CHART FOCUS

Bryan Adams' (Everything I Do) I Do It For You finally begins to lose popularity this week, but its sales dip only minimally. It is still selling twice as many copies as the number two single by Extraneous, which is selling better than many recent number ones. Ironically, if A&M hadn't been in such a rush to release More Than Words — it came out just seven weeks after Get The Funk Out, it would surely have been the record to replace Adams at number one, and give the company its first ever pair of consecutive chart toppers. It may, of course, still have the legs to reach pole position, but that now looks unlikely.

Vanilla Ice meanwhile registers his fifth hit in less than nine months, debuting at number 33 with his version of the Rolling Stones' Satisfaction. It's the fifth version of the song to become a hit following the Stones, Otis Redding, Aretha Franklin and Jonathan King in the guise of Bubblerock.

When Bomb The Bass' Winter In July failed to reach the club chart despite a pre-release mail-out, it looked like being a second consecutive flop for Tim Simenon, and a sad opener to Rhythm King's tie-up with Epic. But the single powers its way to number seven this week to become the group's fourth Top 10 hit. Ironically, considering Beat Dis' route to the top, it's still not a club hit, its success being due almost entirely to radio.

Morrissey made a rare visit to the Top Of The Pops studio to plug Pregnant For The Last

Time last week, but the record dips 13 places to number 38. This despite the fact that the previous week it climbed from number 29 to number 25 becoming Morrissey's first single in three years to actually progress beyond its debut position.

A bad week for Cher. Bryan Adams' single is about to replace her Shoop Shoop Song as the year's best seller, and her follow-up Love And Understanding, dips to number 15. Worse, her Love Hurts album dips to number two after six weeks at the top of the album chart. It surrenders top billing to The Essential Pavarotti II, which advances powerfully following the big man's Hyde Park concert. Though attended by far fewer people than had been anticipated, the Hyde Park performance clearly had spin-off benefits — The Essential Pavarotti vaults from number 51 (where it re-entered the chart last week) to number 19, and In Concert rebounds from number 47 to number 23.

Latest information from Music Week sister publication Charts Plus shows the UK's top record companies have dramatically different market shares in different regions.

Latest market share figures — by ITV region — show the top five companies all excelling in different areas. But the key factor seems to be less the efficiency of local sales teams than whether TV advertising is used or not.

While PolyGram came out top across the country in the second quarter — with a national albums market share of 18.3%, in the Midlands it achieved 20.1%. Head of TV marketing and research Brian Berg confirms Central as its key TV area.

"It is a very important area for us. It gives us a fairly good national picture at the same
