CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

There are seven new entries to the Top 10 this week, equalling the record established on 19 April 1977, and subsequently matched on 19 July 1977, but none of them comes close to dethroning Cher, whose Believe spends its fifth consecutive week at number one. That's a week less than 1998's best – the six-week residency of It's Like That by Run DMC vs Jason Nevins – but equals Cher's personal best, as attained by 1991's Shoop Shoop Song (It's In His Kiss). As noted last week, that record, however, sold only around 515,000 copies in all. Believe sold a further 130,000 copies last week to bring its tally to date more than 860,000.

Among the records to lose their Top 10 berths in the face of this onslaught is Aerosmith's I Don't Want To Miss A Thing, which completes a nine-week run in the upper echelon by slipping to number 11. It sold nearly 26,000 copies last week, however, and has now sold 460,000 copies

The first act to have four Top 10 hits in 1998 is Five. Debuting at number two this week with Until The Time Is Through, they previously charted with When The Lights Go Out (number four, March), Got The Feelin' (number three, June) and Everybody Get Up (number two, September). All four singles are taken from their eponymous debut album, as is Slam Dunk (Da Funk), their very first hit, which entered the chart last December, reaching number seven. They have, therefore, had five hits in their first year as a recording act – a rare feat. Their album, which debuted at number one in July, moves 39-31 this week, and has sold more than 215,000 to date. In addition to their British success, the group has had two American hits. They reached number 10 with When The Lights Go Out, and are currently at number 53 with It's The Things You Do, another track from Five, which has yet to be released as a single here.

SINGLE FACTFILE

MARKET REPORT

TOP CORPORATE GROUPS

PERCENTAGE OF UK ACTS IN THE CHART

in total. The newcomers include Five with Until The Time Is Through, Celine Dion & R Kelly with I'm Your Angel and Vengaboys with Up And Down, which debut at two, three and four respectively. Vengaboys, originally from Holland, have been very successful in Europe in recent months and now have different Top 10 hits in the UK, Germany (We Like To Party) and Holland (Boom, Boom, Boom, Boom). Another European act with a new entry to the Top 10 is Sash! – but they have underachieved by their usual high standards: their initial five hits all reached numbers two or three. Their sixth hit Move Mania debuts at number eight. It features veteran US vocalist Shannon, who had the last of her four solo hits in 1985, but guested on Todd Terry's Ready For A New Day, which reached number 20 in April.

The singles market improved by 17.8% last week, with 1,374,000 singles being sold compared with just 1,166,000 the previous week – but compared with the same week of 1997, singles sales last week were down a massive 30.4%. The main reason for this downturn is that a year ago, the BBC's recording of Perfect Day was selling in copious quantities, creating an artificial boost to the figure.

CHART COMMENTARY

ALBUM FACTFILE

Thirty-eight thousand sales may be enough to win an album the number one slot in the dog days of summer, but it's only enough to earn Mariah Carey's #1s album 10th place on the chart this week. So called because it contains all 13 of her US chart-topping singles, #1s' immediate predecessor, Butterfly, was a number two album for Carey last year. Of six albums prior to that, five reached the Top 10, with two going all the way to number one. The only real flop was 1994's Merry Christmas, which peaked at number 32 – a reflection more of the low standing of Christmas albums in the UK than of any disenchantment with Carey herself. Containing several new tracks, among them her duet with fellow diva Whitney Houston from the Prince Of Egypt movie, When You Believe, #1s can be expected to sell extremely well for the rest of the year and beyond, and will doubtless overcome its slow start.

their album Resurrection, but it debuts only a place higher than Seal, at number 43. Their previous four albums all reached the Top 10, though only the first, Walthamstow, reached number one. Whitney Houston is an artist for whom there are always high expectations, but her movie-based album The Preacher's Wife peaked at number 35 in 1996. By comparison, the number 27 debut of her new album My Love Is Your Love is an improvement, but far from the rarefied success of her first few albums. Whitney can expect more sales, however, when her duet with Mariah Carey and various other tracks from the album become hit singles.

One artist who prospered last week, however, is 12-year-old Welsh soprano Charlotte Church, whose debut album Voice Of An Angel soars 24-4. There was much written in the week about how Charlotte was the youngest female ever to have a Top 40 album, and the youngest artist to top the classical chart, all of which was mistaken, I'm afraid. Aled Jones was the youngest artist to top the classical chart, doing so at age 11, while the youngest female to have a Top 40 album was Lena Zavaroni. Lena was just 10 years old when she reached number eight with her Ma album in March 1974.

COMPILATIONS

Huge Hits 1998 regains pole position on the chart, after two weeks playing a supporting role to The Annual IV, though its sales of just over 34,500 are the lowest by a number one album on the compilation chart in November in the past six years. Overall, some 680,000 compilations were sold last week, a massive 27% down on the same week of 1997, when more than 932,000 were sold.

The sector will see a major improvement next week, with the arrival of Now That's What I Call Music! 41, which was released today (23). Now That's What I Call Music! 40 has sold 557,000 copies since its release 16 weeks ago, a figure Now! 41 should easily exceed, since the Now! released closest to Christmas almost invariably tops a million sales and emerges as the number one compilation of the year.

Meanwhile, the highest new entry to this week's chart is The All Time Greatest Love Songs Of The 60's, 70's, 80's & 90's Volume III, whose lengthy span and lengthy title have proved no bar to first week sales of more than 17,000, enough for the album to debut at number six, just ahead of Heartbeat – The 60's Gold Collection. Among the 37 tracks on The All Time Greatest Love Songs...Volume III are How Do I Live by LeAnn Rimes, The Power Of Love by Frankie Goes To Hollywood, Woman In Love by Barbra Streisand, and It's Over by Roy Orbison, without which the Sixties reference in the title would be otherwise unnecessary.
