THE OFFICIAL UK CHART SINGLES

18 NOVEMBER 2000

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Boy bands continue to dominate the singles chart, with A1's Brand New Life just managing to topple Westlife's My Love, selling a mere 1,500 copies more than their rivals, while the Backstreet Boys' Shape Of My Heart trails a little further behind at number four. For much of the week, it looked as though all of the top three places would be held by boy bands for only the second time in chart history, but the Backstreet Boys single eventually slipped out of the frame.

The act who managed to push the Backstreet Boys into fourth place was the Baha Men, whose debut hit Who Let The Dogs Out? continues to change direction every week. The single has moved 13-14-2-3 so far. It sold slightly more copies last week than the previous week, despite slipping a notch – and was actually the biggest selling single by any act on Saturday, narrowly outselling A1, presumably as a result of a further Top Of The Pops airing for the Bahamian group. While record buyers love the single (it has sold nearly 240,000 copies so far), radio support remains grudging, with the single still short of the Top 50, though only just. It had its best week yet on the airwaves last week, and moves 58-52 on the Music Control list.

SINGLE FACTFILE

more modest 60,500, and tops the chart exactly a year after Everytime/Ready Or Not entered with 65,500 sales – enough, at the time, only for a number three debut. Both Take On Me and Same Old Brand New You are taken from the forthcoming album The 'A' List, which is due to drop in a couple of weeks, and is expected to fare considerably better than their debut collection Here We Come, which peaked at number 20.

While the Spice Girls and All Saints continue to fly the flag for girl groups, the genre is undeniably overpopulated, with many groups underachieving and/or being dropped. Girl Thing are one of the later arrivals on the scene and their debut single Last One Standing – widely tipped as a potential number one – was adjudged a flop when it peaked at number eight earlier this year. The follow up Girls On Top met with more resistance last week, and debuts at number 25 after selling fewer than 9,000 copies. Press and TV support for the project is excellent but once again radio is unimpressed, with Girls On Top not ranking in Music Control's Top 200 last week.

Single sales have been under a cloud all year, and in the last three weeks year-to-date declines of more than 20% have given way to downturns of 31% or 32%. However, this is offset by booming album sales, which are up by a consistent 10-11% over the same period.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

by ALAN JONES

It probably cost them a second week at number one on the singles chart, but Westlife's decision to release their second album last week was otherwise a total triumph. Released exactly a year after their self-titled debut album, Coast To Coast storms to number one, with first week sales of nearly 235,000 giving it the third biggest opening week of the year, trailing only Robbie Williams' 313,000 debut with Sing When You're

ALBUMS FACTFILE

Winning and Oasis' 311,000 start with Standing On The Shoulder Of Giants. It far exceeds the 83,000 first week of Westlife, which narrowly failed to dethrone Steps' Stepptacular on its debut, and has never managed to reach number one, although it has sold a creditable 1,190,000 copies to date. Coast To Coast's opening tally also exceeds the 164,000 start of fellow Irish act U2's new album last week.

Exactly a year since Westlife delivered their only previous album, and precisely three years since the Spice Girls' last record, the groups' decision to go head-to-head has ended in a famous triumph for Westlife. After selling 60,000 copies on its first day, almost three times as many copies as the Spice Girls' Forever, Westlife's Coast To Coast strengthened its grip, finally selling nearly 235,000 copies – well over three times as many as Forever's final tally of just over 73,000. For Westlife, it gets their album chart-topping career off the ground, after their incredible run of seven straight number one singles. For the Spice Girls, it's the first time they have failed to take the album prize. Their debut album Spice sold 155,000 copies on its first week in the shops in 1996 (four years ago this week) while Spiceworld's 1997 debut attracted a first-week sale of 192,000. There are some crumbs of comfort for the Spice Girls, however. Firstly, although it is their first album for three years, Forever has so far spawned only one single, and may yet prove to have legs. Secondly, although 73,000 is well down on the opening tallies of their first two albums, it is the second highest sales figure for a number two album this year, and is well ahead of the median figure for number one albums this year. Incidentally, both the Westlife and Spice Girls albums' success in becoming the two biggest sellers last week is despite an almost unanimously bad press, with the Sunday Times' dismissal of Forever ('nothing special') and Coast To Coast ('it stinks') being mild by comparison to some of the vicious press both groups have had to endure.

R.Kelly's R album (another anniversary record, two years old next week) somehow never managed to climb higher than number 27 in the chart, even though it spawned an incredible nine hit singles and was a double album for the price of a single. His new album TP2.Com instantly beats that peak this week, debuting at number 21 with first week sales of nearly 16,000, although the only single from the set to date, I Wish, only reached number 12 last month.

COMPILATIONS

Sales of The Annual 2000 dip by 20% week-on-week but the Ministry Of Sound's hardy annual remains at the top of an unchanged top five, in which every other album also experiences significant shrinkage. The Annual 2000 has sold more than 85,000 copies so far and, if it emulates the performance of previous albums in the series, it will continue at a high level until well into next year. Mixed by Judge Jules and Tall Paul, it includes high profile number one crossover hits like Groovejet (If This Ain't Love) by Spiller and Toca's Miracle by Fragma, as well as less widely appreciated cuts (Afro Medusa's Pasilda and Hi-Gate's Caned And Unable) plus yet-to-be-released gems like Camels by Santos and Can You Dig It by Journeyman DJ. The top five logjam leaves the EMI/Virgin/Universal compilation Q Awards

– The Album to claim top debut honours in sixth place after selling nearly 14,000 copies. The album includes tracks from icons old and new, including U2, Oasis, Blur, Coldplay, Badly Drawn Boy and JJ72, and doesn't exclusively feature acts nominated for this year. Its sales suggest it, like the awards it celebrates, could become another annual fixture.

React Music's celebration of its 10th anniversary continue apace with React 10, a compilation of 'former glories and future classics' compiled into a double CD – one mixed, the other not – with a dealer price of just £1.62 and a rrp of £2.99 – which has been selling fast enough to be the biggest selling budget album for the last fortnight, with 6,000 copies being snapped up already. The album includes tracks by Candi Staton and Mrs Woods, among others.
