THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Number ones rarely sell more in their second week at number one than their first, especially in a flat market, but Gabrielle's Rise sold more than 87,000 copies last week, some 10,000 more than the previous week, outselling number two single Adelante by Sash! by more than 57%.

The first song to be a hit in the Eighties, Nineties and Noughties is Sweet Love, the Anita Baker, Louis Johnson and Gary Bias composition which was a number 13 hit for Baker in 1986, a number 19 hit for M Beat in 1994 and returns to the chart bigger than ever this week, debuting at number three with sales of more than 40,000 for Fierce. It is the female R&B act's fourth and biggest hit thus far in a career that stretches back a little over a year, the others being Right Here Right Now (number 25, January 1999), Days Like That (number 11, May 1999) and So Long (number 15, August 1999).

Meanwhile, an artist who has now had hits in the Sixties, Seventies, Eighties, Nineties

SINGLE FACTFILE

For the fifth time in eight releases Sash! reach number two. The German act, yet to score a number one, reached runners-up position with opening three hits Encore Uno Fois, Ecuador and Stay and with the fifth single, Mysterious Times, and return to it again with Adelante this week. No other act in chart history has had five number two hits without at least one number one. Adelante was never really in with a chance of the big prize, however, selling 55,500 last week, 32,000 fewer than Gabrielle's Rise.

Sash!'s last single - Colour My World, which featured Dr. Alban - was the act's smallest hit by some distance, peaking at number 15. Both Sash! and number three act Fierce record for labels in the Telstar group, which is also waiting for its first number one, but has two of the top three for the first time this week.

pensioner pop, having turned Sixty in September if her autobiography and subsequent reference books are to be believed, though she used to list 1938, not 1939, as her year of birth, which would make her 61.

Death In Vegas have been about for several years without making much of an impression on the singles chart before, but they debut at number nine this week with Aisha. Their only two previous chart entries (also one word titles), were Dirt reaching number 61 and Rocco which made number 51, both in 1997. Aisha has been getting more airplay than most Death In Vegas singles benefitting from its Iggy Pop vocals.

The soaring falsetto of Byron Stingily earns him his fifth solo hit this week, with a remake of That's The Way Love Is debuting at number 32. Stingily is former vocalist for Ten City, whose original recording of That's The Way Love Is was a number eight hit exactly 11 years ago.

and current decade is Tina Turner, who makes her latest foray into the chart with Whatever You Need. Although a modest number 27, it brings Turner's tally of hits with former husband Ike, various duet partners and solo to 40. Turner is a rare exponent of

MUSIC WEEK 12 FEBRUARY 2000

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

by ALAN JONES

Primal Scream reached number two with each of their last two albums of new material, namely 1994's Give Out But Don't Give Up and 1997's Vanishing Point, and looked like getting their first number one with Exterminator, which established a sizeable lead in the midweek chart – but it was not to be, and the album faded rapidly at the weekend to end up in third place behind both Travis' The Man Who, and Gabrielle's resurgent Rise, which sold just 131 copies more than Exterminator, to consign it to third place.

If Primal Scream had made it, it would have given them not only a well-deserved number one but would also have marked the first time Scots acts had topped the chart back-to-back. Exterminator sold more than 35,000 copies last week, beating the first week tallies of both of their number two albums.

Travis's hold on the number one slot looks increasingly shaky, even though The Man Who has settled down with sales of around 40,000 for each of the last four weeks. It sold 39,400 in the most recent frame, overturning a midweek deficit to Primal Scream but must now look to the fast-advancing Rise by Gabrielle as a major threat. Since the title track of her album was released as a single, Rise has enjoyed a mercurial increase in sales, soaring 39.6-2, and is clearly going to pose a big challenge to Travis next week. Meanwhile, Britney Spears, who had herself achieved the dizzy position of number two last week, retreats to number four with Baby One More Time. The album came as close to achieving a number one for a US act as any record since the Beastie Boys' Hello Nasty topped the chart for Uncle Sam in July 1998. It is therefore 19 long months since the UK album chart was topped by a US act, the longest period without a number one from the states since the Monkees broke a 20-month drought in February 1967.

Randy Crawford has been considerably more successful in the UK than in her US homeland in both singles and albums charts. She returns to the album chart here this week with the warner.esp release Love Songs – The Very Best Of Randy Crawford debuting at number 30 with sales of more than 6,000. Released just in time to take advantage of Valentine's Day, it marks Crawford's first appearance in the album chart since the similarly titled 1993 compilation The Very Best Of Randy Crawford rose as high as number eight on the chart. That was released on the now defunct Dino label, and is one of three previous 'best of' albums Crawford has charted, the others being Miss Randy Crawford – The Greatest Hits, a K-Tel release which reached number 10 in 1984, and The Love Songs, a 1987 Telstar album that peaked at number 27.

With his single U Know What's Up enjoying a fourth week in the Top 10, Donell Jones' album Where I Wanna Be slips 48-60 on its third appearance in the chart. The album was quietly released last September ahead of the single and sold more than 24,000 copies before even entering the chart.

COMPILATIONS

It is a wonderful week for Telstar which has two of the top three singles and its first number one compilation of the year, with Agia Napa – Fantasy Island debuting in pole position with sales of 28,900 giving it a narrow victory (by less than 350 sales) from the Clubber's Guide To...2000, which slips to second place after a fortnight on top. Agia Napa is of course the clubbing resort in Cyprus which is rapidly establishing itself as a rival to Ibiza both as a holiday destination and as a cool name to drop into album titles. The Telstar album is the soundtrack to the current Channel 4 docusoap about Agia Napa, which is drawing large Friday night audiences.

Clubber's Guide To...2000 continues to sell at a cracking pace, and has attracted 118,000 buyers in three weeks – that is a stonking 68% ahead of the pace set by Clubber's Guide To...Ninety Nine last year at the same stage. Meanwhile, Now That's What I Call Music! 44 occupies a top five berth for the 11th straight week, with sales of more than 15,000 last week taking its tally to date to more than 1,555,000. That is far more than last year's equivalent – Now! 41 – ever managed and its week 11 tally outguns Now 41's by 49%.

Expect sales of all albums, especially compilations, to rise steeply next week ahead of Valentine's Day. Last year saw a 23% jump overall, with compilations soaring 35%, the major contribution coming from warner.esp/PolyGram TV's Love Songs, which sold more than 86,000 copies. Its Y2K equivalent The Love Songs Album enters at seven this week.
