SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Last week, overseas acts filled the top three places on the chart but this week homegrown heroes take over, with debuts at one, two and three from developing UK acts Busted, Lisa Maffia and David Sneddon.

Sneddon famously won BBC's Fame Academy and topped the chart with his debut single Stop Living The Lie in January, with first-week sales of 103,000. His follow-up, Don't Let Go, sold less than a quarter as many last week – just more than 25,000 – and has to settle for a number three debut, except in Scotland, where it gives him a second consecutive number one, finishing a convincing 73% ahead of nearest challengers Busted.

As a member of So Solid Crew, Lisa Maffia had only 21 seconds of glory on the group's 2001 chart-topper of the same name. Following in the footsteps of Romeo and Harvey, she becomes the latest member to taste solo success this week, with All Over. Although debuting at number two, All Over never challenged Busted's You Said No, and sales of 128,000. The follow-up Year 3000 opened a notch higher at number two, and also sold more copies, with a first-week tally of 35,500 and a cumulative sale of 160,000. The band's self-titled debut album was released a fortnight after their first single and naturally made a slow start, debuting at number 30. It peaked at two in February and has improved 25-20-14-7-5 in the last month, while increasing its cumulative sales to 386,000.

band dents the Top 10. Last week it was Irish upstarts D-Side who made an impact, debuting at number nine with Speechless. This week it is the turn of Triple Eight – a sort of nu-metal boy band – whose introductory single Knock Out debuts at number eight.

It is unusual to find an unproven artist survive a lengthy break after falling short of the Top 40 with three consecutive singles. V2 signing Billy Crawford was tipped for stardom in 1998, but failed to deliver, with singles peaking at 48, 104 and 82. Now sounding somewhat more mature, Crawford, who is still only 20 and still signed to V2, makes his Top 40 debut this week with You Didn't Expect That at number 35.

Badly Drawn Boy registered his first Top 10 hit with You Were Right last October. It peaked at number nine, since when Damon Gough has suffered a bit of a decline on singles, peaking at number 16 with the follow-up Born Again in January, and having to settle for a number 24 debut this week for All Possibilities.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

So why did the Beeb ban Hot Hot Heat's single "Bandages" from the airwaves, and how did Blue's single "You make Me Wanna (Surrender My Soul)" get by the censors?

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

She may have failed to register the 11th number one single of her career with American Life, but Madonna still picks up her eighth number one LP with the album of the same name. However, as the single slumps 2-12, suggesting it sold little outside Madonna's core fanbase, the album's first-week sales of 65,000 are significantly less than those of her previous album – Music, which opened with 152,000 sales in 2000 – and the hits package GHV2, which sold 88,500 copies to debut at number two in November 2001. Before American Life, Madonna topped the chart with Like A Virgin (1984), True Blue (1986), Like A Prayer (1989), The Immaculate Collection (1990), Evita (1997), Ray Of Light (1998) and Music (2000). Madonna has the highest tally of number ones by a female solo artist, with Celine Dion in second place with five number ones.

New albums by two venerated American veterans help to keep the post-Easter slump in artist album sales – usually well into double figures – down to a comparatively modest 6%. Madonna's American Life takes pole position with £5,000 sales, while Meat Loaf's introductory Mercury album Couldn't Have Said It Better enters at number four, with more than 33,000 sales.

The latter is Meat Loaf's first album of new material since 1995, when his final Virgin release, Welcome To The Neighbourhood, opened and peaked at number three with first-week sales of 52,000. American acts – Justin Timberlake and The White Stripes – also fill and third place on the chart, with the highest-ranked UK act being Busted at number five. Timberlake's Justified sold more than 39,000 copies in the week, enough for it to return to the top of the year-to-date rankings ahead of Norah Jones' Come Away With Me.

The Madonna and Meat Loaf discs were the only new releases with enough support to enter the chart. One of the artists taking advantage of this lull to streak ahead is Robbie Williams, whose Escapology set improves 24-

16, with a 42.5% increase in sales week-on-week. Williams' improvement is partly due to exposure for the current single Come Undone and partly to an £8.99 deal on the album at Woolworths, which helped the retailer to sell 274% as many copies as it might otherwise have based on its overall market share and Come Undone's total sales. Escapology is currently in its highest position for 12 weeks.

Growing support for Craig David's new single Rise & Fall helps his second album Slicker Than Your Average to a 63-31 leap. The album enjoyed a 79.7% spurt in sales last week and has climbed five weeks in a row from a low position of 117. It has sold more than 330,000 copies since its release last November.

Looking to become the latest US rockers to break the UK market, Good Charlotte enter the Top 20 for the first time with their debut album The Young And The Hopeless this week. The album has been ever-present in the Top 75 since its debut 15 weeks ago, and has sold 104,000 copies thus far. It has climbed 44 places in three weeks as airplay support grows for the single Girls And Boys.

COMPILATIONS

Although it enjoys a comfortable victory atop the albums chart, selling nearly as many copies as the rest of the top five added together, Now That's What I Call Music! 54 is not faring nearly so well as is customary for the all-conquering series. It sold just shy of 90,000 copies last week, suffering a week-on-week decline of 51%. It thus breaks a string of 20 consecutive Now! albums – from Now! 34 to Now! 53 inclusive – to achieve sales of more than 100,000 on each of their first two weeks in the chart. The last album to fail to do so was Now! 33 in the spring of 1996. Now 33! achieved a lacklustre first-week sale of around 75,000 and slipped to 56,000 the following week.

The only new entry to the Top 20 this week is Hope, the Warcild/Daily Mirror charity album in support of Iraqi aid projects.

Debuting at number six, the album, on Warner

Music's London label, sold more than 15,500 copies and includes exclusive tracks by George Michael, Paul McCartney, Ms Dynamite, Avril Lavigne, Travis and 13 others.

The latest reality TV sensation, Reborn In The USA, reached its climax on Saturday with Tony Hadley triumphing against Michelle Gayle. Despite the series' success, a spin-off album, featuring Hadley, Gayle and the other acts who toured the US by bus, sold fewer than 2,500 copies last week and limps to a number 35 debut. Hadley has two albums out today – Universal Music TV's True Ballads, which is a full-price effort and The State Of Play, a budget album from EMI Gold, which also releases a new album by Peter Cox, who finished third in the competition. True Ballads includes many of the songs Hadley cut for Reborn In The USA, among them his Spandau Ballet hit Through The Barricades.
