SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

As an 18-year-old, Christina Aguilera launched her chart career in spectacular style in 1999, selling more than 172,000 copies to debut at number one with Genie In A Bottle, which stayed at the apex for a fortnight before giving way to Westlife's Flying Without Wings. Three years on Aguilera, now 21, gets her revenge on Westlife, as her latest single, Dirrty, replaces their Unbreakable at number one. Co-written by Aguilera and featuring a rap cameo from Redman, Dirrty is the first single from her new album Stripped, and sold nearly 74,000 copies last week. Surprisingly, given the fact the US Hot 100 is dominated by R&B product, the record did not go down nearly as well in the US, where it peaked a few weeks ago at number 48. Despite its UK success, Dirrty cannot halt Stripped's decline on the album chart, where it has moved 19-29-40 since its debut two weeks ago.

Suffering a double-digit decline for the second week in a row, the singles market was down more than 12% last week, with Christina Aguilera's Dirrty the only record to sell more than 40,000 copies. Taking advantage of the downturn, the former number one hit Dilemma by Nelly featuring Kelly Rowland climbs 3-2, even though its own sales were down 28% week-on-week to 39,500. Aguilera's comfortable victory came despite the fact that two acts whose last single reached number one (Sugababes and Blazin' Squad) put out new singles last week.

In Sugababes' case, it is actually their last singles which reached number one but fail to join the exclusive trio of girl acts (Spice Girls, All Saints and B*Witched) who have had three number ones in a row, having to settle instead for a number seven debut for Stronger/Angels With Dirty Faces.

Meanwhile, Kylie Minogue registers her 24th Top 10 hit with Come Into My World. It is the fourth single from her album Fever, following the chart-topping Can't Get You Out Of My Head, the number three hit In Your Eyes and Love At First Sight, which reached number two.

Nineteen-year-old Michelle Branch is the latest star to emerge from Madonna's label, Maverick, and charted earlier this year with Everywhere (number 18) and All You Wanted (number 33). At the moment, though, she is on loan to Arista, as guest vocalist on the latest Santana single The Game Of Love, which tops the success of her solo hits by debuting at number 16. It is the first single from the new Santana album Shaman, which also includes guest vocals from Musiq, Seal, Macy Gray, Chad Kroeger, Dido and Placido Domingo.

Acoustic metal/comedy duo Tenacious D's self-titled debut album is full of songs with titles such as Cock Push Ups, but they make their singles chart debut this week with the comparably clean Wonderboy. Their album has developed a cult following with DJs such as Jonathan Ross, and has sold more than 98,500 copies since its release at the end of June. It has chalked up 20 weeks in the Top 75, even though it has never charted higher than number 38, a position it reached on its eighth week. It dips 44-54 this week, even though its sales are up for the fourth week in a row, with a best-yet 7,600 sales last week.

THE OFFICIAL UK CHARTS

ALBUMS

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Setting off in pursuit of their fourth consecutive million-selling album, Westlife romp to the top of the chart with ease, after selling nearly 188,000 copies of Unbreakable – The Greatest Hits Vol. 1. The album, which includes all of their 13 singles and 11 number ones to date and some new songs, gives the band their third consecutive number one album. Only their self-titled debut, which debuted and peaked at number two in 1999, failed to reach the summit. Their last album, World Of Our Own, sold 178,000 on its debut at number one exactly a year ago. Fifty-three weeks earlier, Coast To Coast opened on top with a first-week tally of 235,000, and 53 weeks before that, Westlife opened its account with 83,000. Thus far Westlife has sold 1,418,000, Coast To Coast has sold 1,644,000 and World Of Our Own has sold 1,109,000.

Westlife top the 21st century singles rankings with six number ones, and move to the top of the album ranking, registering their third straight number one album with Unbreakable – The Greatest Hits Vol. 1, although Robbie Williams is certain to register his third number one of the 21st century next week. For the moment, however, Unbreakable is a very comfortable number one, its tally of nearly 188,000 sales last week proving considerably more than the combined tally of runners-up Blue's One Love (84,000 sales) and third-placed Elton John's 74,000 coming with The Greatest Hits 1970-2002.

John's album is the first compilation of his hits assembled since 1990's chart-topping The Very Best Of Elton John, aside from Love Songs in 1994 (a number four album) which excluded the likes of Saturday Night's Alright For Fighting. It is his 16th top three album.

Craig David's 2000 debut Born To Do It sold more than 225,000 copies on the week of its release in August 2000, and has since topped that tally to 1,736,000. His follow-up, Slicker Than Your Average, opens this week at number four with nearly 54,000 takers, following the number eight peak of its introductory single What's Your Flava last month. Exactly a year ago, Westlife were the only act in the top seven with an album which was not a "greatest hits" set but, although they have now fallen in line, there are considerably fewer compilations in the chart this year than last. Seven of the Top 10 and 19 of the Top 40 were compilations in this week in 2002, compared with three in the Top 10 and 11 in the Top 40 this week.

A week after her latest single Music Gets The Best Of Me peaked at number 14, Sophie Ellis-Bextor's Read My Lips rebounds 79.19 to achieve its highest placing for four months. The album, which peaked at number two in June and has sold more than 655,000 copies, was the subject of a major campaign last week, and was widely available at £9.99.

Meanwhile, big increases for Darren Hayes (137.29), Shakira (64.39) and Anastacia (Freak Of Nature re-enters at number 79) all reflect the fact that their albums were repackaged last week with bonus discs. Alicia Keys' Songs In A Minor jumped 69.39 following a similar treatment three weeks ago.

COMPILATIONS

The most successful new compilation brand launched in 2002 is Clubland. A collaboration between Universal Music Television and highly successful independent dance label All Around The World, the series was launched in June with Clubland – The Ride Of Your Life, which spent four weeks at number one, 10 weeks in the Top 10 and sold more than 330,000 copies – the fourth highest tally of the year, topped only by Now! 51, Now! 52 and the one-off Pop Idol Big Band Album. Last week saw the release of the follow-up, Clubland II – The Ride Of Your Life, which had little trouble in beating the 47,000 opening of its predecessor, soaring to nearly 61,000 sales to debut at number one.

The album includes hits such as The Ketchup Song (Asereje) by Las Ketchup, Alone by Lasgo and Reload by PPK, and is one of four debuts in the top five in a reinvigorated compilation chart, where sales are up 31% week-on-week. The other newcomers: The Very Best Of Euphoria at number three with sales of 24,500, All Time Classic Tearjerkers at number four (21,000) and 50 Years Of The Greatest Hit Singles at number five (21,000). The sole survivor from last week's top five is the Ministry Of Sound's Annual 2003, which dips 1-2 with sales of 38,000, an 11% dip week-on-week.

Sales of Clubland II are very heavily skewed. The intensely commercial, fast-paced tracks which typify its contents have few fans in the south. In London, where the typical compilation achieved 26.0% of its sales last week, Clubland II managed a feeble 4.8%. By the same token, Clubland II almost doubled typical sales in northern England, Scotland and Ireland, more than making up for its shortfall in the south.
