CHART COMMENTARY

SINGLE FACTFILE

Veteran crooner Andy Williams returns to the Top 10 for the first time since 1973, debuting at number nine with Music To Watch Girls By. The 70-year old cut the song, which was originally conceived as an instrumental for a Diet Pepsi advert, in 1967, when it reached number 33 in the UK and number 34 in America. The song is currently used for the Fiat Punto advert, graphics from which adorn the single's sleeve. Only two artists have returned to the Top 10 after a lengthier absence than Williams - Prez Prado and Louis Armstrong - and, like him, they also returned via the use of an oldie in a TV advert, though, unlike him, they died before their comeback hit. Andy, on the other hand, has appeared on a number of TV shows here in the past couple of weeks, including TFI Friday and Good Morning.

by ALAN JONES

fter trailing Boyzone's When The Going Gets Tough for the whole week, Weatherman finally squeezed ahead at the death to become the Irish girls' fourth consecutive number one. The first act ever to debut at number one with their first four singles, B*Witched are also only the second act to open their chart career with more than three consecutive number ones, the others being the Spice Girls, who topped the chart with their first seven releases.

Blame It On The Weatherman sold only 90,000 copies last week, 3,000 more than When The Going Gets Tough and 6,000 more than Britney Spears' Baby One More Time but earns the Lynch family the unique distinction of becoming the first in chart history to replace itself at number one Shane Lynch is a member of Boyzone, while his sisters Keavy and Edele are in B*Witched have been 21 solo chart stars with the surname Williams, making it by far the most successful name for hitmakers. The Jones' are runners-up, with 17 different hitmakers of that name. Incidentally, the Robbie Williams/Gary Barlow feud is set to continue, with Gary's upcoming comeback single apparently titled Stronger. It's a cute card to play, though it does leave the way open for Robbie to retort with a track called Strongest.

When Frenchman Bob Sinclar refused to release his popular album track Gym Tonic as a single, UK duo Spacedust quickly rushed out their re-titled cover Gym And Tonic, and were rewarded with a number one hit. They return to the chart this week with their follow-up Let's Get Down, which debuts at number 20. It's based on Chic's classic I Want Your Love, which was the subject of a full-blown cover version by Roger Sanchez and Twilight, reaching number 31 last month.

ALBUM FACTFILE

Blur register their fourth consecutive number one album this week, debuting in pole position with 13, which sold nearly 92,000 copies last week. Give or take a couple of hundred, that equals the first week sales of their self-titled 1997 album. The Great Escape opened with a massive 188,000 in 1995, while Parklife opened their sequence of number ones with a paltry 43,000 in 1994. Blur are only the third act to have four number one albums in the nineties, equalling the mark set by Simply Red and REM.

The success of the introductory single Tender is one of the main reasons for the success of 13. Tender remains in the Top 10 for the fourth straight week, having sold a total of 320,000 copies. The only previous Blue single to spend four weeks in the Top 10 was 1995's Country House.

lur debut at number one for the fourth time in their career this week with 13 -but it's lucky they chose not to clash head-to-head with The Stereophonics' Performance And Cocktails, which they replace at number one. The Stereophonics album sold 45,000 copies last week, just under half as many as 13. But the 92,000 sale of Blur's album pale compared to the 120,000 tally racked up by the Stereophonics last week.

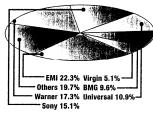

It's a fine week for Beth Orton, who makes her first ever US album chart appearance this week, with Central Reservation debuting at number 110 there while making its opening UK chart appearance at number 17. It's Beth's second album, and its current chart position marks a major improvement over the number 68 peak of her first album, Trailer Park, which peaked at number 68 but was widely acclaimed and went on to win her a Brits nomination as Best Female Solo Artist. Central Reservation is certain to achieve a similar feat next year - not least because so few British female artists ever venture into the Top 20 of the album chart.

Having initially returned to the chart as a direct result of her death, Dusty Sprinfield's The Best Of Dusty Springfield is now being TV advertised, precipitating a further improvement in its chart performance. It jumps 27-20 this week, becoming her fourth Top 20 hits compilation, following Golden Hits (number two, 1966), The Silver Collection (number 14, 1988) and Goin' Back - The Very Best Of Dusty Springfield (number five, 1994). The Best Of Dusty Springfield has sold 40,000 copies so far.

Meanwhile, Cher loses her Top 10 placings on both the singles and albums charts, slipping 8-11 with Strong Enough, the second single from the album Believe, which itself slumps to number 16, having achieved its best-yet position of number seven last week.

Catalogue discount campaigns have a significant effect on the album chart this week, with the biggest impressions being made by Tracy Chapman's self-titled debut (up 90-24), Lou Reed's Transformer (re-entry at number 41) and Primal Scream's Screamadelica (174-45).

COMPILATIONS

he compilation market continues to falter. Sales plummeted over 27% last week, with multi-artist releases accounting for only 21.8% of overall album sales - their lowest figure of the year. Only one compilation topped 20,000 sales, with two more notching up sales of over 10.000.

Debuting at number one, Dance Nation Six is the latest release from one of the sector's brightest current stars, the Ministry Of Sound label. Dance Nation Six contains mixes from Brandon Block and Tall Paul and hits by the likes of Armand Van Helden, Soulsearcher and – on CD for the first time ahead of its Pepper/Jive release as a single – Shanks & Bigfoot's Sweet Like Chocolate, Dance Nation Six sold more than 22,000 copies last week, 10,000 more than Resident - Two Years Of Oakenfold At Cream, the anniversary set which features primarily records that he either mixed or released on his own Perfecto label. With Euphoria in third place (11.700 sales) and Pete Tong's Essential Selection - Spring 1999 fourth with 9,800 sales, the top four compilations are all dance-themed.

One of the biggest successes of the Dino label, which closed down last year, was the Blues Brother Soul Sister series, which has now been revived by Universal TV. The renamed PolyGram TV division used generic artwork and cherry-picked favourite tracks from the Dino series for Blues Brother Soul Sister Classics, which debuts at number eight this week, with sales of a little over 6,000.
