THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

She's angry and she's in your face. She's Kelis, the 20-year-old from Harlem, whose debut single Caught Out There was tipped by many as a potential number one but has to settle for a number four debut this week. The introductory single from her debut album Kaleidoscope - produced by the Neptunes, who have previously helmed hits by Noreaga, Mase, Blackstreet and Ol' Dirty Bastard - the single is perhaps best known for the declaration 'I hate you so much right now' - but Kelis says she doesn't hate all men, just the one about whom she is singing on this record. Caught Out There sold more than 72,000 copies last week in the UK, while cumulative US sales topped the 250,000 mark last week. Kelis' UK debut unfairly overshadows our own Jamelia, whose Money debuts lower at number six, easily beating the number 36 peak of her 1999 debut I Do.

New entries dominate the top end of the singles chart this week, with debuts at two, three, four, five and six helping to lift the singles market by a massive 31% but the number one record remains All Saints' Pure Shores. This follows up its opening week tally of 199,000 sales with another bumper sale of 155,000, making it not only the biggest seller of the week but also of the year to date.

Among the records which had to bow to its sustained appeal, the Artful Dodger's Movin Too Fast came closest to dethroning it. Featuring session vocalist Romina Johnson, Movin Too Fast sold nearly 126,000 copies to debut at number two, and gives the Southampton-based garage duo their second number two hit in three months, the first being Rewind, which has sold more than 550,000 copies to date. Completing the top three, the Backstreet Boys' Show Me The Meaning Of Being Lonely confirms their status as the third most popular boy band of the moment, behind only Westlife and Boyzone.

Show Me... is the third straight top five hit from the group's Millennium album and is also, impressively, their eighth straight top five hit. Meanwhile, A1 enjoy their fourth Top 10 hit in eight months with Like A Rose, which debuts at number six.

Rising stars Toploader registered a couple of minor chart entries last year, reaching number 64 with Achilles Heal and number 52 with Let The People Know, but they claim their first bona fide hit this week, debuting at number 19 with Dancing In The Moonlight. It's a song which has been around much longer than any of the band's members, even though it has never been a hit here before. The original recording was made by US group Boffalongo in 1970, and was written by group member Sherman Kelly. It was a single in the States but wasn't a hit. A cover version by British act High Broom appeared the same year, and was released here as a single on the Island label. It attracted a little airplay but again didn't chart. Three years later, it was recorded again, this time by King Harvest, whose members included Sherman Kelly, recycling what he felt was his best song. The American public agreed, and King Harvest's version was a number 13 hit there, although it still didn't register here - until now.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Number one for the third week in a row, Gabrielle's Rise album sold another 39,000 copies last week to bring its overall sales to more than 230,000. But the title track's singles chart decline has been mirrored by a definite slackening in demand for the album, which sold nearly 57,000 copies a fortnight ago. Its 25,000 lead over Shania Twain has dwindled to just 5,000 in a fortnight, and Shania may well be ahead by next week – though, of course, she won't be number one, as both albums will be blasted aside by Oasis's Standing On The Shoulder Of Giants.

In the wake of its eight Grammy wins and rapidly increasing airplay for the single Smooth, Santana's Supernatural makes impressive progress again this week, vaulting 16-4 to become the veteran Latin act's highest charting album. Their previous highest placings came from 1971's Santana 3 and 1973's Caravanserai, both of which peaked at number six. Supernatural sold

Italian trio Eiffel 65 are the latest europop act to enjoy albums chart success, debuting at number 12 with their introductory Europop which sold more than 10,000 copies last week. Eiffel 65 have sold well over a million singles in Britain since last September, with Blue (Da Ba Dee) topping the 960,000 mark and Move Your Body selling 120,000 copies in the last three weeks. Until recently, few europop acts achieved significant album sales, despite singles chart success, but artists like Sash!, The Cartoons and the Vengaboys – whose Party Album! passed the 500,000 sales mark last week – have helped to re-write the rule book. While Europop is typical of the music it is named after, the lyrics of the title track offer a less than satisfactory definition of the genre: 'It's a musical kink coming from our roots... a cultural thing from all country wide.'

Supernatural's growing popularity has also reawakened interest in Santana's back catalogue with, for example, sales of the compilation Black Magic Woman increasing tenfold in a fortnight, to earn the album – a Sony release – 28th place on this week's budget chart.

Another artist benefiting from Grammy exposure is Christina Aguilera, who won the best new artist award. Christina's second hit single What A Girl Wants is also helping to spark sales of her self-titled debut album, which has surged 48-33-14 in the last fortnight.

The Cure's Bloodflowers was last week's highest new entry, debuting at number 14, but its sales plummeted by 64% last week, sending it spiralling all the way down to number 53. That is the steepest decline of any album for more than a year, and comes in a week when Bloodflowers is the highest debuting album in two of the world's four biggest markets. In America, it enters the chart at number 16, while in Germany it makes an even more impressive debut at number five

COMPILATIONS

Just 283 sales separate Rewind – The Sound Of UK Garage and the soundtrack album The Beach at the top of the compilations chart, the former album selling 44,249 copies and the latter 44,532 last week. This small but significant margin makes The Beach one of only two soundtrack albums to top the album chart since The Bodyguard spent 11 weeks at number one in 1993, primarily as a result of Whitney Houston's success with I Will Always Love You. Since then, the only soundtrack album to reach number one has been The Full Monty, which spent the last of its three weeks at number one two years ago this month. As well as the obvious attraction of being the only album thus far to contain All Saints' current number one hit single Pure Shores, The Beach includes the upcoming Dario G and Orbital singles (Voices and Beached) and exclusive tracks by Leftfield (Snakeblood), Underworld (8 Ball), New Order (Brutal) and several others. In reaching number one on the compilation chart, it has achieved what the movie – the latest Leonardo De Caprio flick – has not. The film peaked at number two on both the US and UK box office charts, being trounced here by a three to one margin by Toy Story 2. The Beach is the only soundtrack album in the Top 20 of the compilation chart at the moment, its nearest rival being the omnipresent Reservoir Dogs (number 25), followed by The Matrix (32) and Notting Hill (35). It has also performed impressively in the States, where it has moved 195-135-78 on the Top 200 on the last fortnight, selling 21,000 copies last week alone.
