CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

The top two singles are unchanged, with No Matter What by Boyzone increasing its lead over Stardust's Music Sounds Better With You, though both records are in decline. No Matter What has now spent three weeks at number one – as long as all three of the group's previous number ones added together. Words, A Different Beat and All That I Need each spent just one week at number one.

No Matter What sold 148,442 copies last week, and has become the fifth of the group's 12 singles to sell more than half a million copies. Altogether, they have now sold more than 4,600,000 singles in February in rather less than four years. Their list, in descending order of sales, are Father And Son, Words, No Matter What, Baby Can I Hold You/Shooting Star, Love Me For A Reason, A Different Beat, Picture Of You, Coming Home Now, All That I Need, Isn't It A Wonder, Key To My Life, So Good. Sales of individual titles range from 828,000

SINGLE FACTFILE

Fourteen-year-old Scottish newcomer Justin made his chart debut last week with a reggae-inflected cover of This Boy, which was originally the B-side of The Beatles' 1963 hit I Want To Hold Your Hand. It's the second Beatles song to chart this year following Carleen Anderson's hit Maybe I'm Amazed, which reached number 24 in February. Beatles covers due soon include Junior Vasquez's restyling of which has sold more than 200,000 copies to date. They follow it up with an even bigger hit, debuting at number three with What Can I Do. It's all very different from the first time What Can I Do was released in March, when it peaked at number 53. Aussie band Savage Garden's To The Moon And Back, also in the top five, was similarly unsuccessful before the group hit paydirt with Truly Madly Deeply first peaking at number 55 in February.

Come Together and new R&B singer Lattimore's cover of the George Harrison song While My Guitar Gently Weeps. This Boy is one of the less frequently recorded Beatles songs, though it has been recorded by more than a dozen acts including the Moffatts, the Nylons, Shirley Abicair (as This Girl), George Martin and, most recently, Robson & Jerome on their multi-platinum debut album.

Continuing the Irish theme, B*Witched's debut single C'est La Vie bows out of the Top 20 after 12 weeks, dropping to number 21 this week. It simultaneously tops the 800,000 sales mark and is still selling nearly 20,000 copies a week. It is, therefore, in with a good chance of replacing the aforementioned Boyzone single Father And Son as the biggest ever selling hit by an Irish act, setting up their new single Rollercoaster, which is due for release on September 21.

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

INDA MCARTNEY

Nearly 28 years after she died from a heroin overdose, 27 years after her album chart debut with Pearl and 26 years after her last album chart appearance with In Concert, Janis Joplin is back. She enters the listings at number 26 with the new compilation The Ultimate Collection, which also nails down the number one slot on the Jazz and Blues chart. It comprises 32 tracks Janis recorded solo and fronting Big Brother & The Holding Company. Joplin also tackles the Bee Gees' composition To Love Somebody, and the success of The Ultimate Collection brings to three the number of currently charted albums containing songs written by the Gibb brothers, the others being Celine Dion's Let's Talk About Love (Immortality) and the Saturday Night Fever cast album (several).

Having registered their second Top 10 single in a row, The Corrs are in no mood to relinquish their album chart title, and enjoy their fifth week at number one with Talk On Corners, though Korn were surprisingly close to overtaking them with Follow The Leader in the early midweek charts, before losing touch. Talk On Corners chalked up its 600,000th retail sale on Saturday. The album was released last October, though the vast majority of its sales have taken place this year – next week it will top 500,000 sales in 1998, the ninth album to reach that figure this year. The Korn album, their third, incorporates elements of hop and funk into their metal sound and features guest slots from Ice Cube and Cheech Marin, and is their most successful by some distance – their self-titled 1995 debut failed to chart, while 1996's Life Is Peachy reached number 32.

As airplay escalates for her new single Drowned World (Substitute For Love), which is out today, sales of Madonna's Ray Of Light album are rising sharply. The album, which was released exactly six months ago, has already spawned the number one hit Frozen and the number two Ray Of Light, and topped the 600,000 sales mark on Wednesday. It climbs 16-10 this week, and offers further evidence that Britain is one of Madonna's hottest markets – the album is not nearly so highly placed in any European market at present, while in America it actually dropped out of the Top 50 last week.

Robbie Williams is another artist on the verge of another hit – but the fact that his new single Millennium is not on his current album Life Thru A Lens, and the fact that the album is already selling rapidly mean that it isn't reaping any additional benefit from the single's exposure – and it doesn't need to, as it is selling a steady 11,000 a week.

Boyzone are sitting pretty atop the singles chart with No Matter What, but their latest album, Where We Belong, slumps 6-21 this week. The reason is simple – it is reissued today (24th) with No Matter What appended. Dealers have been running down stock in recent weeks, with some selling Where We Belong for as little as £9.

COMPILATIONS

Now That's What I Call Music! 40 continues to dominate the compilation market. Number one for three weeks, it is selling more copies than the rest of the top five, and four times as many as its nearest challenger which, in the latest frame, is Pete Tong - Essential Collection - Summer 1998, which debuts strongly at number two – and also at number six. The reason for this puzzling phenomenon is that the higher placed album is a triple CD only release with a third album featuring a Paul Oakenfold mix. The regular double CD double cassette lacks the Oakenfold mix but, crucially, includes different mixes of the tracks in the other package, thereby falling the chart rule which states that 80% of the content of the two albums must be identical. The 3CD version of the album is retailing at up to £5 more than the 2CD version but is still attracting three times as many punters.

More mixing – this time by Graeme Park and Jim "Shaft" Ryan – gives K-Tel its first compilation chart entry since Hooked On Country in 1990 with Too Glamorous, via its wholly owned Miss Money Penny's imprint. The album debuts at number 28 this week and features 15 song segues from Park and Ryan encompassing repertoire like Needin' U by the Face and The Final by Phil Fuldner.

Happy Birthday to The Full Monty, which has now spent exactly a year in the chart, selling nearly 740,000 copies. It is still selling a steady 3,000 a week, and should be boosted shortly by the release of The Full Monty megamix as a single.
