THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Number one for the third straight week, Gareth Gates' Unchained Melody has, on the face of it, proved as durable as fellow Pop Idol discovery Will Young's Anything Is Possible/Evergreen – though length of chart reign is not everything and Gates' single is declining faster from a lower peak. On his third week at number one, Young sold more than 99,000 units, and had a cumulative total of 1,584,798. Gates' single sold a comparatively small 77,000 units last week, to bring its three-week total to 1,156,277.

Of course, it is only compared with Young that Gates' single seems sluggish – in reality it is already the 51st biggest seller of all-time, easily the third million-seller ever by a teenager, emulating Paul Anka's 1957 hit Diana and Britney Spears' 1999 debut ...Baby One More Time. Ironically, Gates' single this week prevents Spears from registering her fourth number one.

Cliff Richard and Eiton John are among the five biggest singles chart acts of all-time in terms of number of hits – but both fall well short of their usual mark this week, with Richard's Let Me Be The One debuting at number 29 and John's Original Sin debuting at number 39. There will be those who suggest that they are in terminal decline – but both

SINGLE FACTFILE

Her personal life may be in difficulties at the moment, if reports are to be believed, but Britney Spears' chart career is doing just fine. The 21-year-old singer registers her 11th straight hit this week with I'm Not A Girl, Not Yet A Woman, which debuts at number two to become her highest charting hit since Oops...I Did It Again reached number one in May 2000. I'm Not A Girl is the third and highest-charting single from Spears' current album Britney.

Both I'm A Slave 4 U and Overprotected debuted and peaked at number four. I'm Not A Girl sold just more than 40,000 units last week, fewer than Slave's opening score of 52,000 but better than Overprotected's 35,500. The Britney album has responded well to the stimulus it has been given by the current single, moving 45-35-20 in the past fortnight, only charting higher on two of the previous 21 weeks since its release.

have had similar slumps in the past only to return stronger than ever. (They even collaborated in 1986 for Slow Rivers, which peaked at number 44.) Richard can point to lack of airplay – Let Me Be The One logged a paltry 13 plays last week – although John's single is doing okay on radio, and moves 49-38 on the Music Control airplay chart this week, with 358 spins. Either way, there is more to these artists than hit singles, and both have seen their current albums outsell their last studio efforts. John's Songs From The West Coast has sold more than 470,000 to date, easily topping the 315,000 tally of 1997's The Big Picture. Meanwhile, Richard's Wanted has sold more than 174,000, far more than the 97,000 tally of 1998's Real As I Wanna Be.

Hermes House Band's Country Roads reached number seven in December but their follow-up Que Sera Sera debuts this week at number 53. Country Roads was helped by being number one in Scotland but Que Sera Sera ranks only 40th north of the border.

MUSIC WEEK 13 APRIL 2002

by ALAN JONES

ANew Day Has Come by Celine Dion continues its reign at the top of the albums chart despite declining 56% on its second week in the shops. It sold nearly 39,000 units last week to add to its near 90,000 tally of the week before, and is already the 23rd biggest seller of the year. Dion actually achieved the rare double of topping both the full-price and budget album charts last week, when The French Album led the latter list. It suffers a tumble this week, however, slumping to number 28.

Pet Shop Boys' current single Home And Dry failed to make the Top 10 but it seems to have had no ill effect on their Release album, debuting at number seven after selling more than 18,000 units. That is the same debut position as their last album, 1999's Nightlife, achieved with a 17,000 sale. Release is the duo's 12th album, and the 10th in a row to make the Top 10. Incidentally, the Pet Shop Boys' close friend and sometime collaborator Liza Minnelli was just 47 sales short of the Top 75 this week, with her new "best of" set, Life Is A Cabaret.

As recently as 1995, Simple Minds had a

After a split with former Savage Garden colleague Daniel Jones, Darren Hayes has managed to maintain the impetus of his old band. Savage Garden reached number two with their self-titled 1998 debut and number seven with the 1999 follow-up Affirmation, both of which went triple platinum, with sales of 992,000 and 927,000 respectively. Hayes continues his Top 10 streak this week, debuting at number two with his first solo set Spin. The album includes the single Insatiable, which reached number eight a fortnight ago, and sold more than 32,500 units last week. Twenty-nine-year-old Hayes, from Brisbane, was 6,000 sales short of becoming the first Australian male solo artist to top the chart since Jason Donovan in 1989 (Peter Andre topped in 1996 but was born in the UK before migrating as a child).

which got to number 19. A Best Of Simple Minds set reached only number 34 last November – but it is still something of a surprise to find their new album Cry falling short of the published chart this week. Although it was in the Top 75 midweek, it eventually has to settle for a number 80 debut. The first single from the album, Cry, reached number 47 a fortnight ago.

Stereophonics' latest single Vegas Two Times enters the chart this week at number 23 – making it the Welsh band's lowest charting single since 1997, when More Life Than A Tramp's Vest reached number 33. They can be excused, however. Vegas Two Times is the fifth single from their current album Just Enough Education To Perform, which is quadruple platinum. The number four album of 2001 when it sold 946,000, it is the biggest-seller of 2002 to date, with a further 375,000 sales so far. The album was released exactly a year ago, and moves 17-15 this week.

COMPILATIONS

The arrival of three new albums in the Top 10 is not nearly enough to prevent a 33% decline in sales in the compilation sector week-on-week. Last week, of course, the market bounded forward as the arrival of Now That's What I Call Music! 51 and Easter gift-buying conspired to produce a bumper 64% hike in sales. Now! 51 suffers a bigger hangover than most, with second week sales of just 108,000. That is a 52% decrease week-on-week, while its main rival, Hits 52 – which remains at number two – is down 43%. In unit terms, however, it is still something of a walkover for Now! 51, which sold seven copies for every two of its rival. The compilation sector as a whole is having a tough time, probably because, as in Germany, it is more susceptible to the effects of home CD-burning, and the most septible of all are those which gather together big hits, such as Now! 51.

In unit terms, Now! 51 is slightly ahead of its 2000 equivalent Now! 45 at the same stage of its life, with 332,000 sales compared to Now! 45's 331,000 but it is well behind last year's Now! 48, which scuttled to 454,000 sales in the same timeframe. However, Now! 51 accounted for just 18.2% of all compilation sales last week, while Now! 45 and Now! 48 were both still over the 25% mark at a comparable stage.

This week's newcomers are a very mixed bunch, with BMG/Telstar's Electric (new romantic, Eighties) in at number six with sales of 13,000; EMI/Virgin's Lady Sings The Blues (female vocalists) in at number nine with sales of more than 8,000; and Universal Music Television's New Jack Swing throwback album (pretty much what it says it is) reaching 10th place with 7,000 sales.
