CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

At a time when singles sales are at their lowest for years, BMG has chosen to delete A Little Less Conversation – Elvis Presley's first number one in 25 years – while demand is still high. Regarded by many as a cynical move to ensure that Gareth Gates registers his second number one next week, it came too late to prevent A Little Less Conversation from becoming the third single this year to complete four weeks at number one – emulating Gates' debut hit Unchained Melody and Hero by Enrique Iglesias – although its sales, at less than 58,000, were the lowest for a number one for 12 weeks.

Prime amongst those who tried but failed to replace Presley, 18-year veteran act Red Hot Chili Peppers register by far their biggest hit yet, debuting at number two with the title track from their upcoming album By The Way. The single sold nearly 46,000 copies last week, and easily beats their previous top placing – number seven with their 1997 Ohio Players cover Love Rollercoaster – and the

A tumultuous private life, including rumours of diva-like demands, entanglement with Sean 'P Diddy' Combs and a second failed marriage, have not given Jennifer Lopez the best publicity since the release of her second album J.Lo. However the album has now generated five consecutive top five hits – six if we count both versions of Ain't It Funny, which reached number three in its original incarnation last August and number three in a remix in March – a record for a female solo artist. Lopez's latest hit I'm Gonna Be Alright features a rap from Nas and is the latest record to sample the Luniz's hit I Got Five On It. It debuts this week at number three after selling nearly 45,000 copies. Sales of J.Lo, which peaked at number two, amount to more than 495,000, while the number four remix album J To Tha Lo has sold more than 233,000.

number 30 placing won by their last single, Road Trippin'. It has undoubtedly been aided considerably by massive support from Radio

One, where it has been aired 60 times in the last fortnight – a tally beaten only by Nelly's Hot In Herre.

Making a comeback after a four-year absence, The Prodigy release their first single from upcoming album Always Outnumbered, Never Outgunned, Baby's Got A Temper debuts at five with nearly 27,000 buyers last week. Although radio was serviced with an edited version of the song, which references Rohypnol, few stations have been keen, and it currently ranks at 117 on the Music Control chart, with just 93 plays. Its airplay position would be much worse with out the patronage of Radio One, whose 11 plays provided nearly 85% of its total audience.

The Eighties revival and the use of Are "Friends" Electric? on the Sugababes' recent number one help Gary Numan to a 29 debut with RIP. It is the legend's highest charting new hit since 1987 – although a remix of Cars fared better in 1996 – and a vast improvement on the fortunes of his last single, Dominion Day, which peaked at number 89, or the four singles before that, peaking 95, 88, 91 and 92 respectively.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS ALBUMS

CHART COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Five weeks after The Eminem Show registered the year's highest first week sales tally of 228,297, Oasis narrowly beat it, with Heathen Chemistry selling 2,254 copies more last week, according to OCC data. The only other album to sell more than 100,000 copies in a week in the first half of 2002 was Ronan Keating's Destination, which sold 122,000 copies the week before Eminem debuted. By comparison, there were seven weeks in the first half of 2001 when albums topped the 100,000 mark but only one week in the first half of 2000 – that being when Oasis' Standing On The Shoulders Of Giants album opened with 311,000 sales.

Any way you slice it, although their Wembley concert disc Familiar To Millions – Oasis' last album before Heathen Chemistry – is easily their least successful album, it explodes 131-20 this week, occupying a higher chart berth than it has done since it debuted at number five in November 2000. It slumped to 29 the following week, and owes its current surge –

Figures show top 10 companies by % of total sales; and corporate group shares by % of total sales, of the Top 75 artist albums which takes it over the 200,000 sales mark – almost entirely to Woolworth's where it is priced at £2.99 as a "perfect partner" to buyers of Heathen Chemistry. Oasis' current album aside, the only other hit album in chart history to include the word

ALBUMS FACTFILE

Five regular albums and five number ones – that is the enviable record of Oasis, whose latest, Heathen Chemistry, debuts in pole position this week, with sales of more than 230,000. That is fewer than the 311,000 copies their last studio set (Standing On The Shoulder Of Giants) sold in the week of its release in 2000 – and both tallies are small beer compared to the achievements of 1997's Be Here Now, a Thursday release which sold 356,000 on its first day. Be Here Now continued at a cracking pace, selling 696,000 in three days to debut at number one. It sold a further 235,000 copies the following week, 813,000 in its first seven days in the shops, and topped the million sales mark in 11 days. Other first week tallies for Oasis number ones: Definitely Maybe – 86,000 and What's The Story Morning Glory – 345,000.

'Heathen' in its title is David Bowie's latest set – entitled simply Heathen – which debuted at number five three weeks ago and had slipped fairly rapidly to number 27 last week. It was lower still, at number 34, on Friday's sales flashes. But it eventually increased sales more than 55% week-on-week and climbs to number 19, thanks to Bowie's special with Jonathan Ross. If Eminem's reign of the chart had not been ended by Oasis, he would have fallen to Nelly, who also dispatched him from the top of the US album chart this week. Nelly's Nellyville album sold nearly 38,000 copies last week – a far cry from Oasis' tally but over 5,000 more than The Eminem Show sold. Nellyville's high-flying debut is in sharp contrast to the St. Louis rapper's debut album Country Grammar, which took several weeks to chart here in response to the hit single of the same name, and never climbed higher than number 14, although it has sold 238,000 copies to date.

COMPILATIONS

After storming to the top of the compilation chart last week, the AATW/Universal Music Television dance set Clubland – The Ride Of Your Life enjoys an even better second week, defying a 4% dip in the overall market to register an 8% increase week-on-week to 50,750 sales.

The album, which includes club hits like I Would Die For U by Space Cowboy and the original English language version of Kiss Kiss by American singer Stella Soleil, is thus far too strong for the third in Columbia's collaborations with School Disco.Com, whose latest release – School Disco.Com: Summer Holiday – debuts at number two but far behind with sales of less than 23,000.

The first School Disco album reached number nine last October and the Spring '99 edition rocketed to the top of the chart in February but had far weaker opposition than the current edition, and did so with first week sales a couple of hundred lower than the Summer Holiday set sold last week. The success of School Disco.Com – based on the enormously successful club nights which are sold out throughout the UK – is, spawning imitators, with Beechwood's Back 2 Skool – also featuring a scantily clad schoolgirl on its sleeve and covering similar (largely '80s) music – also hitting the shops last week, though far less successfully. And there is even a Jive Bunny School Disco album.

Among the 'classic tracks' included on School Disco.Com: Summer Holiday are Dizzy by Vic Reeves and the Wonderstuff, Y Viva Espana by Sylvia Copacabana (At The Copa) by Barry Manilow and I'm In The Mood For Dancing by the Nolans.
