SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Apparently on schedule to give the band a fifth number one hit, S Club's 11th and last single, Say Goodbye, eventually faded to finish in second place, more than 6,000 sales drift of R Kelly's Ignition. It did, however, maintain S Club's proud record of reaching the Top Five with each and every one of their singles. Only two other acts have had longer opening strings of top five hits – Boyzone, who retired after rattling up 16 in a row, and

SINGLES FACTFILE
Westlife, whose string is 13 and counting. All told, S Club and their earlier incarnation S Club 7 have sold more than 3.8 million singles since their 1999 debut, with their 2001 hit Don't Stop Movin' topping their personal sales chart with more than 709,000 sales, followed by Bring It All Back (626,000) and Never Had A Dream Come True (603,000). They have also sold more than 2,930,000 albums, and issue their greatest hits Best today (June 2).

Overcoming a strong challenge from S Club's Say Goodbye, R Kelly's Ignition registers a fourth straight week at number one after selling a further 60,000 copies. That is 10% fewer than the previous week and takes the record's cumulative sales to more than 270,000 – enough for it to rank fourth in the year-to-date rankings. The odds on Kelly remaining number one next week seem slim – since Cher's Believe spent seven weeks at number one in 1998, no record has managed to spend more than four weeks on top.

While Russia's failed Eurovision hopes Tatu dip 7-14 with their single Not Gonna Get Us and UK representatives Jemini debut at number 13 with Cry Baby, the song which won the competition in 2000 makes a belated appearance on the chart. Originally performed by Danish duo The Olsen Brothers, Fly On The Wings Of Love was recently recorded in a dance remake by Spain's XTM and it is their version of the song which debuts at number nine this week.

The latest R&B/hip hop collaboration to rap dividends pairs veteran rapper Busta Rhymes with the even more established Mariah Carey and the result is a big success for both. I Know What You Want debuts at number three this week, after selling more than 40,000 copies.

Returning after a two-year absence, Radiohead debut at number four with There There. The first single from their new album Hail To The Thief, which is released next week, it is their fifth Top Five hit and their 13th hit in all. Meanwhile, former Spice Girl Emma Bunton also returns to the Top Five with Free Me, her first single for former manager Simon Fuller's 19 label.

One of the producers who had the biggest impact on the charts in the Sixties and Seventies, Mickie Most, died on Saturday aged 64. Most, who had been suffering from cancer, produced more than 100 hit singles, including 51 that made the Top 10 and three number ones. Producing hits for acts such as The Animals, Lulu, and Donovan in the Sixties, he set up Rak Records in the Seventies and went on to achieve the highest strike (hits vs releases) rate of any label at the time with a succession of hits from Suzi Quatro, Mud, Cozy Powell, Smokie, Racey and Kim Wilde, and issue them produced by himself.

MUSIC WEEK 7 JUNE 2003

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

The biggest-selling album of the week and the biggest-selling album of the year so far, Justin Timberlake's Justified album sold its millionth copy on Saturday. The album, which has spent seven weeks at number one thus far, has taken 30 weeks to achieve 1m sales. Four of the 21st Century's million-sellers are multi-artist albums. Of the other 40, 11 are by male soloists, 10 by female soloists and 19 by groups.

Coldplay, Blue, Gabrielle, Eminem and Travis all have two million-sellers, while Robbie Williams and Westlife have three apiece. Five albums have sold upwards of 2m copies: Eminem's The Marshall Mathers LP, Robbie Williams' Swing When You're Winning, the Beatles' 1, No Angel by Dido and David Gray's White Ladder. Gray's album is the leader by a very small margin, with 2,581,000 sales compared to Dido's 2,579,500.

After topping the chart with their debut single and reaching number two with the follow-up, Girls Aloud get their album career off to a similar start, with their debut long-player Sound Of The Underground selling more than 37,000 copies last week to secure a number two debut. Held off pole position only by the continuing success of Justin Timberlake's Justified, the album sold far fewer copies on its debut than first PopStars band Hear'Say's debut album – also called PopStars – which sold more than 306,000 on the week it was released.

Comprising both new and previously released material, Thank You For The Years was issued to mark Shirley Bassey's 50th anniversary in show business, and it is off to a good start, debuting at number 19, with nearly 11,000 sales. It is Bassey's 36th charted album – the highest tally for any UK female – and her highest-charting disc since her 25th Anniversary Album, achieved a number three chart peak in 1978.

Aside from Girls Aloud and Shirley Bassey, the other four newcomers to this week's chart – Led Zeppelin, The Small Faces, Mike

Oldfield and David Bowie – have all had number one albums in the past, and all revisit past musical glories of their new chart entries.

Led Zeppelin – who debut at number five with the triple live disc How The West Was Won, recorded in Long Beach and Los Angeles in 1972 – compiled a remarkable sequence of eight number ones in a row between 1969 and 1979 and most recently reached number 11 in March with their Very Best Of double-CD set. Meanwhile, the first TV campaign to date for a Small Faces album brings their double-CD 50-song retrospective Ultimate Collection onto the chart at number 24, with nearly 9,000 sales. It is the Small Faces' first appearance in the Top 20 since Ogden's Nut Gone Flake became their one and only number one album in 1968.

More disappointingly, the 30th anniversary repackaging of Aladdin Sane, the first of David Bowie's eight number ones, debuts at number 53 with fewer than 3,400 sales, even though it has been superbly annotated, remastered and expanded to a double disc. Finally, Mike Oldfield's 30th anniversary re-recording of his Tubular Bells album – one of three number ones he registered – debuts at number 51.

COMPILATIONS

It may be on schedule to become the lowest-selling album in the Now! That's What I Call Music canon for seven years, the latest edition of the all-conquering series (Now! 54) is proving to be one of the more difficult to remove from the top of the chart. It registers its seventh straight week at the summit, with sales of 20,000, a residency the series has not bettered since Now! 44 more than three years ago. Now! 54 is far and away the biggest-selling compilation of 2003, with sales of 432,000 copies so far. No other album has reached the 250,000 mark.

The album which has come closest to dethroning Now! 54 so far is The Matrix Reloaded soundtrack, which moves 4-2 with sales of more than 17,500 last week, featuring tracks by acts such as Marilyn Manson, Rob Zombie, Paul Oakenfold and the Deftones, The Matrix Reloaded has sold more than 57,000 copies since its release four weeks ago. The soundtrack to the original Matrix movie, released in 1999, climbed no higher than number 16 but has sold more than 243,000 copies to date.

EMI's Eurovision Song Contest: Riga 2003 album received a big boost after the competition was screened on BBC1 the weekend before last. The album increased sales by 22% week-on-week, and moves 35-32 on the chart, thus beating the number 33 peak of last year's album – Eurovision Song Contest: Tallinn 2002 – to become the highest-charting album yet of songs from the competition. With upwards of 4,500 copies of the 2003 album sold already, it is also well on the way to improving on the 6,600 sales of last year's album.
