Soldiers beat off Beatles' album

SALES

Robson & Jerome pull off a remarkable double against all the odds this week. The Soldier Soldier stars were widely expected to concede the album chart title to The Beatles with their singles crown going to Coolio's Gangsta's Paradise, which was losing sales far more slowly than their own I Believe/Up In The Roof. In fact, the Robson & Jerome single sold just 50 copies more than Gangsta's Paradise to retain its title for a fourth week, while their self-titled album easily beat The Beatles, selling 213,000 copies against just 125,000 copies of Anthology 1, which debuted at two.

Both albums contain the Lennon/McCartney composition This Boy, and the rest of the chart is studded with Lennon/McCartney compositions too. At number 16, Michael Jackson's HIStory contains Come Together, while further down the chart are featured: Eleanor Rigby (Shirley Bassey Sings The Movies, at 30); Ob-La-Di Ob-La-Da and Yesterday (Foster & Allen's 100 Golden Greats, at 40); Girl (Chris De Burgh's Beautiful Dreams at 37); and Yesterday again (James Last's Very Best Of at 55). Two Lennon solo compositions also feature on Jimmy Nail's Big River (Love) and More Than This - The Very Best Of Bryan Ferry & Roxy Music (Jealous Guy). While several Beatles albums lurk just outside the Top 75 ready to capitalise on the Anthology TV series, another Lennon/McCartney credit adorns Happy Mondays' Lazyitis - based on Ticket To Ride - as featured on the Loads: Best Of Happy Mondays album which dips out of the chart this week.

Michael Jackson, one of the chief beneficiaries of this glut of Beatles covers, also does very nicely for himself this week. His HIStory album has staged quite a revival over the past fortnight, moving 36-23-16 as forthcoming single Earth Song begins to make its presence felt. HIStory has just earned double platinum, while his You Are Not Alone single is now platinum. His biggest single of the Nineties, it dips from 31 to 43 this week, ending a 13-week run on the Top 40, thus equalling the record set in 1972/3 by Ben, the only Michael Jackson solo hit to spend so long in the Top 40.

Finally, congratulations to Oasis, whose (What's The Story) Morning Glory album edged ahead of Celine Dion's The Colour Of My Love album on Saturday to become the biggest selling album of 1995 so far. The Oasis album has sold 980,000 copies and, at the present rate, should have reached 1.4m to 1.5m sales by year's end.

MONDAY

AIRPLAY

After growing for several weeks, Everything But The Girl's Missing single finally climbs to the top of the airplay chart this week, as several initial non-believers, spanning both rock and dance formats, climb aboard. Kiss FM, for instance, played the track 19 times last week, but none the week before, while Red Rose managed to fit it into its rock format some 42 times last week after ignoring it completely over the previous seven days.

Pressing EBTG for the top spot, The Beatles' Free As A Bird debuts at number two this week. In reality, it is undoubtedly Britain's most spun and heard record, as it is also on several gold stations playlists - gold stations are not monitored by Media Monitor - and was also aired on TV several times. Among The Beatles' biggest supporters is Capital FM, which played the track 50 times between its 4AM Monday launch and the midnight Saturday cut-off point for this week's chart. That was enough to make it Capital's most played record, ahead of the 47 spins it gave to You'll See by Madonna.

Radio One meanwhile, plays Free As A Bird a full 18 times, but the station has interests elsewhere. Kelly's Heroes by Black Grape was spun some 34 times last week, enough for it to move from number 55 to number one on the Radio One chart and representing more plays in a week than the stations has given to any record this year. It thus debuts at number 23 on the airplay chart with Radio One providing 96.3% of its audience.

While Robson & Jerome's I Believe spends a fourth week at the top of the sales chart, it is already experiencing a decline in radio support, which was never very good in any case. It climbed as high as 18 on the airplay chart last week, but slips to 26 this week as it loses 40 plays and 20% of its audience. Several other big sellers are receiving scant support from radio, including Whale's Hobo Humpin' Sloba Babe, which finally enters the airplay chart at 123 with just 46 plays and Ethies' To The Beat Of The Drum, which is number 114 with 92 plays, most of them on specialist stations such as Kiss.

Simply Red's Fairground remains the only record to debut at number one on airplay this year, but since loosening its 11-week grip a fortnight ago it's gone into freefall, plunging from one to 12 to 34. Its decline is hastened by their upcoming single, Remembering The First Time, though it makes nowhere near the level of impact of its predecessor. It debuts at number 29.
