SINGLE FACTFILE

Although unable to dethrone Kylie Minogue, Steps enjoy the third biggest single-week sale of their 14-hit career with Chain Reaction/One For Sorrow. It sold more than 109,000 copies last week, a total the group have only beaten with the introductory week's sales of One For Sorrow (140,000) and Better Best Forgotten (139,500). Ironically, neither of their number ones (Heartbeat/Tragedy and Stomp!) had particularly massive openings. Stomp! debuted at one with sales of just 48,000 while Heartbeat/Tragedy opened with a tally of 66,500 in November 1998 but gathered impetus as Christmas approached and sold 105,000 copies in its peak week, its seventh in the charts. It then topped the chart the following week with sales of 98,000. It is easily the group's biggest seller with 1.15m copies sold. Including this week's debut for Chain Reaction/One For Sorrow, the group's cumulative singles sales are 4.14m

A 41% dip in sales week-on-week cannot prevent Kylie Minogue from enjoying an easy second week at number one with Can't Get You Out Of My Head, which sold a further 180,500 copies last week. It is the first single by Minogue to spend more than one week on top since 1989, when Especially For You, her duet with Jason Donovan, ruled for three weeks.

Although Minogue's sales are down, singles sales overall are up by a further 1% compared to last week, not least because of the strength of the top three. Steps' Chain Reaction/One For Sorrow sold more than 108,000 copies while DJ Otzi's Hey Baby suffered a mere 15% shrinkage in the week and sold 106,500. It is only the third time this year that all of the top three have sold more than 100,000 apiece, and DJ Otzi's tally is the second highest for a number three this year, beaten only by the 147,000 copies Shaggy's It Wasn't Me sold when in third place some 28 weeks ago. The welcome boost to sales is also helped by the strong showings of new acts City High and Liberty, who debut at four and five respectively, with sales of 76,500 and 57,000. Elton John registers his 75th hit in total, and his 26th Top 10 success with I Want

Love, the introductory single from his Songs From The West Coast album. It is John's biggest hit since Something About The Way You Look Tonight/Candle In The Wind '97 topped the chart exactly four years ago. More impressively, given the unusual circumstances that surrounded that hit, it is the highest charting new single by John as a solo artist since 1990, when Sacrifice/Healing Hands topped the chart. It is his first hit since 1999's Written In The Stars duet with LeAnn Rimes. His no-show in 2000 marked his first blank year since he started having hits in 1971.

After consecutive number five hits with the first two singles of their Just Enough Education To Perform set, the Stereophonics have to settle for a number 16 debut with the third, Step On My Old Size Nines. Meanwhile, Garbage's Androgyny (24) is their smallest hit since Only Happy When It Rains, 10 singles ago.

Afroman is the latest artist to chart on import sales, debuting at 70 with Because I Got High, a UK release next Monday (October 8).

CHART COMMENTARY

ALBUMS FACTFILE

It is more than 13 years since Tracy Chapman's one and only appearance in the Top 40 of the singles chart with Fast Car, but the talented singer-songwriter lands the highest new entry on the album chart this week. She debuts at number three with Collection, a 15-song set which plucks tracks from each of her five previous albums. Although she was not able to emulate the success of Fast Car, her self-titled debut album reached number one, as did the follow-up Crossroads. The latter album's success was all the more remarkable given the fact it spawned only a number 61 hit in the title track. Although her first album is a perennial seller, Chapman's last two albums – New Beginning (1995) and Telling Stories (2000) – did not even make the Top 75, peaking at 194 and 85, but Collection sold more than 21,000 copies last week to earn its lofty chart perch.

The second all female top three of the year finds American singer-songwriters Macy Gray and Tracy Chapman playing second and third fiddle to our own Dido, whose No Angel album bounces 5-1 this week. Although it was heading back up the charts anyway – thanks to saturation airplay for the third single Hunter – No Angel did not look likely to resume its stint at number one after a 29-week absence until it became one of the major focal points of the latest HMV sale. Priced at £9.99, it increased sales in the chain by 94% last week, even though the sale did not start until Thursday.

Two other records also received noticeable boosts from the sale: Coldplay's Parachutes – a snip at £7.99 – which charges 74.35 (its highest position for 17 weeks) with a 175% jump in sales overall (51.2% at HMV); Lou Reed's Transformer, meanwhile, has been reduced to a mere £2.99 and sold nearly 11,000 copies to re-enter the chart at number 16. That is the highest chart placing earned by the classic album – which includes Walk On The Wild Side, Satellite Of Love and the original Perfect Day – since 1973. It last charted in 1999, reaching number 32, also as a result of an HMV sale. No, it's not a typo, the artist debuting at number 20 this week is not the "groover from Vancouver" Bryan Adams but his near namesake Ryan Adams. Formerly with alternative country group Whiskeytown, the much vaunted Adams made his solo debut with Heartbreaker which has sold 12,500 copies since its release exactly a year ago without ever charting. That record was released on indie roots label Cooking Vinyl but Adams' follow-up, Gold, is on new Universal label Lost Highway and sold nearly 9,000 copies last week. Incidentally, neither Adams' Gold nor Alien Ant Farm's Anthology are best of collections despite their titles, although there are seven such albums in the Top 40 – an unusually high number for this time of the year.

Samantha Mumba's Gotta Tell You album was listed as a new entry to last week's chart, rather than a re-entry, because of an error by C.I.N. The newly expanded album saw its sales slip by 4% last week but it still climbs to a new chart peak at number nine.

COMPILATIONS

After debuting at number one last week, Hits 50 enjoys a second highly satisfactory week at retail, with sales slipping just 4% from its debut week to 35,000, allowing the set to retain pole position on the chart. Our apologies for accepting a second-hand suggestion that the album does not include 50 tracks. It does, somehow managing the difficult task of cramming that many contemporary tracks into a two CD set. (Now's record in recent years is 45, appropriately achieved on Now! 45.) It does, however, mean that if they are to continue with this numbering system they must cram ever more tracks on future volumes.

With the movie still doing great business, the Moulin Rouge soundtrack comes within 2,000 units of dethroning Hits 50, with sales up 21% last week to just short of 33,000. The album's first single – Christina Aguilera, Lil' Kim, Mya & Pink's Lady Marmalade – was a number one in May while a second single – thespians Ewan McGregor and Nicole Kidman's Come What May – enters the Top 75 this week at 27. Kidman also sings with Robbie Williams on a cover of the old Frank & Nancy Sinatra hit Somethin' Stupid on Williams' upcoming album, while McGregor previously appeared in the chart – number six in 1997 – in a speaking role, on the PF Project's Choose Life, where his contribution was lifted from his part in the movie Trainspotting.

Garage technicians DJ Luck & MC Neat register their third consecutive top 10 album for Universal with the double mix set DJ Luck & MC Neat Present III. The album debuts at number seven with sales of nearly 16,000 copies.
