Mariah wins in albums standoff

SALES

After a closely-fought battle, Simply Red's Fairground just manages to cling to its position at the top of the singles chart ahead of Pulp's double-sided smash Mis-Shapes/Sorted For Es And Wizz, which debuts emphatically at number two, instantly equalling the peak position of their last hit, Common People. Even though Pulp failed to wrest the crown from Simply Red, they did outpace them early in the week, and must be fancied to take the title next week.

The battle for the albums chart honours between Sony stablemates Michael Bolton and Mariah Carey ended in victory for Carey. Though not released until Thursday, her Daydream album stormed to the summit on the eighth of three days' sales, leaving Bolton stranded. It's Mariah's second straight number one album. Poor Michael has had more platinum albums than anyone else in the Nineties (five of 'em) but is still waiting for his first number one.

Whether Bolton or Carey had claimed the album chart title this week, it's all money in the bank, and lots of it, for Walter Afanasieff. The man of whom many of our readers with enquire "who?" produced seven tracks on each album. He also co-authored one song on Bolton's album and six on Carey's.

Artist-owned record labels are usually no more than ill-advised exercises in vanity – but not Madonna's Maverick.

Not only has her own Bedtime Stories sold 3m copies stateside, another Maverick album, Candlebox's self-titled debut, has sold nearly 4m. This week, Maverick's latest star Alanis Morissette wins the race to the top, moving to the summit with her debut album Jagged Little Pill, which has sold over two and a half million copies in four months. It is also this week's highest climber in the UK albums chart.

In the UK, the Michael Bolton/Mariah Carey stand-off overshadowed the week's other major new album, The Gold Experience by Prince, which debuted at number four. Last time out, Prince debuted at number one with Come, but that album sold fewer copies in its successful strike than The Gold Experience managed last week. Excluding a trio of greatest hits packages, Prince has had four top five albums in the Nineties. Even more impressively, in an album chart career that spans a mere 11 years, he's delivered 16 hit albums of his own, as well as providing input on several others. He's nothing if not prolific.

THE OFFICIAL CHARTS MONITOR

AIRPLAY

For the fourth week in a row, the same two East West releases hold down the top two places in the airplay chart. At number two is The Rembrandts' introductory hit I'll Be There For You, and at number one – for the fifth straight week – is Simply Red's Fairground, which remains far and away the most played disc, though its tally of audience impressions is only slightly better than the Rembrandts'.

Support for Fairground remains solid, even though programmers have already been serviced with a whole album's worth of new Simply Red material in the form of Life.

It's early days yet, but radio programmers have opted to give a broadly similar amount of plays to several tracks from the album, with So Many People taking a slender lead from Remembering The First Time, Never Newer Love and You Made Me Believe. Even at this stage, they are playing more different tracks more often than they did with either the new Blur or Oasis albums.

No album has had such play in depth since Michael Jackson's HIStory – Past, Present & Future Book 1. Having said that, Simply Red's 1991 hit Stars is still attracting more airplay than any Life excerpts and continues to bubble on the cusp of the Top 100.

Programmers got plenty of Elton John to choose from last week, being simultaneously serviced with Randy Newman's Faust (on which Elton guests singing Little Island), the Leonard Cohen tribute album Tower Of Song (Elton reprises I'm Your Man) and his upcoming single Blessed. The first two picked up a modicum of play, but Blessed scored a good first week tally of more than a hundred plays, and is poised to enter the Top 50 next week.

Elton is a perennial radio favourite, and each of his last three singles has been far more successful on the airwaves than at retail.

Another old-timer, Cher, is back on the airwaves with Walking In Memphis. The introductory single from her upcoming WEA album is indeed the Marc Cohn song. The fact it was a number 22 hit for Cohn a mere four years ago hasn't stopped it from getting widespread acceptance, and it should burst into the Top 50 next week. Cher's version is very similar to Cohn's, at least in the regular mix, though a remix package putting Cher in the hands of Shut Up & Dance is different, both to the original and to the vinyl anarchists' own Raving, I'm Raving, which violated Cohn's copyright and was notoriously deleted after climbing to number two in the chart.
