CHART FOCUS

Just when it looked as though Bryan Adams might have to be allocated chart position zero to allow someone else to have a turn at number one, his single Everything I Do (I Do It For You), overtaken by not one but three records. U2's The Fly emerges as the new champion with a very slender lead over Vic Reeves' Dizzy, while 2 Unlimited's Get Ready For This slips into third place.

The U2 single is the third single to enter the chart at number one this year, following Iron Maiden's Bring Your Daughter... To the Slaughter and Queen's Muñendo, both of which did the trick in January. The Fly is the 25th single to debut at number one in chart history, and the first by U2. Their previous highest debut (and only single to eventually top the chart) was Desire in 1988.

Primarily because of the half-term holiday, it was a particularly good week for singles with sales up by 11% over the previous week. Even (Everything I Do) I Do It For You shared the bonanza, increasing its week-on-week sale by 6%.

U2's single wasn't the only record to debut inside the Top 10 this week; Genesis's No Son Of Mine enters at number nine, to become the fastest starter of all their 21 hits to date. Thus far in 1991, no fewer than 31 singles have made their initial chart appearance in the Top 10, compared to 24 in the whole of 1990.

The top six acts in this week's singles chart are all from different countries, with Ireland leading from England, the Netherlands, Canada, New Zealand and Germany. No Yanks, you will notice. In fact, the highest placed American act is Salt-N-Pepa, whose Let's Talk About Sex is ranked 14th. There have been a few previous instances of US-free Top 10s, but never before has the top-ranked American act been so low.

On the album chart, Simply Red's Stars reclaims pole position. Returning to number one is a relatively rare accomplishment, but Simply Red's last album A New Flame had three separate runs at the top in 1989. Stars was actually outsold last week by the newly released various artists album Hardcore Ecstasy, which debuts at number one on the compilation chart. It used to be commonplace for multi-artist albums to top the sales pyramid, but this year it has only previously been done (and then only for one week) by EMI's Awesome.

ANALYSIS

Despite depressing sales for most of 1991, this year's recession actually helped make last month the busiest October for more than 10 years.

In just four weeks, 39 albums made their Top 40 debut — an average of 9.75 per week, compared with an average of 6.0 over the last 10 Octobers.

The phenomenon is largely attributed to the record companies' reluctance to release new products earlier in the year, with sales down by as much as 15%, according to some sources.

The balance appears to be being redressed as Christmas approaches, and what Our price managing director Richard Handover calls "the annual autumn harvest" is proving more bumper than ever. Gallun chart manager John however, with many independent retailers finding it difficult to keep up.

Andy Gray, proprietor of the Andy's Records chain, says: "The product which is around is fantastic. But it has gone from the sublime to the ridiculous — now expected to buy several at once.

Unfortunately for retailers, the October boom does not appear to be a one-off (see table), but follows a general trend over the past four years.
