THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

8 JULY 2000

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

The first white rap solo star to top the chart since Vanilla Ice ruled the roost with Ice Ice Baby in 1990, Eminem nevertheless took only 7.5% of the singles market last week with The Real Slim Shady, one of the three lowest shares attained by the number one single this year. Even so, it was enough for a very comfortable victory at the top, runner-up Samantha Mumba debuting at number two with sales of nearly 69,000 units for her single Gotta Tell You. The 17-year-old Dubliner actually outsold Eminem on the first day of release, but could not hold her lead. Her single, which has been number one in Ireland for three weeks, is one of four current Top 40 hits written primarily by Swedes (Mumba also gets a credit) and recorded in Sweden, emulating the hits by Bon Jovi, the Backstreet Boys and Britney Spears.

Parlophone has two records in the Top Five for the first time in more than a decade. Although Kylie Minogue's Spinning Around dips 1-3, she is joined in the upper echelon by young British rock hopes Coldplay, whose single Yellow debuts at number four, and

When Eminem released his debut single My Name Is... 14 months ago, he was deprived of a number one hit only by Mr Oizo's Flat Beat, which held on to the number one position it gained the week before, with robust second-week sales of 184,000, beating My Name Is... by 40,000. The 26-year-old rapper, who has gone from living in a trailer park to worldwide notoriety and fame in a little more than a year, succeeds in topping the chart this week despite achieving a much lower sale - 86,000 - with The Real Slim Shady, the introductory single from his second album The Marshall Mathers LP. However, he misses out on becoming the first artist to simultaneously top the singles and albums charts since Ronan Keating exactly a year ago (solo on the singles chart, with Boyzone on the album chart) as he loses pole position on the latter chart to Richard Ashcroft.

continues their mercurial rise. The band - a quartet all aged between 20 and 22 - reached number 92 with their debut single Brothers &

Sisters, released on the Fierce Panda label last year, and then signed for Parlophone, reaching number 35 in April with Shiver.

Vengaboys are back in town and register their seventh straight Top 10 hit with Uncle John From Jamaica, which debuts at number six. The most successful chart act ever from the Netherlands, they join American, Irish, Australian, British, Italian and Finnish acts in a very cosmopolitan Top 10 but unless it manages to improve its position, Uncle John will go down as their first single to fall short of the Top Five.

Ocean Colour Scene check their recent decline by debuting at number 31 with July/Am The News, which thus narrowly beats the number 34 peak of their last single, the appropriately named So Low. The band's purple patch came in 1996/97, when they reached the Top 10 with six singles in a row.

Lonestar's Amazed returns to its highest chart position yet, climbing 22-21 on its 13th appearance in the chart.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Former Verve frontman Richard Ashcroft's solo album career takes up where the band left off, with his introductory album Alone With Everybody debuting at number one this week. The album includes both of Ashcroft's solo hit singles, A Song For The Lovers, which reached number three in March, and Money To Burn, which peaked at number 17 last month. Alone With Everybody sold more than 75,000 units last week – a total which was undoubtedly swelled by the screening of a half-hour documentary on Ashcroft screened by Channel 4 a fortnight ago. Sales of 75,000 is a very respectable tally, and the highest for a number one album since Bon Jovi topped the chart a month ago but is somewhat overshadowed by the 250,000 first-week sale of Ashcroft's last album with The Verve, 1997's Urban Hymns.

Artist album sales surged by 26.8% last week thanks to a combination of deep discounting, strong new releases, the Glastonbury effect and the arrival of the monthly pay cheque for salary-earners. With exactly half the year gone, sales of artist albums are running 8.7% ahead of 1999, while the compilation sector is up 3.8%. Singles are still in the doldrums, though, with sales off 23.4% so far this year. In week 26 of 1999, Boyzone's By Request album was number one with sales of less than 38,000, and only four artist albums sold more than 20,000 units. Last week – week 26 of this year – Richard Ashcroft led the way with more than 75,000 sales, eight albums sold in excess of 20,000 and By Request would have had to settle for fifth place. Two albums which did more than their fair share towards making last week a good one for retail were Moby's Play and David Gray's White Ladder, which increased their sales week-on-week for the sixth and ninth time in a row, respectively.

Moby's Play sold more than 53,000 units last week, an 18.7% improvement. That is the third week in a row it has had a double-digit increase, and represents its highest weekly sale yet – beating all five weeks when it was number one in the spring. It also brings its 2000 sales to more than 720,000 units, enough to put it at the top of the year-to-date rankings, in succession to Travis's The Man Who. Meanwhile, David Gray's White Ladder jumps 7-4 as a result of a spectacular 140% improvement in sales over the prior week – up from less than 19,000 to more than 45,000. Gray's album has sold 120,000 units to date, and is clearly going to sell a great many more.

Many albums make spectacular returns to the chart or huge leaps this week, as the sale season gets underway again. Among the star performers are Westlife's self-titled debut (up 32-18, with a one-day price of £5 in HMV), Fatboy Slim's You've Come A Long Way, Baby (76-25), REM's Out Of Time (70-26), ZZ Top's Eliminator (the 1983 album returns at number 28, coming within four places of equalling its all-time highest position, after being slashed to £2.99 by HMV), the Red Hot Chili Peppers's Californication (65-32), The Best Of Rod Stewart (131-36) and Frank Sinatra's My Way – The Best Of (106-52).

COMPILATIONS

Club Mix Ibiza 2000 is the number one compilation for the third week in a row, selling nearly 37,500 units last week, a slight increase on the previous frame, and enough to bring its overall sales to 120,000 after just three weeks in the shops. It continues to hold a handsome lead of 60% over its nearest rival – Street Vibes 5, which climbs 3-2, swapping places with Top Of The Pops 2000 Volume 2, this being the only movement in an otherwise unchanged top seven. The success of Club Mix Ibiza proves the continuing power of Ibiza as a selling point, and also illustrates that you don't necessarily have to have star mixers involved in a project – the two-CD set comprising anonymously-mixed segues of 40 tracks, ranging from big hits like Don't Call Me Baby by Madison Avenue and Tell Me Why (The Riddle) by Paul Van Dyk & St Etienne to the fairly obscure Sunshine by Lehner & Biehl and Walking In Sunshine by Velvet Girl. And if value for money can be judged by playing time, this one is right up there with the best, both mixes running to within a minute of the maximum playing time for CDs of 80 minutes. On the other hand, the latest INcredible release, Communicate is a tribute to the pulling power of Sasha and John Digweed, who have mixed together a selection of tracks known only to the most hardened clubbers, but still managed to sell nearly 8,000 units of the album on its first week in the shops, enough for a number 13 debut in the chart. The album also sold more than 10,000 units in the US (where it is on the Kinetic label) to become one of only a handful of compilations in the Top 200, debuting at number 149.
