MUSIC WEEK 14 AUGUST

Mercury in second posthumous no 1 ● Joel does his best for a decade

CHART FOCUS

Four weeks is a long time for a teen act to spend at number one, and having completed that notable tenure at the top of the chart, Take That's Pray subsides to number three, allowing itself to be overtaken by two records which are now the hottest in the land, having once been much less successful.

The new occupant of the number one slot is Freddie Mercury's Living On My Own. His second posthumous number one after Queen's Bohemian Rhapsody/These Are The Days Of Our Lives, it is an extensively remixed version of a song that peaked at number 50 in 1985.

Meanwhile, enjoying a sixth week of growth, Urban Cookie

Collective's The Key: The Secret Surges to number two, topping both Rozalla's Everybody's Free (number six) and Rage's Run To You (three) to become the Pulse 8 label's biggest hit to date. The record was previously released, to a decent club reaction but without chart success, on the Unheard label.

Another record faring better second time around is Sarah Washington's dance version of I Will Always Love You. Originally released in January, shortly after Whitney Houston's recording of the Dolly Parton song had completed its chart-topping reign, it was virtually ignored, as were three versions of the song in lovers rock style (from Pam Hall, Barbara Francis and Chantelle Francoise) and even a 'comedy'

Where once they were a formidable duo as Tears for Fears, the solo recordings of Roland Orzabal and Curt Smith are meeting with a lot less success. Retaining the Tears For Fears name, Orzabal saw his most recent single, Cold, peak at 72 a fortnight ago. Despite it being co-authored by American veteran Franne Gold, who got her break via the Commodores' Nightshift and has written for numerous name acts, Curt's solo debut, Calling Out, looks unlikely to take off in a big way, debuting as number 10 breaker this week.

version by Star Turn On 45 Pints.

Whitney's own latest single, Run To You, is her fourth single from The Bodyguard soundtrack, but the least successful, as it dips ten places from the number 15 peak it reached last week. Ironically, the song which is also having a troubled US chart career - holding at number 31 this week for the fifth time - was the most critically acclaimed in the movie, and the only one to win an Oscar nomination.

Of course, it is just possible its disappointing chart showing could have something to do with the fact that new statistics show The Bodyguard soundtrack has sold an amazing 22 million copies worldwide, which is more than any other movie album apart from Saturday Night Fever.

Janet Jackson also hits trouble as If tumbles from its peak of number 14 to number 18. Her last two singles (The Best Things In Life Are Free and That's The Way Love Goes) both reached number two.

UB40 continue to top the album chart for the fourth week in a row, with U2 and REM continuing to hold firm at numbers two and three respectively.

The only significant new entry here is Billy Joel's River Of Dreams. Fuelled by the success of its title track as a single (Joel's biggest hit since Tell Her About It reached number four a decade ago) it debuts at number four. Joel is a veteran with a dozen previous album chart entries to his credit, but the only one to go higher was An Innocent Man (parent album for Tell Her About It) in 1983.

Finally, after four weeks at the top of the compilation chart, The Best Dance Album In The World...Ever bows to the inevitable, and is effortlessly replaced by Now That's What I Call Music 25. Alan Jones
