SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Taking pole position for the third week in a row, R. Kelly's Ignition suffered only a 7% dip in sales week-on-week, beating the overall singles market, which declined 10%. Kelly's single sold more than 67,000 copies last week, to take its 20 day come to 210,000. That is enough for it to leap 15-8 in the year-to-date chart, in which it will rank fourth a week hence, Kelly's position was never in doubt, and Ignition sold 76% more than nearest challenger Justin Timberlake's Rock Your Body. The last R&B record to spend longer than Ignition at number one was "If Daddy and Faith Evans' I'll Be Missing in 1997.

The Stereophonics eagerly awaited fourth when You Gotta Go There To Come Back hits the shops a week today. Ahead of it, the introductory single Madame Helga debuts at number four, after selling more than 20,000 copies. It is the Stereophonics' first single since Vegas Two Times reached number 23 in April 2002, and improves their tally of hits to 17, of which only one - 1998's The Bartender And The Thief - has charted higher (number three), though the group has had a further four number four hits and two number fives.

The Bush/Blair Iraqi backlash, an unfavourable draw and a poor performance all conspired to produce the first ever "nul points" Eurovision result for the UK in Riga.

SINGLES FACTFILE

50,000 on its first week in the shops. At least part of the blame lies in the enormous success of his album Justified, which has sold some 960,000 copies thus far, reducing the potential sales of future singles. The simultaneous success of Ignition and Rock Your Body earn Jive the first one-two chart double of its 22 year existence and comes a week after Kelly and Timberlake helped it to have simultaneous number one album and singles for the first time ever.

the capital of Latvia on Saturday evening. Representatives - Jemini - put in a performance that was variously reported as "dreadful", "inept", "humiliating" and "dismal" in the Sunday newspapers. Perhaps the only Brit to take a crumb of comfort from Jemini's humbling was Nicki French, whose Don't Play That Song Again placed 16th in 2000, the previous lowest position registered by a UK act in the long-running competition. Jemini's ability to completely alienate the juries of all the other participants in this year's competition earned them 26th position. They were the first act not to register a single point since 1998, when Switzerland suffered the same indignity. For the record, the competition was won by 39-year-old Sertab Erener from Turkey in a nail-biting three-way finish. Erener secured her win with the last vote from the last jury with 167 points. Belgium's Urban Trad were second with 165 points while tATu took third place for Russia a further point behind. Hosts Latvia finished 24th with five points.

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

ALBUMS FACTFILE

The Deftones' new self-titled album – their fourth full length studio effort – is off to a flying start this week, debuting at number seven. It is the Californian band's first ever Top 10 album, following the uncharted Adrenaline (1995), their seminal number 56 follow-up Around The Fur (1997) and their 2000 effort White Pony, which climbed to number 13. Despite their very different chart peaks, all three albums have sold almost the same number of copies – Around The Fur leads the way with 84,000, Adrenaline sold 81,000 and White Pony at 79,500. Their live album Back To School, a 2001 release which peaked at number 35, found 41,000 buyers. The Deftones includes the recently released Minerva which provided the band with its biggest hit single to date, peaking at number 15 earlier this month. The album sold nearly 20,000 copies last week, and should get a further boost from the band's appearance at the Download Festival this Saturday (31 May).

Number one single for Justin Timberlake, but he can take solace in the fact that his debut solo album Justified was easily the best-selling album again last week. In its sixth week at number one, the album registered a 13% increase in sales to more than 48,000, more than 19,000 more than runners-up the White Stripes' Elephant.

Hit singles also helped albums by Big Brovaz, Sean Paul and George Harrison to reach new peaks.

Favourite things is the third hit from Big Brovaz's debut album Nu-Flow and has moved it into an altogether higher orbit than its first two. The album entered the Top 20 for the first time last week after 28 weeks on release, and now sprints 12-6, with 20,000 sales in the week lifting its overall tally to more than 150,000.

Meanwhile, Sean Paul, who scored his second straight Top 5 hit with Get Busy last week, has enjoyed steady sales of his album

Dutty Rock since its release last November but the album had never reached the Top 75 until TV and radio exposure for Get Busy kicked in a few weeks ago. In the last five weeks it has enjoyed explosive growth, however, moving 145-88-62-45-29-17. Its sales were up more than 78% last week at over 13,000, taking its cumulative to more than 72,000.

And the re-promotion of the Harrison's posthumous Brainwashed album, follows the Top 40 placing achieved by the single Any Road, by itself making the Top 40 for the first time. The album, which reached number 52 when released last November, charts this week at number 29, making it his highest charting album since Cloud Nine got to number 10 in 1987.

Evanescence's debut album Fallen has climbed the chart every week since its release, moving 18-12-6-3, despite the fact they have yet to release a single here. The album is responding to the enormous popularity of the group's upcoming debut single Bring Me To Life, which is getting massive radio and TV support. The single makes a premature debut on the Top 75 this week on import sales, debuting at number 60.

COMPILATIONS

In terms of sales, Now! That's What I Call Music 54 seems likely to be the least successful album in the all-conquering series in seven years, but in terms of chart success, it is one of the biggest. It spends a sixth consecutive week atop the chart, after selling a little more than 23,000 copies last week – over 4,000 more than the new runner-up Kiss Presents Hip Hop Classics, which improves 4-2 thanks to a 38% increase in sales week-on-week.

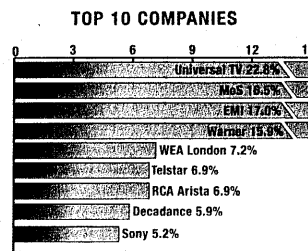

For the third year in a row, an album containing the year's Eurovision entries has made the Top 40. Two year ago, BMG issued Eurovision Song Contest 2001, and were rewarded with a number 40 placing on the chart, and sales of 4,250, despite a slow start which saw the album sell barely 500 pies on its first week in the shops. Eurovision Song Contest 2002 – Estonia peaked higher (number 33), started faster (1,500 first week sales) and sold more copies (6,600). The 2003 album, featuring all 26 songs performed in Riga last Saturday, enters the chart at number 35 this week, with sales of more than 2,000.

The Decadance label – a joint venture between the Ministry Of Sound and the Demon Music Group – has issued more than 50 albums since its 2001 inception, and achieves its highest charting compilation to date this week, as its 3CD set Piano Moods debuts at number six. The album, which sold more than 12,000 copies last week, is supported by an extensive TV campaign, and features interpretations of hits by relatively unknown pianists – if You're Not The One, Clocks and 1000 Miles, for example, are performed by David Stuart, the Miami DJ Collective and Cerise feat. Zoe, respectively.
