CHART FOCUS

Sales of UB40's (I Can't Help) Falling In Love, which fell in the week it went to number one, rise again this week just enough to fight off the challenge of Gabrielle, whose first hit Dreams makes a formidable debut at number two. Excluding all-star charity aggregations, no new act has ever debuted this high. The previous record holders debuted at three: Vanilla Ice (Ice Ice Baby) and Crystal Waters (Gypsy Woman).

A 23-year-old Londoner whose debut album is due in September, Gabrielle first recorded Dreams for the small independent label Victim in 1991. Initially self-distributed, it sampled the guitar intro from Tracy Chapman's Fast Car, and won immediate support from radio stations Kiss and Choice. Subsequently distributed by Jet Star, it started to sell in January 1992, and climbed to number 181 a year ago. It eventually reached a peak position of number 136 this January, a whole year after its initial release. Chapman's refusal to allow the sample led to its deletion, and, by now signed to Go! Discs' dance imprint Go! Beat, Gabrielle had to re-record the song, which topped Record Mirror's club chart prior to release. It seems sure to replace UB40 at the top of the singles chart next week.

We rarely get to mention songwriters in Chart Focus but then there's few writers who can pen Top 10 melodies at the age of 60, or who have a span of hit credits that stretch back 33 years. John Barry, born in York and resident in New York, is such a man. John's first success came in 1960, when his Hit And Miss theme from TV's Juke Box Jury reached number 10. He went on to become one of Britain's top movie composers and is particularly identified with the Bond films. And just to show he can write contemporary soulful ballads with the best of them, John's latest creation, In All The Right Places, is number 10 this week for Lisa Stansfield.

Tina Turner registers her sixth consecutive Top 10 album and her second number one with the movie soundtrack What's Love Got To Do With It. Tina topped the chart with Foreign Affair (1989), which was released a week earlier than originally planned to prevent a clash with Tears For Fears' Seeds Of Love album, which duly replaced it at number one the following week. This time around, Tina and TFF clash head-to-head, but Tina is a clear winner, as the latter's Elemental album debuts at five. It's the first TFF album by Roland Orzabal as a soloist. Alan Jones
