SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Just three weeks before the 10th anniversary of its maiden release – Void by Exoterix – EMI's Positiva imprint registers its fifth number one with Room 5's Make Luv. Positiva's first number one since Spiller's Groovejet in August 2000, Make Luv is the work of Belgian-based Italian DJ Vito Lucente (pictured) and features the vocals of Oliver Cheatham, apparently re-recorded from his 1983 number 38 hit Get Down Saturday Night. With apologies to DJ

SINGLES FACTFILE

OTZI, DJ Sammy and their ilk, Make Luv is the first credible dance hit to top the sales chart since Roger Sanchez's Another Chance in July 2001. Originally licensed from PIAS, it was first promoted for the Winter Music Conference in Miami last year (it was selected for MW's Miami Beachplugging 2002 CD) and built profile at Ibiza last summer. Its release was then held back to capitalise on its use in the current Lynx deodorant ad.

Proving that dance music is still very much alive and kicking, Room 5's Make Luv single sold more than 111,000 copies last week to debut at number one with a handsome 71% lead over Gareth Gates feat. The Kumars' Spirit In The Sky, which dips to number two after two weeks at the top of the chart. Although singles sales last week were nearly 28% below their level for the same week in 2002, the 802,000 singles sold represents their second best tally thus far in 2003 – and the number one single has topped the 100,000 sales mark for three weeks in a row, a feat not achieved until May last year.

Sales of Spirit In The Sky were off 44% last week, to a little over 65,000 copies, bringing its record's 20-day tally to 456,000, some 138,000 more than the year's second biggest hit, All The Things She Said by tATu.

Westlife have had more number ones in the 21st century than any other act (six) but can't make it seven this week, as Tonight has to settle for number three with sales of 49,000.

YEAR TO DATE VERSUS LAST YEAR: -35.1%

PERCENTAGE OF UK ACTS IN THE CHART

UK: 69.3% US: 28.0% Other: 2.7%

It is the group's 14th consecutive Top Five hit, a tally which includes 11 number ones.

Mariah Carey's second Def Jam single Boy

(I Need You) debuts at number 17 this week, nine places below the peak of her first, Through The Rain. Both tracks are on Carey's debut Def Jam album Charmbracelet, which peaked at number 52 last November, compared to the number 10 peak of Glitter, her only release for Virgin. However, while Glitter has thus far sold only 49,000 copies, Charmbracelet has quietly sold 72,500, and re-enters the chart this week at number 149.

Although Coldplay's second album A Rush Of Blood To The Head has sold more than 1,500,000 copies, creative marketing of the album's third single Clocks earns it a place in the Top 10 this week. In My Place, the introductory single from the album, reached number two last August, The Scientist reached number 10 in November, and this week Clocks debuts at number nine, primarily because the group's avid fans bought the CD version for exclusive live tracks and the DVD version for two new songs. Ironically, with albums more suitable for Mother's Day taking precedence, A Rush Of Blood To The Head slides 2-7 on the album chart despite upping sales 14% week-on-week.

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Linkin Park's 2000 debut album Hybrid Theory was a slow starter, selling just 238 copies on its first week in the shops but spinning off four hits of growing magnitude - One Step Closer, Crawling, Papercut and In The End - as it matured into a monster hit, reaching its peak position of number four exactly a year after its release, and topping the 1m sales mark a couple of weeks ago. Their eagerly awaited follow-up, Meteora, was released last week and sold more than 93,000 copies to debut at number one. The album is also expected to enter the US chart at number one next week, with sales projections there suggesting it may debut with first-week sales around 10 times its UK level. Although Meteora is Linkin Park's second album proper, a remix set, Reanimation, reached number three last August and has thus far sold nearly 150,000 copies.

A combination of new albums by Linkin Park, Simply Red and Celine Dion and Mother's Day gift-buying boosted the albums market by 47% last week to a year's best tally of 3,249,000, of which artist albums accounted for 2,523,000. Both figures are the highest yet of 2003, and compare more than favourably with last year's Mother's Day/Easter figures. Mother's Day fell three weeks earlier last year and produced an 11.3% jump in sales to 2,723,000, while the last week in March last year was actually Easter week and produced a 38.2% increase in sales to 3,053,000. Last week's tally was thus 6.4% above the same week (Easter week) last year and 19.3% above the Mother's Day week for 2002.

Although Linkin Park take the albums chart prize this week, Simply Red's Home album ran Linkin Park a close second, selling more than 87,000 copies. Although Mick Hucknall and his cohorts have had five previous number ones, it represents a major return to favour following the relative failure of their last album It's Only Love, which debuted and peaked at number 27 in 2000, with first week sales of less than 19,000 and a cumulative total of 134,000. It was to be their last album for Warner Music - and it probably hasn't escaped their notice that their debut Simplyred.com/Ministry Of Sound album is kept off the top of the albums chart only by another Warner Music act. A year ago to the week after her last album A New Day Has Come debuted at number one with sales of 89,000, Celine Dion's follow-up One Heart has to settle for fourth spot after selling more than 73,500 copies. A New Day Has Come was Dion's first regular album since 1997, so One Heart's release so soon after may be viewed as surprising. But, despite the fact that it spent its first four weeks at number one, A New Day Has Come was Dion's least successful regular album since her breakthrough, selling just 389,000 copies. Mick Hucknall isn't the only Mancunian to stage a triumphant return to the chart this week - The Hollies do too. The Sixties veterans' Greatest Hits album, which marks their 40th anniversary, grew in strength through the week to debut at number 21.

COMPILATIONS

Every year thus far in the 21st century, the number one album on Mother's Day has been an album specifically tailored to the day - but not this year. Although usual contenders New Woman and All Woman have new volumes ranked second and third this week, the winner of this year's tussle is The Very Best Of Cold Feet. Universal Music TV's compilation of tracks heard in the recently completed and extremely popular ITV drama/comedy rode a 52.4% increase in demand last week to sell more than 52,000 copies and safely secure its third week at number one. New Woman 2003 sold fractionally under 50,000 to debut at number two, while The Very Best Of All Woman 2003 improved 4.3 with sales of 32,000. Although New Woman 2003 therefore fails to emulate New Woman 2002 in topping the chart, its sales last week were higher than the 43,000 which won the latter the crown last year. Both New Woman and All Woman albums fade quickly once Mother's Day has gone, as shown by the fact that New Woman 2002's cumulative sales of 85,500 indicate that it has sold fewer copies in the year since its debut than it did in its first week. One interesting aspect of the struggle between the two series is that although New Woman invariably gets the higher chart placing it does so by being released a week later, while All Woman profits from spreading the bulk of its sales over two weeks instead of one. The Very Best Of All Woman 2002 sold 95,000 copies, nearly 10,000 more than New Woman 2002, despite peaking lower. That pattern may alter this year, however, as the Very Best Of All Woman 2003 has sold 5,000 copies fewer than All Woman 2003 despite getting a week's start on it.
