CHART FOCUS

After a fortnight at number two, UB40's (I Can't Help) Falling In Love With You eases past Ace Of Base's All That She Wants to become the Birmingham group's third number one single — and they've all been remakes. In 1983, they topped the chart with Red Red Wine, and two years later they teamed up with Chrissie Hynde of the Pretenders for I Got You Babe. Their latest hit was a number one for Elvis Presley in 1962.

album, The Madman Returns. As originally issued, the album included Rhythm Is A Dancer only as a CD bonus track, and the instrumental version only of their last hit Exterminate. It has already been through three editions. Will it now go to a fourth?

The Pet Shop Boys once had a hit with a song popularised by Presley, and they have the highest entry to the chart this week with their own song Can You Forgive Her? It's the PSBs thirteenth Top 10 hit, and their tenth single which has debuted inside the Top 10.

Snap! return to chart duty with their eighth Top 10 hit in nine releases with Do You See The Light (Looking For). In its original version (with a Turbo B rap) it served as the B-side of Rhythm Is A Dancer and also appears on the group's Lisa Stansfield has had 11 consecutive Top 40 hits. The latest, In All The Right Places, climbs to number nine this week to become her second biggest hit to date, topped only by All Around The World.

Niamh Kavanagh's Eurovision winner In Your Eyes enters at number 47 to become the highest charting winner of the competition since 1987, when Johnny Logan's Hold Me Now reached number two.

Niamh's record is selling particularly well in Ireland. Meanwhile dance band The Time Frequency have their biggest hit yet with The Ultimate High/The Power Zone, which debuts at number 24 nationally, while it is number one, outselling UB40, in the band's native Scotland.

It's rare for albums to climb through the pack to reach the top, rarer still for out-and-out pop albums, so congratulations are due to 2 Unlimited whose No Limits album reaches the top at the fourth attempt this week. It brings to five PWL's tally of number one albums.

Finally, Van Morrison equals the highest position of his album chart career this week, as Too Long In Exile debuts at number four. Van's had 18 previous chart albums, but has only climbed this high before with a 1990 Best Of Collection.
