THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS

The Spice Girls' Wannabe continues to explode. It sold 154,000 copies last week, three times the sales of its nearest challenger, which remains the Fugees' Killing Me Softly, even though the latter has now been deleted.

Completing a bizarre top three is Peter Andre's Mysterious Girl, which has been in the top five for 10 weeks and has also been deleted.

Discontinuing hits while they are still selling at this level is a new phenomenon in the UK, although it's old hat in the US where, for example, Bone Thugs N'Harmony's Tha Crossroads was deleted at its peak, curtailing an eight-week stint at the top of the chart, during which it sold 2m copies. Mysterious Girl has sold around 575,000 copies with a remarkable consistency. Its chart record reads: 3-3-3-2-3-3-4-5-4-3.

Looking to gain a top three perch next week, Los Del Rio's Macarena moves from eight to four after another 38% jump in sales. Total UK sales so far are only around 115,000, a tiny fraction of its worldwide tally of nearly 3m, including a million in the US, where it completes a 33-week climb to number one this week.

Head Over Feet is the fifth single from Alanis Morissette's album Jagged Little Pill, and the first to reach the Top 10. It debuts at number seven, adding to previous Morissette hits You Oughtta Now (number 22), Hand In My Pocket (26), You Learn (24) and Ironic (11). Head Over Feet's success propels Jagged Little Pill to a 55% week-on-week sales gain. It comfortably retains the number one slot and has now spent six weeks at the summit in three separate engagements. It has also spent 11 weeks at number two. With sales of 1.4m to date, it is far from finished.

The artist formerly known as Prince seems to be ending his lengthy career as a Warner Music act with a whimper. TAFKAP's last album of new material for the company, Chaos & Disorder, debuted at number 14 two weeks ago. It has since slipped to number 41. Thirteen of his previous 14 albums reached the Top 10, with only the belatedly-released Black Album charting lower. Dinner With Delores, the first single from Chaos & Disorder, makes a dismal showing, too, debuting at number 36 this week. It is his 43rd and only one has peaked lower in the past 10 years.

Francis Rossi's first solo single after 28 years of success with Status Quo is also something of a disappointment. Give Myself To Love debuts at number 42, conveniently depriving it of a Radio One chart show play. The 47-year-old will continue to record with Quo, as well as making solo records.

Neneh Cherry has more to celebrate as she debuts at number nine with Woman. It is her biggest solo hit for seven years, when she opened her chart career with consecutive top five hits Buffalo Stance and Manchild. Her biggest hits since then have been collaborations, reaching number three with Yousou N'Dour on 7 Seconds in 1994 and number one last year when teamed with Chrissie Hynde and Cher for the charity song Love Can Build A Bridge.

Scottish techno band QFX reached number 22 in February with Everytime You Touch Me, which sold almost exclusively north of the border. The same local attention is responsible for the new single You Got The Power, which debuts at number 33 this week.

The album chart is having its annual attack of summer doldrums, with little new product of note appearing. Last week, the highest of just three new entries to the chart debuted at number 40. This week, there are also three new entries, thought at least the Black Crowes album Three Snakes And One Charm debuts as high as number 17. On average, there are six to seven new entries per week.

Alan Jones

Big downturns in support for the Fugees' Killing Me Softly and Everything But The Girl's Wrong allow Gary Barlow's Forever Love to continue at the top with a fairly comfortable lead, even though it is itself in decline, with plays down 5% and audience down 2%. Next week, Barlow can expect a more formidable challenge from Dodgy and the Spice Girls.

Good Enough is easily Dodgy's most radio-friendly record to date and it jumps from eight to three as its plays explode from 336 to 696. And the Spice Girls' runaway number one sales hit Wannabe moves from 14 to five after adding nearly 300 extra plays. If they continue to grow at even half the rate next week, they'll leave Barlow trailing.

A 37-41-36-31 airplay chart record to date shows how difficult it has been for Robbie Williams' Freedom to gain support. Its five-place upward move this week flatters it somewhat, as it gained only 13 extra plays. Like former Take That colleague Barlow, Williams will have to wait for sales of his single to act as a spur to airplay – and that should happen sooner rather than later as Freedom, which had advance sales in excess of a quarter of a million, arrived in the shops today (Monday).

Ditto Suede, whose Trash single is already Radio One's top spin with 29 plays last week, but which picked up only 40 more plays across the Media Control panel, mostly one-offs from small stations. Radio One consequently supplied more than 97% of the track's audience.

Los Del Rio's Macarena finally breaches the Top 50, moving from 56-43, with Atlantic 252's 34 plays making it the song's biggest supporter. Radio One appears to be playing the song only when absolutely necessary (ie, on chart shows).

OMC's quirky How Bizarre continues to tickle the fancy of radio programmers above and beyond its sales showing. It was the number seven airplay hit last week, but now has dropped to number nine, even though it actually upped its plays last week from 725 to 811.

While OMC are newcomers, their alphabetical neighbours OMD have long been radio favourites, with a string of hits which have doing better on the airwaves than in the sales charts.

Their first single for three years, Walking On The Milky Way, has made a powerful start at radio and moves from 51 to 33 this week with 371 plays. It has been getting heavy initial support from Virgin, where it was played 20 times last week. Alan Jones
