CHART FOCUS

Snap's Rhythm Is A Dancer squeezes past Jimmy Nail's Ain't No Doubt to give Arista its first number one in over two years — since, in fact, their own debut single The Power reached pole position in April 1990. That record was replaced at number one by Madonna's Vogue, but even though her latest hit This Used To Be My Playground is currently placed at number three, it is performing too weakly to be a challenge to Snap.

of the strongest yet, containing no fewer than 10 current hit singles among its 34 tracks, including the aforementioned Jimmy Nail and Snap smashes.

Nail's demise is, at least in part, precipitated by the release of his album Growing Up In Public, which debuts at number two on the album chart, within striking distance of Neil Diamond's Greatest Hits 1966-1992, though both are apparently outdistanced considerably by Now That's What I Call Music 22. The latest in the record-setting compilation series was expected to sell 100,000 copies in its first week in the shops, and is one

Michael Jackson's tour launch failed to save Who Is It, which dips a place to number 11. But the enormous publicity that surrounds his visit, and some sensible price-trimming of back catalogue, not only sees his Dangerous album vault to number 5, but also the re-entry of Bad at number 14, Thriller at number 17 and Off The Wall at number 48.

That other great media obsession of the moment, the Olympic Games, brings Freddie Mercury and Montserrat Caballe's Barcelona back into the singles chart, as the week's highest new entry, at number five. When originally released in 1987, it peaked at number eight.

The other Olympics-associated hit of the moment, Jose Carreras and Sarah Brightman's Amigos Para Siempre, climbs to 18.

Finally, congratulations to Arcade, whose The Definitive Jim Reeves compilation debuts strongly at number 11. It's the highest-ranked Reeves album since 1975, when 40 Golden Greats topped the chart. That album was also on Arcade — but the company pulled out of Britain in 1980, re-establishing itself on the continent, particularly in Holland, before re-emerging here less than two years ago.

CHART NEWCOMERS

14 FELIX: Don't You Want Me (deConstruction). Originally released on the small independent Hooj Choons label, which never quite managed to cope with the demand for this hand-waving progressive house anthem. It was assembled by a young man from Essex, who prefers to be anonymous — though for how long he can maintain this attitude remains to be seen.

changes all that. Also featured in the movie Deep Cover, it is one of the few reggae records to become a hit in the US, where it recently reached the Top 40.

25 SHABBA RANKS: Mr Loverman (Epic). After releasing upwards of 30 singles on more than 15 labels since 1988, Shabba Ranks signed to Sony's Epic label last year. Despite a number 31 hit (Housecall) in partnership with Maxi Priest, and a number 20 teaming with Scritti Politti (She's A Woman) last year, he has never previously had even a Top 60 single in his own right. This ragga/rap track, from Shabba's upcoming album Rough & Ready Volume 1,

35 DJ CARL COX: Does It Feel Good To You (Perfecto). Londoner Carl Cox is a busy man; known as the DJ that plays every rave, he often plays as many as 14 gigs a week, deejaying in Europe, Australia and the US as well as Britain. Somehow he manages to find time to write and produce hit songs too. This, his follow-up to the number 23 hit I Want You (Forever), is taken from the Perfecto album Hardcore DJ's Take Control, which features tracks by both Cox and his contemporaries.

38 ACEN: Trip II The Moon (Production House). This hardcore/rave hit is Acen's follow-up to Close Your Eyes, which sold 25,000 copies over six months without ever entering the Top 75, though it was the number one single in Record Mirror's survey of sales through specialist dance shops for the first quarter of 1992. Nineteen-year-old Londoner Acen was born in Tottenham, and now lives in Ealing, where he is busily writing tracks for future release. Trip II The Moon is the 42nd release on the Willesden-based Production House label, which was established in 1987, and its first hit. Contact Production House on 081 968 8870.
