THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS

Famously dubbed "categorically unclassifiable", former punk anarchists Chumbawamba

register their first Top 40 hit in 12 years and 12 attempts, debuting strongly at number two with Tubthumping. Their EMI label debut, which follows spells with Agit Prop and One Little Indian, sold over 113,000 copies last week – far more than the cumulative sales of all their previous releases. Their brave challenge for the summit was in vain, however, as Will Smith's Men In Black sold 133,000.

Fourteen years ago this very week, A&M controversially released Annabel Lamb's cover of The Doors' Riders On The Storm with the seven-inch single shrinkwrapped to a video of Ms Lamb performing the song, all for the princely sum of 99p. Videos being rather more expensive then than now, its value was estimated at five times that of the single. There was no chart rules outlawing free gifts of this nature at the time and the single sold well enough to reach number 27, though it proved to be an extremely short-lived boost to Lamb's career, as she never had another hit. Fast forward to 1997, and the chart rules have been amended to allow the new "enhanced CDs", compact disc-compatible discs which can include text and video, to qualify for the chart. Last week saw Coldcut take advantage of this multimedia convergence, reaching number 37 with More Beats & Pieces. This week another four enhanced CDs enter the chart – Feeder's Crash (number 48), N-Trance's The Mind Of The Machine (number 15), Suede's Filmstar (number nine) and Dannii's All I Wanna Do (number four). All feature videos of the lead track, except the Feeder single, which includes footage – or, more correctly, digital images – of Tangerine. It's debatable how many fans can actually access the video element of the singles, and, therefore, how much their inclusion has helped the acts. Even so, it's a fact that after a three-year break, in which she has changed labels, hair colour and shed her surname, Dannii Minogue registers the biggest hit of her career with All I Wanna Do, having previously climbed as high as number eight with both Love And Kisses and Jump To The Beat in 1991. She needs only another 13 Top Five hits to catch up with sister Kylie.

Looking to become the second act to top the album chart with an enhanced CD – fang Clan were the first – Backstreet Boys surprisingly fail so to do, debuting at number two with their third album Backstreet's Back. Instead, Texas' White On Blonde returns to pole position for the first time since debuting there on 15

February. White On Blonde nearly made it back to the top after the release of the album's second single Halo, which boosted it to number two. The album has sold over 430,000 copies in 28 weeks since its release.

Some artists can have a string of hit singles without ever having a major album chart success, but new singer-songwriter Meredith Brooks' career is off to a remarkable start. Just four weeks after launching her UK career with the single Bitch, her album Blurring The Edges debuts at a lofty number five, after selling over 13,500 copies last week. Bitch debuted at number six, and has since spent three weeks at number eight, selling over 160,000 copies. It's a leap of faith for so many record buyers to invest in an album by a new artist, especially as the album has had only minimal exposure.

After a no-show from the Grateful Dead – their Classic Albums exposure didn't focus sharply enough on any one album to work – the excellent BBC TV series strikes again with last week's featured album, Stevie Wonder's Songs In The Key Of Life, charting at number 66. The 1976 album – which features Isn't She Lovely, Another Star, I Wish, Sir Duke and Pastime Paradise – has been absent from the chart for 20 years.

Despite logging over 2,000 plays last week for the first time, Texas' Black Eyed Boy is knocked off the top of the airplay chart by the fast-growing Men In Black by Will Smith, which climbs 5-1 after adding 13m listeners and 442 plays last week. It's the fourth of 17 number one sales hits thus far in 1997 to simultaneously top the airplay chart, following Spice Girls' 2 Become 1, No Doubt's Don't Speak and Oasis' D'You Know What I Mean?

Oasis are back with a new entry on the chart this week, debuting at number 46 with Don't Go Away, which proved to be far and away the most popular track on the four-cut Be Here Now promo issued to radio stations last Monday. Don't Go Away logged 83 plays, Radio One leading the way with 12 airings, compared with nine apiece on Piccadilly Key and GLR. The promo also included the title track, which got 49 plays, with a top score of five plays on both Radio One and Invicta; Girl In The Dirty Shirt which was spun 38 times, nine of them at Invicta; and It's Getting Better, Man which snagged 31 plays, including four from Radio One and three from Viking. In total, the four tracks received 201 plays, which boils down to just three per station – not much considering their last album sold well over 3m units, and over 800 fewer plays than D'You Know What I Mean? managed over the same time frame. Radio One additionally played Magic Pie and All Around The World (not on the promo) once apiece, somehow breaking the August 18 embargo that applied to the rest of the album.

It's ranked only 24th on the sales chart but the Levellers' What A Beautiful Day clawed its way to the top of Radio One's playlist last week, registering 29 plays, one more than joint runners-up Men In Black by Will Smith and Mo Money Mo Problems by Notorious B.I.G. It's the first Levellers song to top the Radio One list, and is one of the less safe records the station has put into such high rotation recently. It peaked at number 13 on the sales chart a fortnight ago, and is getting so little support elsewhere that with Radio One factored out, it wouldn't even appear in the airplay Top 50.

The Deconstruction label welcomes back its two most successful acts, who both launched long-awaited new singles to radio last week. M People, who are perennial radio favourites, enjoying regular airings of their old hits, provide the week's highest new entry, at number 30 with Just For You. Meanwhile, Kylie Minogue joins sister Dannii in the chart, debuting at number 48 with Some Kind Of Bliss.
