SINGLES COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

After consecutive number one singles with Dirty and Beautiful – the first two singles from her current Stripped album – Christina Aguilera garners top debut honours again but has to settle for third place overall with Fighter. The single sold little more than 23,500 copies last week, a total which compares poorly with first-week tallies of 59,500 and 74,000 for Dirty and Beautiful but must instead be considered in light of the fact that Aguilera's album topped the 750,000 sales mark on Saturday, and has now sold more than three times as many copies as her previous biggest seller, her self-titled 2000 album. Stripped dips 6-11 this week, losing its Top 10 status for the first time in seven weeks, but its sales are down a mere 0.1% week-on-week and it was overtaken by new entries and albums benefiting from the Father's Day effect.

There is no change at the top of the chart with the year's 10th number one, Bring Me To Life by Evanescence, continuing to lead the way from former chart-topper Ignition by R Kelly. Although sales are disappointingly low this year, there has been an encouraging decline in the number of records making number one. The last year in which there were fewer number ones at this stage was 1995, while in the worst year (1999) there had been 20 number ones by this point in the year.

The top three debuts this week are all by female solo artists, with Christina Aguilera's Fighter at number three, Dannii Minogue's Don't Wanna Lose This Feeling at number five Amy Studt's Misfit at number six. 17-year-old Bournemouth resident Studt – touted as the UK's Avril Lavigne – is the only one to be making progress in the right direction however; her only previous single Just A Little Girl reached number 14 last July. Noticeably absent from the female posse at the sharp end of the chart is Jennifer Lopez,

21 JUNE 2003

ALBUMS COMMENTARY

by ALAN JONES

Radiohead become the third act to have three number one albums in the 21st century – emulating joint leaders Robbie Williams and Westlife – and register their fourth consecutive number one of studio recordings in all, debuting in pole position with Hail To The Thief. The album, which has already surrendered the number four single There There, sold more than 114,000 copies last week. While that is more than the first-week sales of their last new studio album Amnesiac, which opened with 90,500 sales in 2001, it is fewer than 2000's Kid A (131,000) and 1997's OK Computer (136,500). Radiohead's most recent album prior to Hail To The Thief was the live mini-album I Might Be Wrong which opened with 19,000 sales and 23rd place in 2001. OK Computer is the band's biggest-selling release, with more than 1,135,000 sales so far.

With new albums from old favourites such as Radiohead, Annie Lennox and Steely Dan and the increasingly important Father's Day gift-buying in full swing last week, the artist album market enjoyed a 14% boost, with sales in the sector soaring to 2.193m – their third highest level of the year.

Up against Radiohead and last week's chart-toppers Stereophonics and with no single to generate sales, Annie Lennox's long-awaited third solo album Bare was never likely to emulate the number one debuts of its predecessors Diva (1992) and Medusa (1995), although it sold nearly 57,500 copies to debut at number three – the highest level achieved by a number three album this year, not too big a reduction on the 79,000 copies Medusa sold when it debuted in pole position eight years ago.

Meanwhile, Everything Must Go – the latest sophisticated rock and jazz hybrid from Steely Dan – sold more than 13,700 copies to debut at number 21. While that is 10 places down on the number 11 debut of the veteran duo's Two Against Nature in 2000, the latter album did mark their return to recording after an absence of 20 years and obviously was more of an event. Two Against Nature's first week brought sales of 17,300.

While they claim the number one position on the singles chart for the second week in a row, Evanescence's album Fallen continues to slide. Its 3-4-5 movement in the past fortnight marks its first slippage yet but it has been very unlucky, achieving its two highest weekly sales even as it falls. When it fell 3-4 it did so despite a 13.4% increase in sales week-on-week, while its 4-5 dip was accompanied by an impressive 32.3% surge in sales. The album sold more than 45,000 copies last week and, after seven weeks in the shops, it has sold more than 193,000 copies.

Darius's Dive album is absent from the Top 75 for the ninth week in a row, and sold fewer than 2,000 copies last week, even as publicity for new single Girl In The Moon reached its peak. The star has boasted he will have a triple-platinum album by the time he is 35. He still may – he has more than 12 years to make it happen – but it will not be Dive In, which has so far sold 344,000 copies and is still therefore 556,000 short of its target.

COMPILATIONS

With TV and press advertisements for some compilations mentioning their suitability as Father's Day gifts, it is no surprise that the compilation market rocketed by 26% last week to reach its third highest level of the year, trailing only the tallies it turned in for Valentine's Day and Mother's Day trading weeks. Altogether, nearly 763,000 compilations were sold, and it is noticeable that the top five albums are all primarily oldies compilations, with the similarly-themed Power Ballads and The Quiet Storm taking the top two slots.

The Quiet Storm turned in an impressive week-on-week increase of 122% to more than 40,000 sales but remains at number two behind the mighty Power Ballads, which surges by 193% to 103,000 sales in a week. It is the first compilation album to sell more than 100,000 in a week since Now! That's What I Call Music 54 did it for the first and last time on its debut eight weeks ago. With more than 138,000 sales in two weeks on release, Power Ballads – which includes largely AOR tracks such as The Power Of Love by Huey Lewis & The News, You Took The Words Right Out Of My Mouth (Hot Summer Night) by Meat Loaf and Nothing's Gonna Stop Us Now by Starship – is already the 11th biggest-selling compilation of the year.

The remainder of the Top Five turned in more modest increases than Power Ballads and The Quiet Storm, with the similarly conceived AOR/rock set The Very Best Of Drive Time faring best, with a 98% increase in sales lifting it 6-3. All of the top three include the tracks How You Remind Me by Nickelback and Hero by the group's lead singer Chad Kroeger and pal Josey Scott.
