CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

All Saints make their expected debut at number one with Black Coffee, which sold nearly 25% more than its nearest challenger last week despite its own low sales. Black Coffee is the third number one of the year to be produced by William Orbit, and nourishment continues to provide his inspiration after Madonna's American Pie.

It's obviously a good week for the beverage, with another girl group, Supersister debuting at number 16 this week with Coffee. With two songs referring to the popular drink debuting in the Top 20 simultaneously, you might think that coffee is used frequently in song titles, but you'd be wrong, as only seven hits in the 48 years of chart history have mentioned it in their titles.

Over a year after peaking at number 73, Silence by the Canadian pairing of Delerium & Sarah McLachlan returns to the chart in style, debuting at number three. The record sold nearly 48,500 copies last week, and was less than 500 sales short of taking the growing in popularity ever since, and increased its sales considerably ahead of its official re-release last week.

SINGLE FACTFILE

The latest in a list of artists to register two number ones in 2000, All Saints debut in pole position with Black Coffee, although it sold only 60,000 copies last week. That's a stark contrast to their previous single Pure Shores, which debuted at number one in February with sales of more than 199,000. Pure Shores has the second highest first week sale of the year, trailing only Robbie Williams' Rock DJ, while Black Coffee has the second lowest, beating only Westlife's sub-35,000 tally with I Have A Dream/Seasons In The Sun in the first week of the year.

All Saints have now had five number one singles from seven hits, and are back in second place among girl groups, trailing the Spice Girls' tally of eight number ones but beating B*Witched, who had overtook them by placing their first four singles at number one.

Ronan Keating has topped the chart with both of his solo singles but his Boyzone colleague Stephen Gately has fared less well outside the group, reaching number three with New Beginning in June and debuting at number 11 this week with I Believe. Gately's latest hit is, I believe, the 15th different song to become a hit bearing that title. Until this week, I Believe and Crazy were joint holders of the record for most different hits with the same title - and they still are, because the 15th different song entitled Crazy also charts this week, debuting at number 48 for Tomcat.

At the age of 70, Rolf Harris is one of the oldest artists to have a hit single this or any other week. Rolf, who became a septuagenarian in March, debuts at number 24 this week with his Tommy Boy single Fine Day. Rolf's last five hits have all been on different labels, and Fine Day is his highest charting single since his remake of Led Zeppelin's Stairway To Heaven reached number seven in 1993.

by ALAN JONES

Kid A is Radiohead's fifth album in just 7.5 years – a rapid rate by contemporary standards – and emulates the fourth, OK Computer, by debuting at number one. With Kylie Minogue's Light Years at number seven and Coldplay's Parachutes at number 11, Parlophone has come as close to having three albums in the Top 10 as it has in more than 20 years.

Two weeks after the introductory single Minority reached number 18, Green Day's latest album Warning debuts at number four. That's the highest position of the group's career, beating the number eight peak of 1997's Insomniac. The group are creatures of habit, however, having released each of their last four albums in October.

Although The Way I Am (the second single from Eminem's album The Marshall Mathers LP) can't match the first, debuting at number eight this week, compared to the number one spot claimed by The Real Slim Shady – it helps the album to climb 6-5 on the chart

ALBUMS FACTFILE

When Radiohead released their last album OK Computer in 1997, it had already spawned their highest charting hit Paranoid Android, and duly sold nearly 137,000 copies on its week of release to secure the band its first ever number one. Although the band is adamant it won't be releasing any singles from its new album, Kid A, it very nearly equals the splash made by OK Computer, selling nearly 131,500 copies last week, and debuts at number one, selling 75,000 copies more than Madonna's Music, which slips to number two. Kid A may become the first album to sell half a million copies without a single since George Michael's Songs From The Last Century album. If it continues to match the pace of OK Computer (which jumps 74-67 this week) it could sell a million – OK Computer has sold 1,018,000 copies to date.

Man Who by Travis to become the second biggest seller of the year, trailing only Moby's Play, which has sold 1,030,000 copies in 2000. With Eminem's debut album The Slim Shady LP also selling well, the out-spoken rapper has now sold 1,014,000 albums this year, and should overtake Moby (1,040,000) to become the best-selling albums artist of the year within the week – although Play is about to get a shot in the arm from an upcoming re-release with a bonus CD.

Two years ago this month, Billie Piper's debut album Honey To The B debuted at number 14 with sales of 12,600. Her follow-up album Walk Of Life exactly matches that debut position this week, while selling more than 14,000 copies. Honey To The B never improved on its debut position but remained in contention throughout the Christmas period and has thus far sold more than 370,000 copies. Walk Of Life has already surrendered two hits, with a third original single to be released this year followed by Billie's cover of the Blondie hit The Tide Is High – so expect it to have a similarly impressive slow fade as Honey To The B.

COMPILATIONS

The Ministry Of Sound's sixth number one album of the year, Trance Nation 4, mixed by Ferry Corsten and System F, continues at number one, with sales down a little, as they are in the market as a whole. Trance Nation 4 – which contains tracks by Darude, York and Sireal – sold nearly 33,000 copies last week, to take its two week tally to nearly 69,000. The number two (Pepsi Chart 2000), four (Hard House Nation) five (The Ibiza Annual – Summer 2000) and six (Now That's What I Call Music! 46) albums similarly retain their positions, although all of them also experience declining sales. In fact, the only movement in the top six sees Kiss Ibiza 2000 slumping 3-7, while Moby 2000 debuts in its place. The latter album sold more than 19,500 copies last week, and obviously benefited from the increasingly high profile given to the awards, which honour music of black origin. The album includes tracks from MJ Cole, Artful Dodger, Gamma Kid and triple award winner Craig David, and is clearly outpacing previous charting award souvenirs – Moby 1998 reached number 13 while Moby 1999 reached number 10. Moby 1999 sold fewer than 22,000 copies last year, a tally Moby 2000 should have beaten by the time you read this.

The other new entry to the Top 10 this week comes from CD:UK. Debuting at number eight with sales a tad short of 8,000, the first celebration of ITV's popular Saturday morning show includes 40 tracks from artists like S Club 7, Five and Westlife, and is a joint BMG/Sony/Universal project.
