THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

27 NOVEMBER 1999

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Cliff Richard registers his 121st hit this week, debuting at number two with The Millennium Prayer, which puts the words of The Lord's Prayer to the melody of Auld Lang Syne. It's an idea which didn't sound like a winner to EMI, which has released Cliff's singles for the past 41 years, but it sold nearly 88,000 copies last week on the Papillon label, which picked the single up. Only the popularity of the Wamdue Project's King Of My Castle deprive Richard of his 14th number one. It's his biggest hit since Saviour's Day was the Christmas number one in 1990. Had Richard topped the chart this week, we would have had the poetic situation of an artist who has transferred from EMI to the Chrysalis Group (Papillon is one of their labels) topping an artist (Robbie Williams) on Chrysalis, which was, of course, sold to EMI by the Chrysalis Group.

Cliff Richard is condemned to a supporting role as a dirty rascal this week as the Wamdue Project are indeed kings of the castle, selling more than 148,000 copies of their hit King Of My Castle to ascend to the throne. Conceived and produced by 25-year-old American Chris Brann and sung by an unnamed session singer, King Of My Castle was originally released here in June of last year on Creation's now defunct dance offshoot Eruption but sold only 350 copies on its first week in the shops, earning 121st place on the CIN Top 200, and disappearing the following week. Subsequently remixed in radical style by Italian Roy Malone (whose transformation of the track Brann simultaneously recognises as a commercial master stroke and a musical abomination which he has dismissed as 'ridiculous') it became hot in Europe, spending most of the recent summer lodged near the top of the European sales chart, and re-entered the UK listings on import last week, checking in at number 61. It completes its bizarre record of charting 60 places higher with each appearance this week by selling nearly 60,000 more than any other record and giving the AM:PM label – the future of which was in great doubt when its parent A&M was absorbed into Universal last year – its first ever number one. Neither of its predecessors as A&M's dance label – Funk A&M or Breakout managed that particular feat.

Macy Gray's I Try continues climbing up the singles chart, taking a step up to number six. Since debuting at number 10 eight weeks ago, the record has never gone down, always equalling or improving on its previous peak. The last record to do that was the Spice Girls' Wannabe, which debuted at three and then spent seven weeks at number one. But I Try has been leading an increasingly charmed life in the past few weeks enjoying unchanged or improved chart placings as its weekly sales have declined. Its sales peak came three weeks ago, when it sold 57,800 copies and moved 8-7. Since then it has spent a further two weeks at number seven while its sales dipped first to 44,400 and then to 42,000. This week's move to number six is accompanied by a fall in weekly sales to 37,100.

by ALAN JONES

ALBUM FACTFILE

The "half hits, half new" hybrid is one which doesn't always pay off but it worked like a dream for Celine Dion last week, with more than 74,000 punters investing in her All The Way...A Decade Of Songs album, enough for it to end Steps' three week residency atop the chart with Steptacular. Dion's album, which includes hits like Think Twice and My Heart Will Go On as well as freshly recorded material like the upcoming single That's The Way It Is, is her fourth number one and marks the fifth year in a row in which she has topped the chart, achieving this notable double by spending seven weeks at number one with Colour Of My Love (1995), a week at number one with Falling Into You (1996) and five weeks at number one with Let's Talk About Love, which topped first in 1997 and returned to pole position in 1998.

Celine Dion reached the halfway mark of the nineties without a number one album to her credit and will end it with four under her belt, with a minimum of 14 weeks at number one. Dion has been incredibly busy since making her British breakthrough and has continued to record in French as well as English throughout the last few years. Partly as a result of husband Rene's illness, she is about to take a year-long sabbatical and recaps what has been a marvellous few years for her with All The Way...A Decade Of Songs, which began the week struggling behind Steps' Steptacular but eventually drew 10,000 sales ahead of it to give Dion her fourth number one album. That's a record for a Canadian artist, the second highest tally for a female solo artist (only Madonna has more) and as many as any artist has managed in the nineties.

Dion's arrival at number one means fellow Canadian Shania Twain's Come On Over album slips a notch to number three despite increasing its sales last week. Come On Over sold more than 60,000 copies to bring its total to more than 1,430,000 and should pass the 1,500,000 mark this week, as sales are destined for a sharp take-off with payday, the nearness of Christmas and heavy price discounting all taking effect. Sales are already buoyant, of course, and artist album sales were up for the fifth straight week last week, a 16% rise taking them to more than 2m for the first time since last Christmas.

In such a climate, it's possible to experience rapidly rising sales without enjoying any improvement in chart position. That's the fate of Macy Gray this week, with her On How Life Is album staying at number six despite its weekly sales tally rising 10% to nearly 37,000. Altogether, the album has now sold more than 265,000 copies - a tally it is likely to double between now and Christmas.

A year to the week after her chart debut with Voice Of An Angel, 13-year-old classical prodigy Charlotte Church returns to the chart with her self-titled follow-up. Charlotte's first album has sold 510,000 copies so far, while her new album sold more than 26,000 copies last week.

COMPILATIONS

Still enjoying the period of grace it was given by the postponement of Now That's What I Call Music! 44, Huge Hits 99 rules the compilation roost for the fourth straight week in an unchanged top three where it is still pursued by Abbamania and The Annual - Millennium Edition. Sales of all three are down a little, even though the sector as a whole saw sales swell by more than 13% last week to top the 750,000 mark for the first time since last Christmas. The album which made a big contribution to that increase was Music Of The Millennium, the Universal/Virgin/EMI release which is tied to the Channel 4 programme of the same name, and includes contributions from many of those who were placed in the poll, including Robbie Williams, Oasis and Elton John but neither of the top two acts - the Beatles and Elvis Presley, whose recordings are rarely to be found on multi-artist compilations due to contractual reasons. Music Of The Millennium sold nearly 37,000 copies last week, and debuts at number four on the album chart, ahead of Kiss Clublife 2000 (number six, 21,000 sales) and Cream Anthems 2000 (number seven, 17,000 sales). Finally, Christmas albums are just beginning to get into their stride and three of them are in the Top 50 already, with Universal Music TV's The Ultimate Christmas Collection setting the early pace, ahead of Virgin/EMI's The Best Christmas Album In The World...Ever! and Warner/esp/Global TV/Sony's The Christmas Album, while the number one budget seller is Crimson's The White Christmas Album.
