CHARTS AND PRODUCT NEWS

week ending 25 DECEMBER

Bookies catch a cold with Blobby ● Meat Loaf has year's biggest album while Mr Blobby reclaims the singles chart title, and in the process provides a windfall for those smart enough to back him at 20-1 earlier in the week, the real hero of the week is once again Meat Loaf.

Like Dina Carroll last week, Meat Loaf has two singles in the Top 10 simultaneously, with I'd Do Anything For Love dipping to number six and Bat Out Of Hell climbing to number eight.

His album Bat Out Of Hell II — Back Into Hell reigns supreme on the album chart for the 11th time, and the original Bat Out Of Hell album climbs to number 32. In all, Meat Loaf records probably generated around £1.8m at retail last week — that's 10 times the value of Mr Blobby's sales.

As its sales reached a new seven day high last week, Bat Out Of Hell III surpassed The Bodyguard soundtrack to become the biggest selling album of the year.

Meanwhile, I Will Always Love You, the Whitney Houston smash which launched The Bodyguard, and which was last Christmas's number one, has fallen a long way short of Houston's desire that it be number one this Christmas too. It rises ten notches from number 50 to number 40, but Whitney can console herself that she has sold more singles in 1993 than any other woman, while Dina Carroll and Gabrielle's current hits secure them second and third place respectively.

NEWCOMERS

SHABBA RANKS: Family

Affair (Polydor) Jamaica

8th hit. Producer: Salaam & Remi. Publisher: Warner Chappell.

Notes: This song is a cover of the Sly Stone classic, which originally got to number 15 in 1972. It is taken from the soundtrack to Addams Family

Values. The single features Patra, who with the release of her debut solo album is getting considerable backing vocals. Album: Addams Family Values OST.

HULK HOGAN with GREEN JELLY: I'm The

Leader Of The Gang (Arista) US debut. Producer: CJ Buscaglia.

Publisher: MCA. Writer: Leander/

(63, 1991). Biggest hit: Mr Loverman (3, 1993). Last hit: Whatcha Gonna Do (21, 1993).

A dip of 31% in sales of Take That's Babe means that, even though his own sales slump 20%, the Mr Blobby single bounces back to become the UK's Christmas number one. As sales of singles normally rise hugely just before Christmas, this may mean the novelty appeal of Mr Blobby is beginning to wear thin, despite his triumph. It's noteworthy that while shipments of the Blobby disc are said to exceed 600,000, ectual retail sales up to Saturday were only around 375,000. Nevertheless, the record makes history as the first single to dip from number one and then reclaim the position since 1963, when the Scaffold's Lily The Pink and Marmalade's 0b-La-Di Ob-La-Da traded places for four weeks.

The most reliable performers at Christmas are again Michael Bolton and Cliff Richard.

Bolton and Cliff Richard.

Michael's latest album, The One and Cliff's hit Healing Love is number 19.

Michael has uniquely, placed an album in the Christmas Top 10 in each of the past four years. In 1990 it was Soul Provider, in 1991 it was Time Love & Tenderness and last year it was Timeless (The Classics). Cliff, meanwhile, has not only scored a record 113 hits from 120 starts, but has also had a single in the Top 40 for six Christmasses in a row.

With most of the big records released a week or two ago, there are no brand new entries to the album chart, while even the singles chart has a mere nine newcomers, of which the highest is Shabba Ranks's Family Affair at 25. Taken from the movie Addams Family Values it is Shabba's fourth substantial hit of 1993, and the second version of the song first performed by Sly and the Family Stone to make the Top 40 in the nineties.

Though Addams Family Values is doing terrific business, Aladdin is doing even better, hence the dramatic pick-up of Peabo Bryson and Regina Belle's theme, A Whole New World, which soars from 26 to 12. The song's lyrics were written by Tim Rice, whose long-time partner Andrew Lloyd Webber is faring even better, thanks to Dina Carroll's cover of The Perfect Year, which climbs to number seven.

Taken from his stage musical, Sunset Boulevard, it is even tipped to become a hit in the US – but for Glenn Close, whose performance has wowed critics in the Los Angeles production of the musical.
