● The Righteous Brothers'

'Unchained Melody' continues to gain strength at number one, and is now selling in such vast quantities that it threatens to replace Sinéad O'Connor's 'Nothing Compares 2 U' as the year's biggest selling single.

'Unchained Melody' sold nearly 200,000 copies last week — more than three times as many as the number two record 'A Little Time' by the Beautiful South. With total sales of 'Unchained Melody' already exceeding half a million, it seems certain to remain at Number One for at least two, and probably three, more weeks — by which time it should have been established beyond doubt as the year's Number One single.

The last time any single sold more than 200,000 copies in a week was the week before Christmas 1988, when Cliff Richard's 'Mistletoe And Wine' topped the figure.

● Kim Appleby's 'Don't Worry' soars to number five this week, proving an unexpectedly triumphant return for the likeable Londoner. Few would have expected Kim to bounce back with such resilience after splitting from SAW and losing her sister Mel to cancer. Fewer still would expect her to do it with a song she wrote with Bros' 'Third Man', Craig Logan. Congratulations to them both.

Kim's is one of five consecutive hits in the Top 10 by female solo stars. Check positions four to eight on the chart opposite.

● 971, Geordie group Lindisfarne released the title track of their second album 'Fog On The Tyne' as a single. It was given an indifferent reception, and failed to give them a hit, though a subsequent single from the same album ('Meet Me On The Corner') did. Nevertheless, 'Fog On The Tyne' was always their best received song at gigs, leading the band's Alan Hull to say: 'I will never understand why it didn't make it.'

This week, it does — with more than a little help from Spurs footballer Paul 'Gazza' Gascoigne, for whom last Sunday was a day of very mixed fortunes.

Gazza was booked and suffered a nosebleed while his team surrendered their unbeaten league record to Liverpool, while 'Fog On The Tyne' entered the chart at number 11.

'Fog On The Tyne' is Lindisfarne's first hit in over a decade, but Gazza's second in a few months — he topped the chart during the summer with England/New Order.

● Penned by Bob Dylan for his 1968 album 'John Wesley Harding', 'I'll Be Your Baby Tonight' was an inspired choice of duet for Robert Palmer and UB40. It debuted at number 19 last week — higher than any of Palmer's 15 solo hits and — more impressively — higher than any of UB40's previous 31 hits.

Dylan released no singles from 'John Wesley Harding', which was also the original home of 'All Along The Watchtower', which went on to become a number five hit for Jimi Hendrix. Among the 30 or so versions of 'I'll Be Your Baby Tonight' recorded by other acts are those by Marianne Faithful, The Hollies, Anne Murray, Rita Coolidge and Linda Ronstadt.

● 'Step Back In Time' climbs to number four this week, stretching Kylie Minogue's phenomenal tally of consecutive top five hits to 11 — 10 solo plus her 'Especially For You' duet with Jason Donovan — her entire singles output.

● 'The Very Best Of Elton John' is the title, and the very best of Elton John is what you get on his newly-released double album of the same name, with more than two dozen hits spanning three decades. It debuts at Number One this week to become Elt's second Number One album of the year, following 'Sleeping With The Past', and his sixth in total. Only one soloist has had more — his old friend Rod Stewart, who has seven.

The last act to have two Number One albums in the same year was Michael Jackson, who topped the chart with 'Thriller' and '18 Greatest Hits' in 1983, the last named being a compilation of tracks he recorded solo and fronting the Jackson 5.

It's the third time Elton has had two Number One albums in a year. His first two were 'Don't Shoot Me, I'm Only The Piano Player' and 'Goodbye Yellow Brick Road' in 1973, followed by 'Caribou' and 'Elton John's Greatest Hits' in 1974.

● Two weeks after their triple LP/double cassette/double compact disc 'Remasters' entered the chart, an expanded version of the set entitled simply Led Zeppelin has chartered at number 48 for the defunct group of the same name.

Comprising 54 songs with a playtime in excess of four and a half hours, 'Zeppelin' stretches over six LPs, four cassettes and four compact discs.

The previous largest multiple record to chart was Bruce Springsteen's 'Live 1975-1985', a number four hit in 1986 that consisted of five LPs, three cassettes or three CDs.

'Led Zeppelin' is also the most expensive chart album of all-time, with three formats retailing at over £40
