The Official UK

1. Nelly
While wife Faith Hill has charted as high as number three on the singles chart, country superstar Tim McGraw had to settle for a number 92 peak for his solitary UK single hit Hero. 1994's Indian Outlaw. But McGraw sensationally debuts at number one this week with Over And Over, his duet with hip-hop star Nelly. 37-year-old McGraw is the first country artist to reach number one since LeAnn Rimes in 2000, and the 26-year-old Nelly reached number three with Over And Over in the US Hot 100 last December.

3. Elvis Presley
For the fourth week in a row, a new Elvis Presley re-release surged ahead in the first midweek sales flashes but failed to hold its advantage. This week's glorious failure is Marie's The Name - his latest Flame, which did not actually lose its lead over Nelly & Tim McGraw until Saturday. The Presley single - a 1961 chart-topper - was also eventually overtaken by Jennifer Lopez's Get Right and sold 27,441 copies to debut at number three, bringing the total of Elvis Presley studies sold this year to more than 261,000.

4. Girls Aloud
 They have fired a tremendous opening salvo of seven straight top three hits but Girls Alouds form dips a little this week, with eighth single Wake Me Up having to settle for a number four debut. In mitigation, it should be noted that it is the fifth single off their second album What Will The Neighbour's Say, which has itself sold 453,969 copies since its release 13 weeks ago and - despite peaking at number six - has already sold significantly more than debut album Sound Of The Underground, which reached number two but remains just shy of 300,000 sales.

8. Futureheads
 The only artist to register a hit with Kate Bush is... Kate Bush - but all that changes this week as Sunderland's 80's throwbacks the Futureheads' cover of the title track from Bush's 1985 album Hounds Of Love debuts at eight, easily beating the number 13 peak of her original, not to mention the number 49 peak of their last single Meantime. Now being hailed as one of the finest new guitar bands to emerge for some time, the Futureheads issue their self-titled debut album next week.

1. Doves
Shareholders fretted recently about the delay in the release of the new Goldplay album but EMI has enjoyed a great start to 2005 and has supplied the chart's last three new number one albums courtesy of the Chemical Brothers, Athlete and Doves. The latter act follow-up their number six single Black And White Town by registering the record's second number one album with Some Cities. Their first Broadcast, topped the chart in 2002 with first week sales of 52,389 - a tally Some Cities eclipsed by a 1.1% margin last week, when it sold 59,319 copies.

6. Il Divo
Featured on the BBC's Greatest Love Songs programme last week singing Unbreak My Heart (Regresa A Mi) and with new single Mama out today (Monday) for the Mother's Day market, Il Divo are back up the charts with the first self-filled debut album, which leaps 29-6 this week. The album spent its first eight weeks in the Top 10 but has been absent for the last eight. It was the 10th biggest seller of 2004, selling 968,460 copies in nine weeks. It has since increased that tally to 1,031,229 including 219,491 last week.

10. Tony Christie
 A belter in the Tom Jones tradition, Tony Christie scored a handful of hit singles in the early Seventies and returned to prominence briefly in 1999, when he was featured vocalist on All Seeing I's Walk Like A Panther. More recently the use of his hit Is This The Way To Amarillo in Peter Kay's Phoenix Nights has re-awakened interest to an enormous extent. As a result, the new Christie compilation Definitive Collection roars into the chart at number 10 this week, achieving 61-year-old Christie's first album chart appearance for 29 years and his highest charting album.

24. Tori Amos
 A new Tori Amos album is always an event, and the release of The Raven, her eighth album proper, has brought a wealth of praise and a mass of coverage including a two-page spread in the Sunday Times Culture section. Airplay has been frugal, however, and the album has to settle for a 24 debut with first week sales of 11,583 - not great but better than her last studio album Scarlet's Walk, which opened at 26 with first week sales of 10,987 in 2002.
