CHART
COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

● Irish eyes are smiling this week, with acts from the Emerald Isle simultaneously topping the singles and albums charts for the first time ever, courtesy of B*Witched and Boyzone. B*Witched's debut hit C'Est La Vie sold over 153,000 copies last week, nearly twice as many as any other single. They are the seventh act to debut at number one with their first hit - the first signed to Sony - emulating Whigfield, Robson & Jerome, Babylon Zoo, White Town, Hanson and Teletubbies. Comprising 17-year old Lindsay, 18-year old twins Edele and Keale and Sinead, 20, B*Witched are the youngest girl group ever to have a number one. Five weeks have elapsed between Boyzone's most recent number one single - All That I Need - and B*Witched.

SINGLE FACTFILE

For only the second time in chart history, all of the top three singles are new entries, with Irish girl group B*Witched debuting in pole position ahead of Brandy & Monica and Mousse T. The only previous occasion on which the top three were all new entries was on May 10 last year, when Gary Barlow, George Michael and The Seahorses filled the medal positions.

Brandy & Monica are particularly unlucky to have had their single come out the same time as B*Witched - the 83,000 copies that The Boy Is Mine sold last week would have been enough for it to have debuted at number one in any of the last three weeks.

Norwood is 19 and Monica Arnold is 20 and the chart's top two positions are held by five teenage girls and one 20 year old.

Despite its massive success here The Boy Is Mine is doing even better in America, where it soars 23-1 this week, the second steepest climb to number one ever, being Back in the UK, the arrival of three big hit singles simultaneously is enough to push the sales of Tamperer's Feel It Down to number four, even though it recorded its biggest weekly sales (68,000) last week. We should also mention the fact that it is the seventh number one penned by Michael Jackson, the others being his own hits I Just Can't Stop Loving You, Black Or White, Earth Song and Blood On The Dancefloor, USA For Africa's We Are The World and The Simpsons' Do The Bartman, a song that was, at the time, assigned to producer Bryan Loren but which was revealed only a few weeks ago as a clandestine Jacko song by Simpsons' creator Matt Groening.

Synchronicity rules this week, with different hits entitled Oh La La by Rod Stewart and The Wiseguys (see last week's column for variants on this title in the last 12 months) and Anytime by Nu-Birth and Brian McKnight. B. McKnight is also right next to a B. (Beverly) Knight in the chart.

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Speculation that Geri Spice is to leave the group was confirmed on Sunday afternoon, a little after 2.30pm, when separate statements were read by her solicitor, Julian Turton, and Spice Girls' PR, Alan Edwards. Just two days earlier, as MW's news desk went to press, the band's record company Virgin was dismissing the rumours as a "storm in a teacup" (news, page 4).

The publicity generated by the group's turmoil resulted in slightly increased sales for their albums Spiceworld, which rebounded 27-24 and Spice, which dipped 89-91. It also coincided with the video release of Spiceworld - The Movie, which debuts at number one on the video chart after selling nearly 194,000 copies last week.

PolyGram Shipped 530,000 copies of the video, and first week sales exceeded their expectations. 55,000 copies were sold on Monday alone, compared to PolyGram's estimate 30,000, setting the pattern for the week. 240,000 copies of the video are in collectors' tins, featuring individual members

Boyzone score a notable hat-trick this week, debuting at number one with Where We Belong. The album, which includes the number two hits Picture of You and Baby Can I Hold You and the recent number one All That I Need, sold nearly 83,000 copies last week to dethrone Simply Red's Blue. Boyzone's two previous albums also debuted at number one, Said & Done in September 1995, and A Different Beat in November 1996. Said & Done sold just over 30,000 copies in its first week, while A Different Beat sold 95,000 - a few more than All That I Need, though, in fairness, it was released at a time when sales were beginning to climb as the Christmas gift buying got under way. Only three other acts have topped the charts with their first three albums - the George Mitchell Minstrels, the Beatles and Oasis. Oasis debuted at number one with all three.

Returning to the album chart, the Grimethorpe Colliery Band's soundtrack album Brassed Off! makes a belated debut at number 36, following the Channel 4 premiere of the movie last week. The album had already sold over 40,000 copies, and includes both traditional favourites like Danny Boy, Jerusalem, the Floral Dance and Colonel Bogey as well as Trevor Jones originals. It's the highest charting album by a brass band since the Brighouse & Raistrick Brass Band reached number 10 with The Floral Dance in 1978.

Television also played a major role in the 9-7 climb of The Verve's Urban Hymns. The band's concert in their hometown of Wigan was aired live by Radio One a week last Sunday (24) and screened on BBC a few hours later, and boosted week-on-week sales of the album by 60%. 35 weeks after it was released, the album has now sold more than 2,100,000 copies.

COMPILATIONS

Now That's What I Call Music! 39 is the number one compilation album for the eighth week in a row. It sold a further 26,000 copies last week to take its total to date to over 530,000 copies. If Now! 39 manages to stay at number one for another week, it will equal the Now! record, set by Now! 29 over three years ago. And if it stays top for three more weeks it will have matched the 11 week residency of The Bodyguard, which has spent longer at number one than any other album in the compilation chart's ten year history.

Though its sales are declining slowly, Now! 39 is beginning to look vulnerable, however, with the most likely successor being the new Smash Hits - Summer '98 album which moves 5-2 this week, after selling 20,000 copies. It has the advantage of including many of the most popular selections on Now! 39 - Brimful Of Asha (Cornershop) and Run-DMC Vs Jason Nevins' It's Like That among them - as well as tracks which are more recent hits and even a couple which have yet to be released as singles but which will be big hits when they are, including the inevitably big but very annoying Zorba's Dance by LCD.

The only new entry to the Top 10 this week is Drop Dead Gorgeous 2, Global's TV's sequel to Drop Dead Gorgeous. The first album sold over 80,000 copies earlier this year. The second, which looks like emulating it, includes a similar mix of current (Steps, Sash!, Mase) hits and rather more recent oldies (R. Kelly's Gotham City and Repulica's Ready To Go).
