CHART FOCUS

Neneh Cherry came close. So did Roxette. But until now Abba have been the only act from Sweden to land a number one single in Britain. That all changes this week as Ace of Base settle at the top of the chart, having made a clean sweep of the rest of Europe.

They look safe for at least another week, but veteran campaigners UB40 are clear contenders for their throne. Neither of the last two UB40 singles even reached the Top 40 and they've never had a single debut inside the Top 10 before, but their remake of the old chestnut Can't Help Falling In Love arrives in a hurry, debuting at number four.

Based on a 200-year-old classical melody (Plaisir D'Amour), Can't Help Falling In Love has been recorded over 200 times and has now been a Top 10 hit on four separate occasions, previously entering the upper echelon for Elvis Presley (1962), Andy Williams (1970) and the Stylistics (1976). Only two other songs have reached the Top 10 in four versions — It's Only Make Believe and Unchained Melody.

After slipping to number 25 last week, Sonia's Better The Devil You Know climbs to a new high at number 17 this week, but is unlikely to progress further, as it fulfilled the usual rôle of UK Eurovision entries by finishing second in the 38th annual Grand Prix last Saturday. Ireland made history by becoming the first country to retain the title since Israel in 1979.

Dealers anxious to stock the winning entry — Niamh Kavanagh's In Your Eyes — should note that the 25 year old Dublin bank clerk has no major label deal. In fact, even in Ireland, where the single debuts this week at number seven, she had to release it on her own label, punningly called Eureyes.

It's likely to be a couple of weeks at least before it's available here. Meantime, you could point interested punters towards the Commitments' movie soundtrack, on which Niamh is backing vocalist on several tracks, and lead vocalist on a cover of the Martha & The Vandellas classic Nowhere To Run.

The album chart is alive with activity this week, with no fewer than seven new entries in the Top 20 — the highest tally since October 10 last year, when the parade of newcomers was led by REM. Coincidentally, and despite the mass influx, Automatic For The People returns for a fourth stay at the top this week, simultaneously winning a triple platinum award for selling over 900,000 copies.
