CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Last Friday, the London Evening Standard's ES Magazine's 'so now, so then, so over' list nominated S Club 7 as now, Hear'Say as then and Steps as over in the mixed pop vocal group stakes. The latter judgment seems both harsh and premature given the fact that the very same Steps debut at number four this week with Here And Now/You'll Be Sorry. It gives the act their 12th consecutive Top 10 hit, a sequence which extends all the way back to their second single and which, among British groups, is beaten only by the Beatles and the Rolling Stones - exalted company for a group 'so over'. It is also Steps' 11th straight top five hit, a sequence bettered only by the Beatles. Here And Now/You'll Be Sorry is Steps' fifth double A-side, and both tracks are taken from the group's latest album Buzz, which contains five hits and has sold 663,000 copies to date.

No change at the top of the singles chart, with Shaggy's Angel retaining pole position with sales exceeding 100,000 for the second week in a row. With 280,000 copies sold in a fortnight, it sprints 25-11 on the year-to-date rankings, where Shaggy's previous single, It Wasn't Me, continues to lead the way with sales to date of more than 1,128,000. Combined, they make him by far the biggest-selling singles artist of the year. And it is not just singles he is selling - his Hot Shot album dips 1-2 to accommodate the arrival of Radiohead's new Amnesiac album but sold a further 51,000 copies last week. That is as many as his 1995 Virgin album mbastic has sold since its release - although it was not Boombastic that cost him his contract. That was down to the failure of the 1997 follow up Midnite Lover, which spawned the number seven single Piece Of My Heart but which never charted itself and which, to this day, has sold fewer than 2,500 copies.

The first single from the upcoming Urban Renewal compilation, where hip-hop and R&B stars tackle Phil Collins songs, is Brandy &

Ray J's Another Day In Paradise. Pairing the talented brother and sister, both of whom star in the TV series Moesha, it debuts at number five after selling more than 46,000 copies. It therefore eclipses the number 22 debut of the original, charted by Collins in 1989. But that was back in the day when records climbed the chart on a regular basis and Another Day In Paradise was no exception, moving 22-8-2, being denied pole position only by Lisa Stansfield's All Around The World.

Another Day In Paradise is not the only Collins solo track turned into a hit duet; Westlife and Mariah Carey topped the chart last September after doing the same to Against All Odds - and on the Urban Renewal album This Must Be Love becomes a two-hander featuring Dane Bowers and Kelis while In The Air Tonight has Lil' Kim sparring with a sample of Collins himself.

The Manic Street Preachers are the first act to have three hit singles this year, their number 15 debut with Ocean Spray following up the simultaneous number eight and nine hits So Why So Sad and Found That Soul in March.

Recorded at the same sessions that yielded their 2000 chart-topper Kid A, Radiohead's Amnesiac emulates its predecessor by debuting at number one on the album chart. Amnesiac cannot, however, match the first week sales of Kid A, which opened with a 131,000 total. Amnesiac starts with a modest sale of 90,500. Released a mere eight months after Kid A, Amnesiac makes the group the first act to have two number one albums in the 21st century, and will be looking to do the same in America where, according to early sales reports, it is neck-and-neck for pole position with the debut album by St. Lunatics. Kid A yielded no singles in Britain and suffered as a result, with sales to date of little over 300,000 compared to the million plus tally of OK Computer but Amnesiac has already surrendered one single, Pyramid Song.

ALBUMS FACTFILE

After taking 10 months to reach number one, Shaggy's Hot Shot album is immediately dethroned, losing pole position to Radiohead's Amnesiac. But the Shaggy album sold more than 51,000 copies last week to bring its overall sales to 368,000 - almost all of them were achieved this year, and as a result the album jumps 11-9 on the year-to-date rankings.

Anthology - Through The Years debuts at number 14 to become the highest charting Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers album since Greatest Hits reached number 10 in 1993. The arrival of Petty's album brings to six the number of best-of sets in the Top 15 - the best tally of the year - and there are also new entries lower down for The Very Best Of The Smiths, which debuts at number 31, and The Best Of Tubular Bells, which returns Mike Oldfield to the chart at number 60.

The Best Of Tubular Bells combines tracks from no fewer than six previous Tubular Bells albums released by Oldfield. Returning to the

there has always been a reliable way of boosting chart fortunes but low sales and position of the latest album suggest that it may be time to call a halt. The Classical Brits helps Russell Watson and Decca labelmates Bond to continue their chart form. Watson's The Voice rises 25-18 while Bond's Born Sprints 38-23 following ITV's screening of the awards. TV exposure also helps Barry White's The Collection to jump 186-51, with a 226% surge in sales week on week.

Madonna's Music logged the lowest chart position of its nine month history last week, when it slipped 36-42. It recovers to number 30 this week, with sales up week on week by 37%, as a result of being issued as an enhanced CD which features bonus mixes of her latest single, What It Feels Like For A Girl.

Folk singer Kate Rusby made her chart debut last week, when her fourth LP, Little Lights, debuted at number 75 after selling nearly 2,800 copies. It slips to number 90 this week but should continue to sell, as her last album, Sleepless has managed more than 24,000 copies without ever charting for the singer, who began a tour of America last weekend. Rusby finances her own Pure label which her parents run out of a bedroom.

COMPILATIONS

Bridget Jones's Diary is the number one compilation for the sixth time in a row, with sales last week of a little over 40,000 giving it a 25% cushion over Smash Hits Summer 2001. Diary has sold a hugely impressive 594,000 copies to date, and has spun off four hit singles - Geri Halliwell's number one It's Raining Men, Gabrielle's number four Out Of Reach, Aaron Soul's number 14 Ring Ring Ring and Dina Carroll's Someone Like You, which debuts at number 38 this week. The latter track - a cover of a Van Morrison song the Irish troubadour included on his 1987 album Poetic Champions Compose - may have suffered somewhat from the high sales already achieved by the album, as it is Carroll's vest charting single for exactly a decade, narrowly beating the number 39 peak attained by Naked Love/Just Say You Want Me in this very week in 1991. As well as being the second biggest selling compilation of the year (behind Now! 48, which has sold 785,000 copies), Bridget Jones's Diary is by far the biggest selling multi-artist soundtrack of the year, with the hip-hop heavy Save The Last Dance in second place with just 75,000 sales.

With no vital new releases hitting the shops last week, compilation sales contracted by 10%, with the Top 10 albums simply shuffling about with the solitary exception of the pure pop selection Pure & Simple, which dives 7-11 to be replaced in the upper echelon by Ayia Napa - The Album 2001, a new Ministry of Sound compilation which debuts at number nine, selling nearly 15,000 copies.
