

Celine keeps Simple Minds at bay

SALES

Defying efforts by Simple Minds to register their sixth number one album, Celine Dion's Colour Of My Love album registers an impressive 22 percent gain in sales to retain its place at the top of the chart. With Think Twice establishing a lead of 50 percent at the top of the singles chart, Celine is only the second woman to have simultaneous number ones in the nineties, following Mariah Carey's cue.

Points for perseverance got to Total, who marketed three of this week's Top 10. Their triumphant trio - N-Trance's Set You Free, Nicki French's Total Eclipse Of The Heart and Bill Whelan's Riverdance - all required a second shot at success before making it. Of the three, the most remarkable is Riverdance, whose sales are rapidly approaching 200,000 even though it has received scant support from TV and radio (it doesn't even feature in the current Top 100 airplay chart).

Cyndi Lauper returns to the Top 40 with a remake of Gene Pitney's 1964 number two hit I'm Gonna Be Strong. Penned by the legendary Barry Mann and Cynthia Weil, it's long been a favourite of Cyndi's - she first recorded it in 1981, when she was lead singer with Polydor outfit Blue Angel.

Rednex's Cotton Eye Joe continues to shine. A massive hit all over Europe, it has now sold over 600,000 copies here, though this pales in comparison to its German sale of 1,300,000. It's only the third single to sell a million copies in Germany in the last decade. Rednex's album Sex & Violence (no relation to Sparks' Gratuitous Sax & Violins) is scheduled for release here next month - but it won't be released at all in the band's Swedish homeland, as their manager believes one of his other acts wasn't promoted vigorously enough, and is withholding Sex & Violence as a punishment for the record company. Incidentally, though a trio of Swedes are credited with writing Cotton Eye Joe, and will receive substantial royalties, it is in fact a very old song, recorded in 1928, with famous versions by Bob Wills, Nina Simone and others. Their royalty is for arranging, much as former Womble-meister Mike Batt will benefit from his revision of Bach's Tocatta & Fugue for Vanessa-Mae's single.

Hot on the heels of his hit single with Practice What You Preach, Barry White's re-issued album The Icon Is Love debuts at number 44, instantly becoming his most successful new album since Let The Music Play in 1976. The Icon Is Love has already been a massive success in America, where it has sold over a million copies in four months.

AIRPLAY

Radio Support for the Human League's Tell Me When has finally peaked, but it manages a comfortable fourth week at the top of the chart. Though she slips from third to fourth, Annie Lennox's No More I Love You's adds a further 186 spins and must be fancied to take over next week.

Meanwhile, Bon Jovi's Someday I'll Be Saturday Night gets wide support and is the highest new entry on the chart at number 14. It's particularly popular at Radio 1 where it ranks ninth. Virgin 1215 has stronger support for Bon Jovi, playing seven of the group's songs 35 times last week. It also adores Sting, airing seven of his songs last week too. It's interesting to note that the highest-placed rock single on the CIN chart (Green Day's Basket Case at number 14) got a mere seven plays from Virgin, ranking 35th in its chart, while pop band Roxette's Run To You, a small CIN hit which peaked at number 27 several weeks ago and has few rock pretensions, nevertheless managed to register 28 plays on Virgin 1215 last week, enough for it to rank equal top of their chart with Annie Lennox's No More I Love You's and Simple Minds' She's A River.

Simple Minds' new album Good News - From The Next World also generates support, with Virgin among the stations giving exposure to Night Music, which checks into the Airplay Chart at number 100. As the only album track registering enough support to compete in a chart dominated by singles, it clearly has potential.

As one of the most critically acclaimed new bands, Suede still has a problem getting airplay. Their New Generation single debuts at number 40, but no fewer than 24 of its 47 plays come from Radio 1. The much-maligned station continues to offer brave, diverse programming its commercial competitors can't match, giving substantial support to Belly, Heather Nova, The Tabernacle, EMF, Hootie & The Blowfish, Bad Religion and Weezer to name but a few who are being ignored by almost all other programmers.

Unproven artists with unreleased records bubbling under the Top 50 include Heather Nova (number 59), Lavina Jones (65), The Tabernacle (66), Junior Reid (73) and Jodie (80). Finally, it's interesting to note that though Paul Young's Grazing In The Grass picked up 211 plays last week, it was ranked 88th because it was played primarily by stations with small audiences. East 17's Be There got a mere eight plays, but ranks only five places lower, both records being exposed to around five and half million pairs of ears last week.
