CHART
COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

With no new entries to the Top 10 and sales at a very low ebb, some odd things are happening this week, not least of which is the Tamperer seizing the number one slot at the sixth attempt. After progressing 3-4-3-5-2, Feel It – one of those rare number one hits in which the title is not mentioned – captures pole position from All Saints Under The Bridge/Lady Marmalade.

It's one of six climbers in the Top 10 – a nostalgic return to the way things used to be, though records tended to have fairly smooth up and down chart careers in days of yore building slowly to a sales peak, rather than the strange yo-yoing which marks genuine hits these days, and is due to the presence/absence of strong opposition than to fluctuating demand for the discs which are bouncing about.

One such disc – and bouncing is apt since its taken from their Trampoline album – is the Mavericks Dance The Night Away, which surges to number four this week, after

SINGLE FACTFILE

Ooh La La was the title track from a 1974 Faces album. Written by Ronnie Lane and Ron Wood, it was unusual in that Rod Stewart didn't sing lead on it. In fact, as he revealed to A&R Editor Stephen Jones in MW a fortnight ago, he didn't sing on it at all.

Twenty-four years on, Rod revisits the song – the first track to from When We Were The Boys (released June 1), and his version of the track gets a definite thumbs up from record buyers, debuting this week at number 16. It's Rod's highest charting solo hit since 1993, when he reached number five with a remake of Van Morrison's Have I Told You Lately. Rod's hit is the introductory single from his not to be confused with Coolio's Ooh La La, 2 Eivissa's Ooh La La or Alexia's Uh La La – all hits in the last nine months. Ooh La La is Rod's 62nd hit, in all guises.

previously moving 9-8-10-8. Though it looks like it has taken off in a big way, it sold only 35,000 copies in advancing to number four, a thousand fewer than a fortnight ago, when it was at number 10. The most impressive and sustained chart meanderer of recent times, however, has to be LeAnn Rimes How Do I Live, which has spent 13 weeks riding the surf and occupying just five different chart positions, moving 7-9-12-17-12-9-7-11-12-12-11-9, while selling 410,000 copies at a very steady pace.

After occupying third place in the chart as late as Friday, demand for The Smashing Pumpkins Ava Adore collapsed at the weekend. It still takes the prize for highest debut of the week, entering the chart at number 11, three notches ahead of German band NYCC's remake of the old Beastie Boys hit Fight For Your Right To Party.

Finally, Frank Sinatra's My Way already holds the record for most weeks on the Top 75 – a staggering 124. In the wake of his death, it has been reissued, and it nearly made it 125 this week, but missed out by one place. Absent from the chart since a 1994 re-issue of My Way peaked at number 45, Frank seems certain to make his posthumous return next week.

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

After debuting at number one last week, Garbage's Version 2.0 falls from grace in a big way this week, tumbling all the way to number eight. The last album to fall further from the summit was the Wu-Tang Clan's Enter The Wu-Tang, which suffered the steepest ever decline when it slumped 1-14 last June. The only other artists to make bigger falls than Garbage in the Nineties are Little Angels (Jam, 1-12 in 1993), Suede (Coming Up, 1-10 in 1996), Jesus Jones (Doubt, 1-9 in 1991), The Orb (U.F. Orb, 1-9 in 1992) and East 17 (Walthamstow, 1-9 in 1993). The previous biggest fall from number one this year was 1-7 by Pulp's This Hardcore in April, while the previous biggest drop from the summit by an album on the Mushroom label was also 1-7, by Peter Andre's Natural.

With Dreams rebounding 10-8 on the singles chart, and showing signs of becoming the latest member of the long-running club hit, demand for The Corrs' album Talk On Corners hit a new peak last week - over 24,500 were sold - pushing the album up from eight to three, surpassing the

● Simply Red become only the eighth act to have had five consecutive number one albums, courtesy of Blue, which sold 84,000 copies last week.

That's more than three times as many as Catania's International Velvet sold in holding on to the number two slot, and, more significantly, only 3,000 copies fewer than Simply Red's Greatest Hits sold when it debuted in pole position in October 1996.

ALBUM FACTFILE

Formerly a group, and now just Mick Hucknall, Simply Red also topped the charts with A New Flame (1989), Stars (1991) and Life (1995), and number two with their only other releases - 1985's Picture Book and 1987's Men And Women. Originally conceived as a covers album, Blue includes seven Hucknall originals, including the first single Say You Love Me, which peaked at number seven a fortnight ago.

group's most successful, beating Forgiven, Not Forgotten, which has sold nearly 150,000.

Another album reaching a new chart peak this week is My Way - The Best Of Frank Sinatra, which soars 36-7. The album has been an ever-present on the Top 200 since it was released last August, but had previously climbed no higher than number 13. Sinatra albums are also invading the budget chart, with Swing Easy (22-4), 20 of The Best (14-5), 20 Classic Tracks (new at number 20), Screen Sinatra (new at 33) and Our Love Affair (new at 37) showing in the Top 50. All but the last album - on Hallmark - are EMI releases in the MFP range.

The battle for chart supremacy between of John Lennon's sons has been resolved with Julian the winner of a fairly hollow victory. Julian's Photograph Smile sold about 10% more than half-brother Sean's debut LP Into The Sun last week, but neither sold enough copies to make the Top 75.

COMPILATIONS

Since the compilation chart came into being in January 1989, the album which has spent longest at number one is The Bodyguard, which topped for 11 weeks in 1993, on its way to becoming the biggest selling soundtrack album of all-time in the UK. The three other albums to endure for more than seven weeks all come from the same series - Now That's What I Call Music! 29 spent nine weeks at number one in 1994/5, while volumes 22 and 26 of the series were each number one for eight weeks. This week, the latest in the series, Now That's What I Call Music! 39 spends its seventh week at number one, enjoying a comfortable 45% advantage over the number two album, Top Of The Pops 1998 - Volume 1.

Now! 39 sold 26,000 copies last week, bringing its total to date to just over 500,000. None of this week's intake look capable of taking it on - Dave Pearce Presents Dance Anthems is the highest debutant at number four, but sold only 14,000 copies, as did Smash Hits - Summer '98 at number five, while Bonkers 4 - World Frenzy at number eight sold 10,000 and The Best Disco Album In The World...Ever! 2 sold 9,000 at number nine.

The Full Monty soundtrack slips out of the Top 10 for the first time in three months, slipping 9-12 but is due for a cinematic re-release, which will, no doubt, send it back into the Top 10. It remains the number one soundtrack by a huge margin, selling over three times as many as the number two movie album (Jackie Brown), and seven times as many as Sliding Doors.
