CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

The Spiller Vs Posh showdown captured the media's imagination last week more than any duel since Oasis (Roll With It) Vs Blur (Country House) did five years ago this week. The saturation coverage sent punters scuttling to the record shops in pursuit of the records, with singles sales soaring by 24%. After a brave fight which saw it lead the chart for much of the week, the True Steppers & Dane Bowers feat. Victoria Beckham collaboration Out Of Your Mind sold just short of 181,000 copies. The Spiller single therefore narrowly takes the record for highest weekly sale of the year, beating the 199,000 mark set by Robbie Williams Rock DJ a fortnight ago – and the True Steppers single is not only the biggest-selling number two of the year by a huge margin (43%) but also sold enough copies last week to have

SINGLE FACTFILE

No-one could have tried harder to secure a number one hit than Victoria Beckham has in the past few weeks. Short of streaking at the Headingley test match, she did everything she could to ensure that she would become the fourth Spice Girl to have a number one outside the group. However, the slender early lead enjoyed by her Out Of Your Mind collaboration with the True Steppers and Dane Bowers melted away on Saturday, with ante-post favourites Spiller coming from behind to secure the title. With number one hits from Mel B, Mel C and Geri Halliwell, three past and present members of the Spice Girls have had number ones. If Victoria had made it four, they would have become the first group to have four members secure number one hits outside the group. Instead, they remained tied on three with The Beatles.

been number one in all but five of the 33 chart weeks so far in 2000. And joining in the bonanza which saw sales rise by 24%, Rock

DJ sold more than 74,500 copies in third place, the fourth biggest total for a record in that position this year. The Spiller single, incidentally, is the second number one of the year for the Positiva label after Toca's Miracle by Fragma, and the label's fourth number one in all, with a higher first-week sale than any of its other hits, which total a staggering 109 in a little over seven years. Positiva's seemingly endless stream of hits will be extended in the next few weeks by new releases from the Vengaboys, Alice Deejay, Tru Faith, Sarina Paris, Frisky and Inaya Day, to name just a few – and if that is not enough, the label currently has no fewer than 17 singles in the Top 200, many of them re-entering this week as part of a three-for-£10 campaign on Positiva's back catalogue.

Britney Spears falls in her attempt to become only the second female solo artist to have three consecutive number ones (the first was Geri Halliwell), with Lucky debuting at number five. On a positive note, it stretches Spears' opening streak of Top Five hits to six, including three this year, the latter feat previously only performed by Oasis.

by ALAN JONES

Nineteen-year-old Craig David was only one when Telstar Records was launched in 1982, and was just eight when the company had its last number one album, courtesy of The Legendary Roy Orbison in 1989, but he restores the company to number one this week via its Wildstar joint venture imprint with Capital Radio. David's debut album Born To Do It sold more than 225,000 units last week, the highest first-week sale for any artist on their debut. David also becomes the youngest artist to complete the double of number one single and album. He is not, however, the youngest artist to have a number one album – that honour belongs to Neil Reid, an 11-year-old Scot who came to fame via TV show Opportunity Knocks. Reid's self-titled debut album spent three weeks at number one in 1972, following the number two success of his single Mother Of Mine.

It is turning into a wonderful year for Craig David. Having sold more singles than any other artist, he now turns his attention to the album market, and is an instant success, with his debut album Born To Do It cruising to the top of the album chart after selling more than 225,000 units last week. That is the second highest weekly sale of the year, trailing only the 319,000 units Oasis' Standing On The Shoulder Of Giants sold on its first week in the shops in March. David is further the first black British male to have a number one album since Seal in 1994. Born To Do It outsold the number two album – Ronan by Ronan Keating – by a ratio of more than seven to two last week, sold only slightly fewer copies than all of the rest of the Top 10 added together, and accounted for one in every seven artist albums sold last week.

Whitney Houston's The Greatest Hits surges 11.5 this week, a 66.9% increase in sales week-on-week being primarily due to a renewed TV advertising campaign, and a

£9.99 price tag in WH Smith. Even at a time when deep discounting is commonplace, placing a frontline double CD on sale in the High Street for less than £10 is unprecedented, and, unless due to generous discounts, must represent a loss for Smiths.

Without discount, the album costs dealers £11.63 including VAT. Now 14 weeks into its life, The Greatest Hits has sold more than 490,000 units and is, incidentally holding up a lot better here than in America, where it dropped out of the Top 50 two weeks ago.

A fortnight after the introductory single I Can Only Disappoint U reached number eight to become the second biggest of their 12 hits to date, Mansun's Little Kix album debuts at number 12, with sales just short of 17,000. Considering the group's previous albums Attack Of The Grey Lantern and Six peaked at one and six respectively, that is somewhat disappointing. Attack Of The Grey Lantern sold 48,000 units on its first week in the shops in March 1997, while Six sold nearly 21,500 in September 1998.

Those fiendishly clever North Europeans land two new entries to the chart this week. Iceland's Sigur Ros debut at number 52 with Agætis Byrjun, while In Stereo by Denmark's Bomfunk MCs enters at number 33.

COMPILATIONS

While the artist album sector enjoys a significant boost from the release of Craig David's debut album, the compilations sector gets that sinking feeling for the third straight week, as sales of multi-artist albums slide back below the 500,000 mark just three weeks after hitting 722,000. The main cause, of course, is the diminishing firepower of the number one album Now That's What I Call Music! 46, which continues to head a completely logjammed Top Five in which every album suffers a decline. Now! 46 dips by 30%, while The Best Ibiza Anthems Ever 2K and Latin Fever both fall 7%, Ibiza Euphoria slips 15% and New Woman Summer 2000 shrinks 9%. It is a tribute to its strength that despite having by far the biggest slippage, Now! 46 is still outselling its nearest rival by a margin of nearly five to two. In four weeks in the shops so far, Now! 46 has sold almost 518,000 units, including more than 58,000 last week. At the same stage of their lives, 1999's comparable album Now! 43 had sold 466,000 units while 1998's Now! 40 was nearing 391,000. It is interesting to speculate what would have happened if Spiller's Groovejet (If This Ain't Love) had fallen short of the number one singles slot, as its failure would undoubtedly have been down to the fact it appeared on several compilations prior to its release as a single, most notably Now! 46 and Smash Hits Summer 2000, which have sold nearly 600,000 units between them. While there are 43 different tracks bringing business to Now! 46, the Spiller track is surely one of the most significant, not least because for several weeks it was the only way to get it.
