THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS SINGLES

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Singles sales slipped by six percent last week but remained above the million mark at 1,020,000, making it the first time this year we have had a seven figure sale for two weeks in a row. The main contribution, of course, is Will Young's Light My Fire, which cornered a 17.31% share of the overall market. Impressive as that is, it is still a far cry from 54.93% first week share won by his debut hit Anything Is Possible/Evergreen.

In case it has escaped your notice, the World Cup is once again upon us, and a flurry of related singles flooded the chart this week. Leading the way at number three (and, very surprisingly, number eight in Scotland) is Ant c's first single in five years, We're On 3all. Their 14th hit in all, it sold nearly 65,000 copies last week and is their biggest hit by far, beating the number nine peak scaled by their 1994 single Let's Get Ready To Rumble, at which point they were styled as PJ & Duncan. DJ Otzi and Dario G's cash-in remixes of earlier hits are among the other rock songs, and was introduced by the Doors on their eponymous 1967 debut album. As a single, it was all but overlooked originally, however, peaking at a disappointing number 49. It fared much better when reissued in 1991, reaching a highly creditable number seven. In the interim, it was a Top 10 hit twice, first for Jose Feliciano (number six, 1968) and then for Amii Stewart (number five, 1979). It has also been a minor hit for Mike Flowers and UB40.

the World Cup, re-enters the chart at number 34. Other football hits debuting this week – Goldenballs by Bell & Spurling (number 25), Go England by the England Boys (number 26), Over There by Babe Team (number 45) and We're Coming Over by Mr. Smash & Friends (number 67), while the already charting England Crazy by Rider & Terry Venables slips 46-58. While the eight to chart thus far is moderate compared to the 15 football-related singles that made the Top 75 during World Cup 1998, there are more to come, including Elvis Presley's A Little Less Conversation and Baddiel & Skinner's 3 Lions.

Twenty-five years ago this very week, the Sex Pistols' God Save The Queen dashed 11-2 on the singles chart, being denied top billing during the Queen's Silver Jubilee by Rod Stewart's I Don't Want to Talk About It. Re-released to coincide with the Queen's Golden Jubilee and to celebrate its own Silver Jubilee, the record makes a smaller impact this time around by debuting at 15.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTMINSTER

Seven reasons why you might not be considering our Masters degree in Music Business Management

- I know enough. Enough for now or enough to get you where you want to go?
- I could teach a thing or two. How about developing your experience and knowledge with other professionals?
- I have a good job. How much security do you have in a rapidly changing environment?
- I want a life. Family and social time is essential, but how do you make time for professional and personal development as well?
- I am too tired. Why are you too tired? Could you work smarter, not just harder?
- I am too broke. Are you investing in your future, your creativity and intellectual capacity?
- I want something useful. How do you reflect on your work and find fresh uses for your knowledge?

You should be considering it. Take advantage of our full or part-time course, enrolling now for September 2002.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Only four rap albums have ever topped the chart – and Eminem has two of them. A week after becoming the first rapper to have three number one singles, Eminem becomes the first to have two number one albums. He is thus responsible for half the rap albums to top the chart in the UK, the others being the Beastie Boys' Hello Nasty, a 1998 number one, and the Wu-Tang Clan's Wu-Tang Forever, which became the first ever rap album to top the chart, doing so five years ago next week, albeit with a first week sale of just 26,000 – barely a ninth as many as The Eminem Show sold last week.

Two weeks after their third hit Just A Little Bit and the singles chart, Liberty X make a valuable album chart debut, entering at number three with Thinking It Over. The album sold more than 44,000 copies last week – enough in some recent weeks to have earned them a number one. It compares very favourably with their PopStars vanquishers Hear/Say's latest album Everybody, which

ALBUMS FACTFILE

The only rapper to have a UK number one album since the Beastie Boys' Hello Nasty ruled the roost four years ago, Eminem makes it two in a row, taking pole position with The Eminem Show some 23 months after The Marshall Mathers LP topped the chart. The Marshall Mathers LP took five weeks to reach number one, but spent its first 25 weeks in the Top 10 on the way to a sale which is just about to break the 2m mark, while Eminem's debut set The Slim Shady LP, took more than a year to register its one and only Top 10 appearance and has sold 700,000 copies so far. The Eminem Show sold more than 228,000 copies last week, the highest ever first week sale for a hip-hop album, and four times as many sales as earn Ronan Keating the number two slot with his Destination album, which was itself number one last week charted at number 24 last December, with first week sales of nearly 38,000. There are two other newcomers to the Top

10 this week – jazz singer Norah Jones' Come Away With Me increases sales for the seventh straight week and jumps 11-8, while dance act Ian Van Dahl's reward for three consecutive Top 10 singles is a number seven debut with Ace.

A1's opening sequence of Top 10 singles spluttered to a halt last month when Make It Good debuted at number 11. Their latest album, named after that single and also including their eighth and last Top 10 single Caught In The Middle, does surprisingly well nevertheless. A1's previous albums Here We Come and The A List reached numbers 20 and 14 respectively, and Make It Good is in similar territory, debuting at number 15.

The screening of the Classical Brits gave many participants and award winners a big boost, most notably Andrea Bocelli and Operababes. Andrea Bocelli's Cielo Di Toscana explodes 175-16, achieving its highest position since last October with week-on-week sales up 1257%, while the Operababes' debut set Beyond Imagination makes a fine number 26 debut.

COMPILATIONS

The Ministry Of Sound has been scoring number one compilations at a slower rate in the last year or so, but registers its second of 2002 and its 24th in total with Clubber's Guide To...Ibiza 2002. The 10th album in the Clubber's Guide series, it is the seventh to reach number one, and follows Clubber's Guide To...2002, which reached number one in January. Its 2001 equivalent, Clubber's Guide To...Ibiza 2001 did not reach the summit, however. It debuted at number six exactly a year ago, with first week sales of 20,500 and peaked at number four the following week with a sale of 20,000. Clubber's Guide To...Ibiza 2002 – which includes hits like Sunglasses At Night by Tiga & Zyntherius and Love Will Set You Free by Starchaser – fared much better than that last week, with sales of finally less than 30,000 helping it to crown The Best Summer Album 2002.

BMG's Eurovision Song Contest compilation – featuring all the competing songs – earned a number 40 compilation chart placing and overall sales of 4,000 last year, enough for them to repeat the title with more success this year. The 2002 album, which was helped by a competition on Radio 2 boosting awareness, has sold nearly as many already (3,800) just two weeks into its life. It jumps 42-33 on the chart this week, with sales up 57% week-on-week.

Three football compilations appear in the Top 20 this week, with EMI/Virgin's Best Unofficial Football Anthems Ever improving 7-3, while WSM's Jumpers For Goalposts debuts at number four, and UMTV's Beautiful Game is in at 16. The Sven Goran Eriksson Classical Collection – which has sold 10,000 copies in the last eight weeks – also improves, moving 84-75.
