CHART COMMENTARY

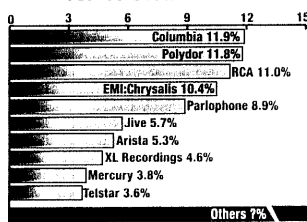

by ALAN JONES

Dethroning co-manager Ronan Keating, who would have lost his title anyway, Westlife are the first boy band to start their career with consecutive number one hits. Their success with If I Can't Let You Go makes it the fifth number one in a row performed by an act either originally from or signed to a deal on the continent, following Ronan Keating, Ricky Martin, ATB and the Vengaboys, and illustrates just how tough it is for native British talent at the moment. There are just two British acts in the Top 10 - Basement Jaxx at number eight and Five at number nine - and in 33 chart weeks thus far this year, native talent has topped the list just eight times, a record without precedent.

British chart toppers have been S Club 7, Shanks & Bigfoot, Martine McCutcheon, 911, Fatboy Slim and Steps. Our tiny neighbour the Republic Of Ireland has matched that tally, with half a dozen number ones thus far, from Boyzone (twice), Westlife (twice), B*Witched and Ronan Keating.

sold more than 87,600 copies last week to debut at number three. The Canadian collective's single managed to reach only

SINGLE FACTFILE

For the second time in three months, Westlife - the hottest new addition to the ranks of successful boy bands - debut at number one, but only just. They sold more than 102,000 copies of Swear It Again on its first week in the shops but sold only 90,491 copies of If I Can Let You Go last week - a mere 470 more than DJ Juergen presents Alice Deejay's Better Off Alone, which stays at number two in this week's ranking in its fourth week in the chart. If I Can Let You Go is the third number one single of the year written by Swedish songwriters - Max Martin wrote Baby One More Time for Britney Spears and I Want It That Way (the latter track with A Carlsson) for the Backstreet Boys, while If I Let You Go was authored by Jorgen Elofsson, Per Magnusson and David Kreuger, the same trio also penning Spears' current single Sometimes.

number 34 when first released last summer but has become increasingly popular recently after being pressed into service as the soundtrack to the Rolling Rock lager commercial. Its success comes just weeks after The Wiseguys' similarly neglected Ooh La La reached number two after being used in a Budweiser campaign.

A week before it receives its official UK release, Lou Bega's Mambo No.5 (A Little Bit Of...) continues to climb the chart, jumping 40-33 this week as European imports continue to flood in. The record actually sold even better than its chart position suggests, as one CD format which sold nearly 2,500 copies was too long to be considered a single and qualified by default as a budget album, in which chart it bizarrely debuts at number one. Bega's single is one of four climbers in the Top 40 which, along with three non-movers and a mere nine new entrants, gives the chart an oddly old-fashioned feel.

by ALAN JONES

ALBUM FACTFILE

Travis have arrived. Though their introductory Top 10 hit Why Does It Always Rain On Me? can't hold its place on the singles chart this week, it has a massive surge in radio support, while generating a massive 50% increase in week-on-week sales for their album The Man Who, which jumps from its previous peak position of five to this week's number two. The album, which has so far spawned three hit singles, is rapidly emerging as one of the biggest selling albums of new material in 1999, even though it is still shy of 200,000 sales. In a bad year for new product, the Stereophonics' Performance & Cocktails (550,000 sales) leads, with Texas' The Hush (330,000) the only other album of new material to reach 300,000, though Britney Spears' will in a week or so, and Travis will in less than a month.

Boyzone's By Request album is number one for the 10th time in 11 starts, but its sales last week were at their lowest level yet, with fewer than 34,000 buyers compared to more than 29,000 takers for the rapidly growing Travis album. With former challengers Shania Twain and Ricky Martin currently in decline, and The Very Best Of Elvis Costello's initial threat failing to turn into anything more, Travis could take Boyzone's throne as early as next week.

The aforementioned Costello album was last week's only new entry to the Top 75, and this week's newcomers list is equally threadbare, containing only one name – that of metal merchants Machine Head. Their third album The Burning Red debuts at number 13 with sales in excess of 9,000 copies last week, making it the third and highest charting album yet for the San Francisco group, bettering the number 25 peak of their 1994 debut Burn My Eyes and the number 16 peak of their 1997 follow-up

PERCENTAGE OF UK ACTS IN THE CHART

The More Things Change... With just one new entry to the chart and a slightly reshuffled Top 10, the main items of interest in the chart are the further upwards progress of albums that spawn eagerly anticipated second singles today (Monday).

TLC's Unpretty has the unenviable task of following their No Scrubs single but looks destined to do so in style, receiving plenty of airplay of late and sending sales of FanMail, the album which spawned them both, soaring. Released exactly six months ago, the album has been as high as number seven but recently dropped out of the Top 40. It has moved 31-26-18 in the last fortnight, however, and seems sure to climb higher still. Sales to date are a respectable 180,000.

Meanwhile, Mi Chico Latino is getting a much better response for Geri Halliwell than her debut solo single Look At Me and is destined for a high chart debut this week. Radio support for Mi Chico Latino has also been good, with Geri's Schizophrenic album climbing 61-53-45-30 in response. It's comfortably selling twice as many copies a week as it was at its lowest point, but still has a lot of growing to do, with fewer than 70,000 buyers after 10 weeks.

COMPILATIONS

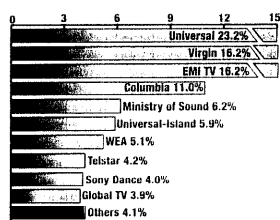

Number one compilation for the fourth straight week, Now That's What I Call Music 43! sold more than 59,000 copies last week. And though the gap between it and the number two album – The Best Ibiza Anthems...Ever! closed from 40,000 to just below half that amount, it looks to have shaken off its pursuer. After selling more than 45,000 copies the previous week, The Best Ibiza Album sold a little more than 40,000 copies last week, and has thus started its decline, a decline which will – as these things usually do – accelerate next week, with Now 43! seemingly sufficiently far ahead to see off any threat. Now 43! has sold more than 466,000 copies in the last four weeks, enough to make it the second biggest selling compilation of the year. The biggest – naturally – is Now 42!, with 716,000 including nearly 2,000 last week. After these two there is a very big gap to the Ministry Of Sound compilation Trance Nation, which fills third place with sales of 245,000 in the last 13 weeks.

The private battle between Notting Hill and Austin Powers – The Spy Who Shagged Me to be the top soundtrack album favours the former for the 11th straight week – but the gap between the two is narrowing, and with the latter film released later and thus still grossing more at the cinema is likely to change. Notting Hill retains fifth slot on the compilation chart this week, with nearly 17,000 buyers, while The Spy Who Shagged Me reaches a new peak, climbing 8-6 with 14,500 buyers.
