THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS

CHART FOCUS

Ooh aah...just a little bit more – that's all that Gina G would have needed to dethrone George Michael this week. Gina crept ever closer to unseating George at the top of the singles chart but George just clung on, selling an estimated 285 copies more than Gina last week, with retailers shifting 201 copies for every 200 of Ooh Aah...Just A Little Bit. With a new CD of Ooh Aah due today and the song representing Britain in Eurovision on Saturday, its further upwards progress seems inevitable.

That's Ooh Aah, of course, not Ooh! Aah! or Woo-Hah! – the chart is suddenly alive with these similarly sculpted excitable exclamations, of which the most intriguing is the 1300 Drums single Ooh! Aah! Cantona. Widely rumoured to be a comeback single by KLF, it makes a timely salute to Manchester United soccer star Eric Cantona.

Cantona thus becomes the first footballer to be doublechecked in the titles of two different hits, having previously provided inspiration for the similarly titled Oo..Ah..Cantona, a number 64 hit in 1992 for Oo La La, at which time Eric was playing for Leeds United. Cantona doesn't just provide inspiration for hits, of course, he also sings on one. The 1996 Manchester United FA Cup Squad's Move Move Move, which holds at number six this week. Cantona's goal secured United a 1-0 win against Liverpool in Saturday's FA Cup Final, but Liverpool have the upper hand in the chart, debuting at number four with Pass & Move (It's The Liverpool Groove).

Football songs are a regular part of the May chartscape, but they usually come one at a time. The last time there were two in the Top 10 at the same time was on 15 May 1982, when World Cup frenzy carried both the England and Scotland squad songs into the chart, overshadowing the Tottenham Hotspur FA Cup Squad's Tottenham Tottenham, which skulked at number 19.

Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill album was certified triple platinum in the week but after six weeks of continual growth its sales dipped, allowing Ash to debut at number one with their first full length album, 1977. It follows hot on the heels of their biggest hit single Goldfinger, which reached number five last month. While several acts from the Republic Of Ireland have had number one albums – Val Doonican, Enya, U2, The Cranberries (the latter once, not twice as erroneously stated last week) – Ash are the first number one act from Northern Ireland.

Ash's success overshadows the number four debut of Everything But The Girl's debut Virgin album Walking Wounded. That's a little disappointing in view of the interest in EBTG created by their last Warners single Missing, and their first Virgin single (also Walking Wounded) which gave them their first back-to-back Top 10 hits in a lengthy career, not to mention the unanimous critical acclaim given to the Walking Wounded album. There had been optimistic talk that the album would be the first of two consecutive number ones for Virgin with new acquisitions, setting up George Michael's Older. The odds on the second half of the equation not occurring are remote.

Mark Knopfler's album Golden Heart sprints 36-13 after his Later special with Jools Holland on BBC2 on Bank Holiday Monday. An impressive 120% increase in sales rather disproves The Sunday Times' jibe that the show proves that Knopfler has "a great face for radio".

There's a new number one on the compilation chart with Hits 96 proving a runaway winner, selling 134% more than any other disc. The album signals the revival of the Warner/BMG/Sony axis which launched the Hits series in 1984 and briefly threatened Now.

Alan Jones

Already the only artist with two number one hits in the sales chart this year, George Michael repeats the feat on the airplay chart, as FastLove moves to the summit by dint of the fact it has a 6% larger audience than Mark Morrison's Return of The Mack – even though Mark's single was still the most played disc on the radio last week, with just one play more than FastLove.

FastLove was an instant success at retail, but as far as radio is concerned it was a bit of a slow love, taking six weeks to reach the top. George's previous Virgin single Jesus To A Child was number one for three weeks in January and February.

FastLove is even beginning to get support from Atlantic 252, where it was spun 36 times last week, to earn it 11th place in the station's chart. It's the nearest thing to a dance record in Atlantic 252's Top 50. The station plays more R&B-orientated records but rarely out-and-out dance hits, hence its lack of support for big sales hits like Klubshopping, Keep On Jumpin', There's Nothing I Won't Do and Woo-Hah! Got You All In Check.

The latter disc, in fact, is more reliant than ever on Radio One, where it was played 23 times last week to share sixth place on the station's chart. Nationally, the Busta Rhymes vehicle managed another 106 plays – but Radio One delivered 85% of its audience.

Radio One's new "one to watch" is The Fugees' rapping update of the old Roberta Flack hit Killing Me Softly, which it spun 14 times last week, delivering 94% of its UK audience.

In its first full week with radio, Celine Dion's new single Because You Loved Me picked up 333 plays. It's still just outside the chart (at number 55) but should explode next week, with Capital and Heart leading the race to play this former US number one.

Another Canadian with the right demographics for widespread radio support, Bryan Adams is getting just that with his upcoming single The Only Thing That Looks Good On Me Is You, which explodes for the second week in a row, following a 444% increase in plays and a 317% increase in audience last week, with rises of 73% and 30% respectively. The song jumps from 42 to 29.

Finally The Lighthouse Family's Lifted ends a 17 week run in the Top 50 this week, plunging from number 33 to number 60. The reason for its fast demise is the equally rapid rise in support for the band's new single Ocean Drive, which soars from number 23 to number eight, with a 68% increase in plays and an audience that swelled by 70% last week.
