CHART FOCUS

Whitney Houston's recording of Dolly Parton's 1974 composition I Will Always Love You continues at number one for an eighth week, but Snap are closing the gap and could move into pole position next week.

For the first time in chart history, all of the top five singles are re-makes, and all but one were originally recorded in the Seventies. The exception is Snap's Exterminate, which is a re-recording of Ex-Terminator, an instrumental track on their album The Madman's Return.

Even this week's highest new entry dates back to the Seventies.

The record in question is Sister Sledge's We Are Family. It's a bigger hit now than ever before, debuting at number seven in its Sure Is Pure remix. And just to complete the picture, this week's highest climber — from number 34 to number 15 — is Go West's re-recording of a song originally recorded by Bobby Caldwell in 1978.

When they consisted of Jon Marsh and Steve Waddington, The Beloved released several singles but never came close to reaching the Top 10. Now comprising the husband and wife duo of Jon and Helena Marsh, they strike paydirt in a big way this week, as Sweet Harmony debuts at number nine.

Cher's Greatest Hits has been number one on the album chart since before Christmas, but it loses its grip quite spectacularly this week, dipping to number seven. The new champ is Genesis' Live — The Way We Walk Volume 2

— The Longs, the group's sixth number one album. Its chart-topping debut comes only nine weeks after the release of the companion album Live — The Way We Walk Volume 1 — The Shorts, which peaked at number three.

Meanwhile, the friendlier end of the rap spectrum has thrown up simultaneous top five albums by two acts for the first time ever. Climbing to number four, having finally made its Top 10 debut last week after three months in the chart, is Arrested Development's 3 Years, 5 Months & 2 Days In The Life. And returning to the chart at number two — a vast improvement on its pre-Christmas peak of number 43 — is Stereo MCs' re-issued Connected album. One other album debuts inside the Top 10, Cathy Dennis's Into The Skyline, though the vast majority of sales here are for the double-pack which has a bonus album of 12-inch mixes of singles from her previous LP, Move To This.
