CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Ronan Keating lands the third number one single of his solo career from five starts, debuting in pole position with If Tomorrow Never Comes. The second single from his second solo album Destination, which is released next week, If Tomorrow Never Comes sold more than 147,500 copies last week, easily beating the 74,500 tally posted by his last single, Lovin' Each Day, on its number two debut in April 2001. His two previous solo number ones When You Say

SINGLE FACTFILE

Nothing At All and Life Is A Rollercoaster opened with sale of 197,500 and 194,500 respectively, although the latter title had slightly more than 100,000 ineligible sales because of extra multimedia content. Keating, of course, also had six number ones as a member of Boyzone, and his overall tally of nine number ones is the highest for any Irish artist save the band he formerly co-managed, Westlife, who have had 10, and should make it 11 with Bop Bop Baby in a fortnight.

1989 may or may not have been a significant time in the life of Irish pop svenagali Louis Walsh, but two of his charges – Ronan Keating and Bellefire – make the Top 20 this week with covers of songs from that year. Making the bigger splash, Keating debuts in pole position with If Tomorrow Never Comes, a cover of the breakthrough single from Garth Brooks' self-titled 1989 debut album. Brooks had not really crossed over at that point, so although the song topped America's country singles chart it never made the Hot 100, and a cover by Barry Manilow three years later had no luck either – although the song finally got in 1997 when R&B group Juice's cover landed to number 51. Bellefire's cover is of All I Want Is You, a number four hit for fellow Celts U2. The girl group's cover debuts this week at number 18, exactly matching the peak position of their only previous single, Perfect Bliss.

When Steps broke up, many believed it would spell the end of the chart careers of all concerned. That is emphatically not the case, as three of the five former members of the group make the list this week. Leading the way at number three, H & Claire's first single as a duo, DJ, extends to 15 their run of consecutive Top Five hits. Former colleague Faye Tozer's Someone Like You collaboration with classical tenor Russell Watson cannot match that but still makes a credible debut at number 10.

Hits from Tobago are few and far between – but brothers Nigel & Marvin plant Tobago's flag in the top five this week with Follow Da Leader, an update of one of the most popular calypso tracks of all time, which they first recorded way back in 1997, but which has now been revised to good effect.

Aaliyah topped the chart with her first posthumous hit More Than A Woman back in January but secures a more modest number 12 perch for Rock The Boat. Sadly, it was on her way home from recording the video for Rock The Boat that Aaliyah met her death in a plane crash. Despite the single's modest showing, its release has given a new lease of life to her Aaliyah album, which has returned to the Top 200 and should sell its 80,000th copy later this week.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

by ALAN JONES

The Doves' The Last Broadcast album continues at number one, despite declining by 57% last week. The album sold just under 22,500 copies, to establish not just a new low for the year but also a new five-year low for a number one album.

The 25th anniversary of the Jam's recording debut is celebrated on The Sound of The Jam, arguably the best single disc distillation of the group's material yet, with all of their hit singles and several other significant tracks among the 26 on the album. It opens well too, debuting at number three with more than 20,000 sales, to earn the group its highest chart position since Extras reached number two in 1991.

Two albums released last autumn finally reach the Top 10 this week. Kosheen's Resist reaps the cumulative benefit of spawning a trio of Top 20 singles: having re-entered the chart at number 42 three weeks ago, the album has since moved 34-21-8. Meanwhile, a combination of a major hit for the title track,

TV ads, sold out gigs and several TV performances have helped Mary J Blige's No More Drama to a 37-week peak, beating the number 13 position it reached in February. No More Drama has moved 55-49-30-18-12-5 in the last five weeks, and has now sold nearly garde opera in 1992, and explores Lewis Carroll's obsession with Alice Liddell, who inspired Alice In Wonderland and Through The Looking Glass, while Blood Money is based on the socio-political play Woyzeck, by German poet Georg Buchner. The albums bring Waits his eighth and ninth chart successes but, splitting sales as they do, both fail to match the number nine debut/peak of his last album, 1999's Mule Variations, which sold a little shy of 14,000 on release.

320,000 copies since its release last September.

After 10 consecutive weeks in the Top Five, and 15 weeks in a row in the Top 10, Nickelback's Silver Side Up has finally overhauled the Stereophonics' Just Enough Education To Perform to become the biggest-selling album of the year to date, with 417,000 sales.

70-year-old John Williams' latest effort – Star Wars Episode II: Attack Of The Clones – entered the album chart at 15 last week, while this week sees his Harry Potter score, which originally peaked at 19 last October, re-enter the chart at number 59. Of course, the royalties Williams will receive from Harry Potter album sales will be dwarfed by his income from the movie video, which went on release on Saturday and sold 927,000 copies in a day, helped by savage discounting which saw one retailer (Dixon's) knock £10 off the recommended £22.99 price of the two-disc set.

COMPILATIONS

After four weeks at number one, Pop Idol – The Big Band Album surrenders its title to Now That's What I Call Music! 51. Now! 51 was dethroned last month but returns to the summit by dint of having its sales fall at a slower rate than the Pop Idol album. Now! 51 dipped by 22% last week but its 24,500 sales were nearly 2,000 more than Pop Idol, which suffered a 44% slump. Now! 51 previously spent just two weeks at number one, a shorter reign than any regular Now release since the chart was established in 1989. However, it is the first Now album ever to return to number one. The Pop Idol album's total sales of 315,000 also put it a distant second to Now! 51 in the year-to-date compilation chart – although Now! 51's sales of 527,000 copies in seven weeks in the shops trail behind the sales of the last few spring Now releases at the same stage of their lives.

Last year's Now! 48 had sold 739,000 on its way to 868,000 sales, while 2000's Now! 45 was on 564,000 out of 677,000, and 1999's Now! 42 had reached 591,000 on its way to 745,000. But Now! 51 is outpacing the spring 1998 release Now! 39, which had sold 505,000 after seven weeks, and went on to reach 674,000 sales.

EMI/Virgin's Future Trance takes highest debut honours, entering the chart at three with just under 15,000 buyers. A thousand sales fewer earn Kerrang! 3 – The Album a four debut. Capitalising on the popularity of rock and the Kerrang! brand to become the highest charting album in the series, beating the nine peak of Kerrang! 1 – The Album, and the eight peak of Kerrang! 2 – The Album.
