reached the Top 10 — compared to eight of their previous 10.

On a brighter note, 'End Of The World' is the fifth single pulled off Sonia's album 'Everybody Knows' — a record for a debut album by a female singer.

For the record, SAW have now produced 107 hits, of which they also wrote/co-wrote 72.

● Prince registers his third consecutive Number One album this week, as 'Graffiti Bridge' makes its debut in pole position. Featuring performances from the Time, Mavis Staples and George Clinton, amongst others, it qualifies as a Prince album by dint of the fact that Prince makes a contribution to every track. This technicality allows it to appear in the artists' album chart instead of the compilation/various artists' chart.

Prince previously topped the chart in 1989 with the 'Batman' soundtrack, and in 1988 with 'Lovesexy'. He's the only artist thus far to top the chart in 1988, 1989 and 1990 — and, surprisingly, only two other American acts are amongst the 20 who have had more Number One albums than Prince, Dob Dylan and Elvis Presley, with six apiece. Even more astonishingly, Prince is only the second black act to figure amongst the 36 who've had three or more Number One albums, the first being Boney M!

● PRINCE: "OK, what comedian put Superglue on my fingers?"

● Black Sabbath register their 18th album chart entry with 'Tyr'. Their next should put them equal with Deep Purple and Hawkwind as the metal acts with most hit albums.

● Out of the shadows and up to Number 10 is Cliff Richard's 'Silhouettes'. It's Cliff's 55th Top 10 solo hit, a figure which puts him equal with Elvis Presley, and ahead of all others. Cliff beats Presley too, if we include his Top 10 duets with Phil Everly, the Young Ones and Sarah Brightman.

● A Top 10 hit is on the cards for Steve Miller, whose classic single 'The Joker' climbs 20 places to number 14 this week, nearly 17 years after it was recorded. Only two records named after playing cards have ever done better: in 1974, KC & The Sunshine Band 'Queen Of Clubs' reached number 9 and in 1979, Dave Edmunds saw number 11 with the 'Queen Of Hearts'. Lonnie Donegan's 'Jack O' Diamond' also reached number 14 in 1957 and Motorhead's 'Ace Of Spades' reached number 15 in 1980.

● Highest debut of the week Stateside is George Michael's 'Praying For Time', which enters the Hot 100 at number 27, well short of the year's best debuts (number 27 registered by MC Ham and New Kids On The Block).

Surprisingly, George's only solo single to debut higher than 'Praying For Time' are 'One More Try', which debuted number 40 on 16 April 1988, and 'Careless Whisper', which was, for some reason actually credited to "Wham! featuring George Michael" in America, debuted at number 37 on 22 December 1984.
